CALEDONIAN CANAL.

TO THE HONOURABLE THE KNIGHTS, CITIZENS, AND BURGESSES, IN PARLIAMENT ASSEMBLED.

THE FIFTY-SIXTH REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE CALEDONIAN CANAL.

The navigation of the Caledonian Canal sustained two considerable interruptions, during the past year. During the month of June the building of a railway bridge at Clachnaharry, made it necessary to withdraw the water from the eastern portion of the Canal, between Loch Dochfour and the sea. This opportunity, however, was taken of executing extensive repairs at Dochgarroch Lock, which were completed at the same time. The through traffic, from sea to sea, was suspended during these operations, but the steam-vessels continued to ply as usual, discharging their passengers at Dochgarroch, five miles from Inverness. A second interruption of nearly five weeks, was caused by large accumulations of ice in the Canal, and in the Beauly basin of the Moray Frith. But, notwithstanding these interruptions, the Commissioners are able to report a general increase of traffic during the entire year.

The Commissioners explained in their last Annual Report the measures proposed to be adopted for improving the financial position of the navigation; and they are now able to announce their successful operation.

The ordinary Canal Dues, which amounted, in the year ending 30th April 1860, to 5,166 l. 3 s. 4 d., increased, in the last year, to 5,994 l. 6 s. 3 d., to which are to be added the transit tolls on passengers, amounting to 247 l. 6 s. 3 d. Thus it appears that the receipts arising from the ordinary traffic, exceeded those of the previous year, by 1,075 l. 9 s. 2 d. The new rates, levied under the Act of last Session, did not come into operation until the 1st August; and these favourable results are consequently due to the increased revenue of nine months only, out of the twelve.

It is further to be remarked, that the wet summer of last year, being peculiarly discouraging to the passenger traffic, affords an imperfect criterion of the revenue which may generally be anticipated from that source. Additional steamboats are also about to be placed upon the Canal, for the accommodation of passengers, which will increase the tonnage rates payable to the navigation, and cannot fail to attract a much greater number of passengers to this interesting route. This additional revenue, however, cannot be obtained without incurring increased expense, in consequence of the wear and tear which a larger number of steam vessels will cause to the Canal banks, the locks, and other works of the navigation. Facilities for the embarking and landing of passengers are about to be further increased by the erection of two new piers, the one at Invermorriston by Lord Lovat, and the other at Inverfarigaig by Mr. Fountaine Walker, of Foyers.

The experience of the past year, and still more of the months of May and June in the present year, satisfies the Commissioners that an increasing revenue may confidently be anticipated; and that none of the measures which they have devised to augment it, have tended to discourage the general or local traffic. The apportionment of the tonnage rates between the owner of the ship, and the owner or consignee of the cargo, pursuant to the Act of last Session, has not been adjusted between the parties as satisfactorily as could be desired; but the new rates have largely contributed to the increased revenue.

The Commissioners, so far from regarding with apprehension the extension of railway communications to Inverness, are rather led to anticipate advantage from the general increase of trade, and the closer connexion of the Canal with the trading interests of the country. It is particularly to be hoped that their harbour at Muirtown, with its extensive accommodation for shipping and for the warehousing of goods, may become the resort of a much larger trade, when its resources are developed by extended facilities of internal communication.

The Commissioners have reduced their establishment of steam tug boats from four to two, with which they have contrived to perform the service, during the late winter, without hiring an additional steamer. The full effects of this reduction have not yet been realised; but the eventual saving of expense will be considerable. At the same time, every arrangement has been made to secure to the shipping the utmost facilities, which a more limited establishment can afford.

The Commissioners were obliged to incur a considerable expense in the repairs of Dochgarroch Lock, which were, however, in great part, defrayed by the compensation received from the Inverness and Ross-shire Railway Company, on account of the building of the bridge across the Canal at Clachnaharry. On the whole, it is gratifying to be able to report, that whereas in the year 1859–60 the payments exceeded the receipts by 515 l. 0 s. 11 d., in the past year the receipts have exceeded the payments by 915 l. 2 s. 9 d.

The total receipts of the Caledonian Canal, from all sources, from the 1st May 1860 to the 1st May 1861, amounted to 8,485 l. 2 s. 9 d., and the total payments, during the same period, to 7,570 l., being an excess of receipts to the extent of 915 l. 2 s. 9 d. On the 1st May 1860, a balance of 1,078 l. 19 s. 10 d. was due to the Bank of Scotland, which, on the 1st May 1861, had been reduced to 258 l. 5 s.; and the Commissioners have every confidence that, in the current year, there will be a fair balance standing to their credit.

CRINAN CANAL.

THE navigation of the Crinan Canal, which was re-opened for traffic on the 1st May 1860, has since been in successful operation. The Commissioners have not yet been able to restore the Lochclachaig Reservoir—a work necessary to secure the navigation against an occasional scarcity of water; but the existing sources of supply have hitherto sufficed to maintain the Canal at its ordinary level.

Considerable progress has been made in repairing the damages to roads and adjacent works, the expense of which—amounting to about 600 l.—has been paid out of the ordinary revenue of the Canal; but much still remains to be done, in order to efface the effects of the disaster of 1859.

The traffic of the Canal has been satisfactory; and the anticipations of increased revenue, arising from the new rates authorised by the Act of last Session, have been fully borne out. The revenue, which amounted, in the year ending 1st May 1858—the last complete year before the disaster—to 2,098 l. 2 s. 4½ d., was raised, in the first year after the re-opening of the Canal, to 3,099 l. 8 s. 4 d., showing an increase of upwards of 1,000 l. Of this amount, 309 l. 3 s. 3 d., are due to the new transit tolls on passengers, since the 1st August last, and to the penny toll at Ardrishaig Pier since the 1st July. The Commissioners

Commissioners are, therefore, justified in adhering to their estimate of last year, that an annual surplus revenue of 1,000 l. or 1,100 l. may be reckoned upon, above the ordinary expenditure of the navigation. This surplus, however, will have heavy demands upon it, for several years, which the Commissioners are desirous of meeting in the manner most equitable to the public, and all parties concerned.

The Commissioners regret that they have still been unable to discharge the balance against them upon the "Repairs Account" at the Bank of Scotland, which amounted on the 30th April last to 1,137 l. 15 s. 6 d. They had hoped to clear this account, by the proceeds of the sale of the plant used in the works of restoration; but in consequence of a great reduction in the price of iron, the peculiar character of some of the implements, and the damaged condition of others, there has been much difficulty in effecting a sale, even at very low prices. Some of the implements have, therefore, been retained for the general service of the Canal, for which they are much needed; and the rest have been sold at a heavy loss. It will be necessary, therefore, to meet the deficiency, as soon as possible, from the ordinary income of the Canal.

The long outstanding balance due by the Commissioners to the Bank of Scotland, on the "old account," amounted, with interest, on the 30th April, to 1,567 l. 16 s. 5 d. This permanent burthen upon the undertaking has been a subject of anxiety to the Commissioners; and, in their opinion, measures should now be taken for the gradual liquidation of the debt. For this purpose, they propose to set aside from their surplus revenue, after the current year, the annual sum of 250 l., by which arrangement the debt will be extinguished within seven years.

The remainder of the surplus, after the settlement of the Repairs Account, will be available for the enlargement of the Pier at Ardrishaig, the restoration of the Lochlachaig Reservoir, and other necessary works of restoration and improvement, connected with the navigation.

The ordinary receipts of the Crinan Canal, from the 1st May 1860, to the 1st May 1861, amounted to 3,099 l. 8 s. 4 d.; and the total payments, during the same period—including an extraordinary outlay of 600 l., and the discharge of an outstanding claim of 315 l. for professional services—amounted to 2,938 l. 2 s. 2 d., being an excess of receipts to the extent of 161 l. 6 s. 2 d. On the 30th April 1860, a balance of 229 l. 10 s. 9 d. on the general account was due to the Bank of Scotland, which, notwithstanding the extraordinary outlay of last year, was reduced, on the 1st of May 1861, to 62 l. 19 s. 1 d.

By order of the Commissioners,

T. Erskine May,
Secretary.

APPENDIX.

Appendix, No. 1.

GENERAL REPORT on the state of the CALEDONIAN CANAL WORKS, to 1st May 1861.

THE past winter is the most remarkable, both for the severity and continuance of frost, that has occurred since the similar and still more remarkable one in those respects of 1837-38. On such occasions the Beauly Basin of the Moray Firth, from which the Canal has its entrance, is overrun with masses of floating ice, brought down by the River Beauly; and one of the inconveniences arising therefrom is the almost certain removal of the guide buoys marking the outer channels of approach, which, with their moorings, are frequently carried adrift for miles. The work of replacing them, however, affords a favourable opportunity of examining and refitting their moorings, and repairing and repainting the buoys themselves.

The immediate entrance to the sea lock at Clachnaharry, which is confined by projecting jetties on either side, has been frequently described as being liable to a somewhat rapid silting up, requiring, at intervals of some years, to be removed by the steam dredger; and this operation had to be repeated last summer. But as the latter stages of the accumulation are attended with comparative obstruction, it may be preferable hereafter to keep it down as it is forming; for which purpose the process of spoon-dredging will be more conveniently applicable.

As previously arranged, the whole of the month of June last was appropriated to operations which required the withdrawal of the water from the eastern portion of the Canal, namely, that extending from Loch Dochfour to the sea. The connexion with the former was shut off by the formation of a temporary mound of water-tight materials thrown across the Canal, at some distance above the Dochgarroch Lock, which had afterwards, on the completion of the operations, to be removed by the steam dredger; and although the through passage of the navigation was necessarily interrupted, the other portions of the line were available for the local traffic, and the steam-packets continued to ply regularly, subject only to the temporary inconvenience of conveying their passengers and goods between Inverness and Dochgarroch, a distance of about five miles by road.

Besides the operations pertaining to the Canal itself, the same period was rendered available for laying the foundations and raising the superstructure of the abutments for the swivel bridge by which the Inverness and Ross-shire Railway is to cross it. The position selected for this purpose is immediately adjacent to the lower wingwalls of the second lock at Clachnaharry; and is undoubtedly the safest and least incommodious, as respects the interests of the navigation, that could have been fixed on. The bridge itself has since been erected, and is in complete working order, the ease and rapidity with which it is opened or shut being much the same as in the case of the ordinary road bridges across the Canal. It mainly consists of a pair of tubular girders, constructed with malleable iron plates, resting on a turn-table or central framework of rollers, and stretches across the Canal in one compartment; and although it does so obliquely, this is rather an advantage, as requiring a less segment of the circle to be traversed in opening and shutting, with a consequent saving of time. The bridge is effectually protected, and the passage of vessels amply facilitated by the erection of substantial timber platforms resting on piles, which project in front of the abutments and extend for a sufficient length above and below; and which, of course, have to be maintained, as well as the necessary attendance given to the bridge, by the Railway Company.

The withdrawal of the water laid bare the range of four united locks at Muirtown, so that the requisite pointing of the masonry with Roman cement, and all needful repairs of the lock-gates and their machinery, were conveniently accomplished.

The whole of the Muirtown Reach, extending for five miles to Dochgarroch, being also run off for the first time since 1846, the additional puddle linings then put in were exposed to view, and were generally found in good preservation. The slopes in some places, however, required trimming up, and a great accumulation of large stones, which had fallen in from the steep cuttings along Torvean Hill, so as to have encroached on the available depth of water for shipping, was effectually removed, as well as some precautions taken to diminish this inconvenience, for some time to come.

But

But the main object involving the necessary stoppage of the navigation was the repairs required at the Dochgarroch Lock, where no similar occasion of performing them has been afforded since 1834; insomuch that latterly it was found difficult to keep it in uninterrupted operation. At this time the lock-gates, with their sluices, have undergone considerable repair; and nearly the whole of the working apparatus, including the traversing rollers, opening and shutting chains, and capstan machinery, were replaced by new sets. The masonry of the lock was found in excellent condition, but nevertheless required some pointing with Roman cement; and the whole of the timber and iron work of lock-gates, after being properly dry, was thoroughly coated with tar.

There being no off-let by sluices on the Muirtown Reach, the water had to be drawn off along its whole length, of five miles, running over the bottom of the Muirtown and Clachnaharry Locks, and so out to sea; and there being great leakage through the naturally porous ground adjoining the Dochgarroch Lock, the bottom of which is also, by some mistake in the original construction, below its proper level, there was still a depth of several feet to contend with in executing the lower portion of the repairs. In this respect, there was greater difficulty experienced than in 1834, by reason of the increased height and consequent pressure of the lake, aggravated by continued wet weather and the swollen state of the River Ness immediately adjoining the lock; and even the superior retentiveness of the reach itself, owing to the additional puddle linings since put in, added in no small degree to the less effective drainage over so long a tract. The higher level of Loch Ness, also, rendered it necessary that the intercepting mound should be of proportionate dimensions and strength, involving comparative labour in its subsequent removal; so that, altogether, the operations were more arduous than on the previous occasion, and required a week of more time than had been calculated upon: but even this fell within the date assigned for the operations at the intended crossing of the railway, and therefore in no degree added to the necessary stoppage of the through navigation.

A large proportion of the stones has been laid down for the renewal of the North-West Ferry Pier at Bona, the present timber piling of which is entirely decayed; and the workmanship awaits the first favourable opportunity of founding while Loch Ness is at its lowest level. Besides the necessary accommodation of the ferry, which is obligatory on the original acquisition of the site, the maintenance of the pier is otherwise of essential utility, as being the principal coaling station for the steam tug-boats.

The stone pier or slip-way at Inverfarigaig, originally built by the Commissioners for Highland Roads and Bridges, but which in its present form is not adapted to the accommodation of shipping, is about to be improved and extended by a projection of timber-work, so as to render it conveniently available for the steam packets and other vessels; and a new landing-pier is also in contemplation by Lord Lovat, the proprietor of the site at Invermorriston, which will complete the requisite accommodation for shipping on the shores of Loch Ness. The facilities of a tide-way being wanting in the lakes, the piers are almost necessarily constructed of timber piling, but their utility will be found so indispensable as to ensure their future renewal; besides that, the saving of expense in the first instance is equivalent to the accumulation of a fund for that purpose.

The dwelling-houses for lock-keepers and workmen at Fort Augustus being still much short of what is needed, they do not afford room for other purposes; and a small timber shed, which was left by the contractors in 1843–46, was found so useful as an office, and for the storage of small articles, that it has been considered necessary to rebuild it in a permanent manner, and more convenient position.

The temporary stoppage of the through passage by the operations in the East district last summer, although not discontinuing the working of the locks in the other districts, afforded somewhat longer intervals for effecting any necessary repairs; and the lock-gates and machinery at Fort Augustus and Bannavie underwent some considerable improvement in the renewal or refitment of some of their parts.

In forming the widened basin immediately above the Fort Augustus locks, the excavated materials were deposited on ground acquired from the Board of Ordnance, and lay in irregular heaps, which much disfigured the appearance of the place; and, as they could be easily inclosed, it has been found advisable to have them planted with larch and other quick-growing wood, the cost of which has been trifling, as the fencing was procured from thinnings of underwood, and the whole work performed by the resident lock-keepers. Besides the improvement of the locality, the growth of the new plantation will afford a valuable shelter from high winds for vessels lying in the basin, or approaching the head of the locks.

A small storehouse for the better accommodation of the steamboat traffic has been erected at the Aberchalder lock, and a portion of it reserved for occupation as a night watchhouse on the occasion of high winter floods in Loch Oich. This very necessary service has hitherto been rendered incommodious by the awkward position of the lockhouses, which are at some distance below the site of the lock itself. A similar structure is almost equally needed at the Laggan Locks, where there is no present shelter or cover for steamboat passengers or goods, although both this place and Aberchalder are comparatively important stations.

The guide posts in Loch Oich, after having been fully restored to their complete number and position, were again seriously deranged, and some of them entirely removed, by the breaking up of the ice last winter; but the piles are more frequently drawn out of the soft ground than broken, and they have since been all replaced.

Some trifling damage has been done by the floods and storms of last winter, to the pitching of the embankments projecting into Loch Lochy from the lower wings of the Laggan Locks; but the more important pitchings which protect the slopes at the outlet of the lake, and also those for preserving the River Lochy in its proper channel at Mucomer, have received no injury, and continue in excellent preservation.

The water-courses of burns passing under, or falling into the Canal, have in one or two instances required attention, owing to the effects of heavy spates; but have been carefully secured, including the rebuilding of the damaged sidewall at the inlet of Moy Burn, referred to in my last Annual Report.

The framework of timber piling adjoining the outer south wingwall of Corpach Sea Lock, which was erected to facilitate the safe entrance of vessels, is already much decayed, and requires a partial renewal, for which a portion of the timber has been got from the Canal plantations. The larger jetty or timber pier on the north side, which is essential to the accommodation of the large summer steam packets landing and embarking their passengers here, begins also to exhibit decay in portions of its piling, and was a good deal shaken and dislocated during a dreadful hurricane on the 3d October last, one of the steam packets being then moored to it, and driving violently against it, to the mutual injury of both; but, at the same time, involving the only safety of the vessel. The damage to the pier has been partially remedied, and does not for the present affect its usual convenience.

The repairs and alterations of dwelling-houses, so as to obtain better and more ample accommodation for lock-keepers and workmen at Bannavie and other places, have been continued, although to a less extent, during the past year; and although restricted to what is almost unavoidable, as respects the safety and proper working of the Canal, yet at the same time the value of the subjects operated upon is proportionally improved.

In several places along the Canal banks, where the mooring posts of fir or larch were too much worn or decayed to be longer safe, they have been replaced by others, obtained out of the seasonable supply of old oak timber, which was got in Loch Oich, when its level was so much reduced by the extreme and protracted drought of the summer of 1859. There is still a considerable portion of these in reserve for other places when they are wanted.

The failure of the traversing rollers of lock-gates is found in practice to be the most frequent cause of temporary interruption to the passage of vessels, and it has occurred in several instances during the past year in situations where the services of the diving bell were indispensable to the execution of the required renewal. Although an operation of considerable difficulty in such circumstances, it has been much familiarised and shortened in time by repetition; and any temporary increase in the number of cases occurring, is naturally accounted for by the rollers having undergone a similar length of service since first put in during the general repairs of 1844-46. The interruption referred to is seldom more than a day, and it generally admits of selection so far as not to interfere with the regular traffic of the steam packets.

Some further repairs of the steam dredger are now necessary, especially the renewal of the bucket-ladder, which consists of a trussed framework of timber, secured by strong iron fastenings. The timber, which is the only thing required for this, has already been procured, and the workmanship will be performed by the resident lock-keepers at Muirtown and Clachnaharry. A new barge will, ere long, be required for the diving bell and other purposes; but it may also be gradually constructed by the resident workmen, so as not to involve any considerable addition of direct expenditure.

The reduction of the steam tug boat establishment, as anticipated in my last Annual Report, has since taken place; two of the vessels having been disposed of, and the price applied to the renovation and repair of the most needful of the other two. The fourth, with such repairs as may be effected at home, may also be rendered serviceable for several years to come; and the only immediate disadvantage now to be apprehended in this department is the inadequacy of the reduced establishment to the full performance of the duties expected from it. Much will depend on the character of the weather; for in proportion as the winds are variable, the services of the steam tug boats are less required; and this was happily the case during the busiest period of the past winter.

The terrible hurricane of 3d October, which was attended with such disastrous losses elsewhere, passed over the line of the Canal, and the shipping in different parts of it, without any serious damage; and even the plantations along the Canal banks suffered less than most others, owing, no doubt, to their comparatively low and sheltered situation. The only exception to the general safety of the shipping was the case of a small vessel which lay at anchor off the pier at Inverfarigaig, in Loch Ness, and which was driven ashore among the rocks and sunk; but she was afterwards recovered, with her cargo of slates, with the assistance of the Canal barges and workmen.

The uncommonly severe and protracted frost of last winter occasioned a continuous interruption of the navigation for the space of four or five weeks; and, although most of the expected vessels from the Baltic had previously passed through, yet it undoubtedly cut short the busiest portion of the season's traffic, and compelled not a few vessels to take the passage north-about. Notwithstanding this, and the interruption of nearly similar duration during the summer, it is satisfactory to find the gross amount of traffic for the year in further advance; which is not to be wholly ascribed to the fiscal alterations recently adopted, but is rather indicative of progressive development.

On

On the 20th November last, not only did the new light-house at Corran Point come into operation, but also another at Phladda, near Easdale, in the lower part of the Linnhe Loch. Both exhibit brilliant lights, which afford great additional comfort and security to the navigation of the western approach to the Canal; but the promised survey and publication of the Admiralty chart of Loch Linnhe are still delayed, which undoubtedly detracts from the resort of strangers to its narrower and more dubious passage.

Caledonian Canal Office, Inverness, 1 May 1861. George May.

Appendix, No. 2.

GENERAL REPORT on the state of the CRINAN CANAL WORKS, &c., up to 1st May 1861.

SINCE the re-opening of the Canal on 1st May, last year, its traffic has continued without any interruption whatever, except that caused by the severe frost of the winter, which closed the navigation from the 22d December to 12th January, when we were able to force a passage by means of our own ice-breaker.

Although the last winter was an unusually stormy and severe one, it is gratifying to say that our works sustained very little damage. The violent storms, unusually hard frost, and continuous heavy rains at intervals, were as severe a test as our new works could have been subjected to; but they have stood well, and, with the exception of some little sinking, which I fully calculated upon, there is nothing whatever to cause the slightest anxiety, either as regards the Reservoirs or Canal works. The upper, or Camloch bank, has sunk about six inches in the centre; but during the course of the summer I will have it restored to its proper form and height. The Glenclachaig bank, the outer slopes of which were last year sown with grass seeds, are now covered with a fine green sward, which has effectually prevented any further slipping away of the stuff, similar to that which occurred the previous winter. I have also inclosed these slopes with a temporary wire fence, to prevent cattle and sheep from destroying them, until they are properly consolidated, and the sward is firmly established.

The sluice of Lochnabrachbuy (the upper reservoir of all) will require to be renewed this season, for which I am making the necessary preparations. The embankments of two smaller reservoirs, Lochglebdgie and Loch Lebgie, also require some repairs and sorting, which must also be done during the course of this summer.

Notwithstanding the want of the Lochclachaig reservoir, we have had an abundant supply of water since the opening of the Canal; and unless the ensuing summer should be an unusually dry one, I hope to be able to continue the traffic without any serious interruption. Lochclachaig, as it now is, has no retaining power, as a reservoir, but its collecting power is the same as ever; and it very rarely happens that all our reservoirs are full with the traffic of the Canal going on. In proof of which, I may mention, that during last winter Lochanadd, which is the ultimate receptacle for the waste or overflow of water from all the other reservoirs, wasted itself only on one occasion, and that for a very short time (scarcely two days), so that all the water which was actually lost to the traffic of the Canal this season, through the want of Lochclachaig, was what flowed over the waster of Lochanadd during these two days, and which would not have raised Loch Clachaig a foot in perpendicular height. I mention this circumstance to show that there is no immediate or pressing necessity for the restoration of the Lochclachaig embankment, although, at the same time, it is a work which it is most desirable to have executed as soon as there are sufficient funds to accomplish it; for without it, our reservoir accommodation is neither complete nor adequate to the demands of the Canal traffic.

A severe storm in the early part of March drove in a quantity of stones, and other rubbish, to the entrance of Crinan sea-lock, a portion of which was deposited on the platform (which is of wood), over which the lock-gates traverse. This stuff coming in contact with the lower rib of the gate and platform, has disturbed some portions of the latter, which caused rather a serious leakage, and I must again resort to diving to have it remedied. I have now got one of our own workmen pretty well trained to work in the diving helmet, and on the last three occasions that I used it, I was able to do without the services of a professional diver. The helmet and pumps which I am now using are not our own property, but are lent to me on condition that I keep them in perfect repair and always ready for use. It is very desirable, however, that we should be in possession of an apparatus of our own, which should form a part of the necessary and permanent plant of the Canal. Even the experience of the past year is a sufficient reason for my urging this as a most necessary measure.

I have used the apparatus on four occasions during the year, and with perfect success; twice at the Crinan Sea Lock for repairs, and to remove obstacles; once in the Crinan Reach to remove a large stone from the bottom; and once in the Ardrishaig Reach, to raise a sunken steamer; the latter operation was successfully accomplished in six or seven hours, which, without an apparatus of this sort, would most certainly have involved the loss of as many days, and have caused the whole through traffic of the Canal to be suspended for that period, as we should have been obliged to withdraw most of the water from the reach in order to get at the damaged part of the vessel.

The Crinan Reach has continued in very good order during the season, there being less leakage than usual. A few small leaks occurred in the Ardrishaig Reach, but not of such a nature as to cause alarm or danger, either to the works themselves or to private property. I stated in my report last year, that the principal cause of the leakage in the latter reach was the raising of the waste weirs, in order to get the necessary depth of water to accommodate the traffic, and as I have not yet been able to secure the requisite depth to this reach, the same cause for leakage still exists, but it is of such a trifling nature that there is no immediate necessity for deepening the reach, except at some points where it is shallowest.

The ice-barge, which was undergoing a thorough repair when the great disaster of 2d February 1859 occurred, had to lie unfinished until the workmen could be spared from more pressing operations connected with the works of repair and restoration. She was, however, finished and launched in December last, and was found very useful in clearing a passage through the ice during the frost. I have fitted her up with a crane and spoon-dredge, with which I have been deepening the shallowest points in the Ardrishaig Reach. I have also deepened the entrance to the sea-lock at Ardrishaig, where a considerable deposit had taken place, which interfered very much with the general traffic of the Canal. Vessels and steamers of nine feet draught can now enter the lock at about half tide; before this deepening was accomplished it required to be nearly high water before they could attempt to enter. The loose and light stuff held in suspension and carried down at the time of the disaster of 2d February, and while the works of repair and restoration were going on, helped very much to increase the silting at the entrance of this lock, and also in the harbour generally. There is also a considerable deposit in the Canal Reach, below Cairnbaan, for about a mile and a half. This, with the bar at the entrance to Crinan Sea Lock, and several places on the Crinan Reach, is by far too large a quantity to be removed by the spoon-dredge, and must necessarily be accomplished by means of a steam dredger, which is an absolutely necessary apparatus to render our permanent plant complete. The barge, or ice-breaker, which is at present at work with the spoon, can be adapted, at a moderate outlay, to receive a steam apparatus which would answer our purpose very well, and would not prevent the barge from being as available as ever for ice-breaking, and other purposes, as the ladder and framing would be constructed in such a manner that it could be easily removed when the vessel was not required for dredging. In fact, the ladder and framing must be made to ship and unship, as the vessel is too wide to pass through the locks with the ladder on. With my own working staff of carpenters and blacksmith, I could do all the work except engine and wheel gear; and as I have some suitable materials left over from the works of restoration, which I could work in to advantage, I consider this to be the cheapest and best way of getting over our dredging. The outlay would be about 350 l., and the work could be going on as opportunities occurred, when our men could be spared from more pressing operations, and, if necessary, can be spread over a period of 12 or 18 months, so as not to show a heavy expenditure within a limited period. The hire of a steam-dredger to accomplish all the work we require, to render the navigation as commodious as I could desire, would amount to about double the sum I have named above; therefore, with these facts to go upon, I have no hesitation in urging the propriety of proceeding with this work forthwith.

The lock-gates generally are in good working order. The upper pair of Lock 12, at Dunardry, are very much worn and decayed. They will soon require to be renewed, and I am at present providing timber for that purpose. The swing-bridges at Oakfield and Ardrishaig, particularly at the latter place, require a thorough overhaul, which must be done in the course of this season. As the Ardrishaig Bridge, which crosses the sea-lock, is a public thoroughfare, over which there is a large traffic that we must avoid interrupting, it will be necessary to construct a temporary bridge over the lock alongside of the other, in order to carry on the traffic while the repair of the permanent bridge is going on, and as it will also be necessary to carry on the traffic of the Canal at the same time, the temporary bridge must be a moveable one; the only expense, however, connected with it will be the workmanship, as all the materials will come in for other purposes.

During the frosty weather, there being no supply of water coming into the Summit Reach, it was nearly run dry, and I took advantage of this opportunity for getting in the foundations for stone facings or pitchings of slopes of banks, for which I had previously prepared, and laid down materials to await some such chance. A considerable portion of these pitchings are now completed to their requisite height, and this reach has now nearly assumed its normal form.

There was also a small deposit of silt at the point where the watercourse from Glenclachaig empties itself into the Canal. This I also removed when the water was low, and from additional precautions which have been taken, there is comparatively little chance of any deposit at this point in future.

The

The basin immediately below Lock 8 at Cairnbaan, the slopes of which were left in a very unfinished state, have been nicely pitched and dressed off, as also the track-path, and this basin is now in fully as good a condition as previously to the great disaster. The public road has also been restored at this point to its original line, and the diversion at Dunardry has been completed. and is acknowledged by all to be a great improvement on the old line. The restoration of the public road, the clearing of track-paths, making up slopes, pitchings, &c., has altogether made the scene of the great disaster assume a far less unsightly and formidable appearance than it did twelve months ago. It will be the work of years, however, before the works generally can be brought to their original form, while some of the ravages of the flood will for ever mark the scene to future generations.

The accompanying statements will fully explain the state of revenue and expenditure for the past year. It is most gratifying to observe, that immediately on the re-opening of the Canal, which was closed for 15 months, the traffic seemed at once to return to what it was before the great outbreak, thereby clearly showing that this navigation is of immense value to the West Highlands. Notwithstanding the total suspension of the traffic for nearly a month by frost, and the withdrawal of two of the steamers for five weeks to undergo repair, together with a large expenditure on account of the works of repair, amounting to 600 l., there is a surplus revenue of 503 l. 4 s. 4 d., and this year I expect to be able to leave a balance of upwards of 1,000 l. in favour of the Canal. Although the passenger traffic was a good deal under the average last year, and one of the best months had elapsed before the transit tax was imposed, still the amount derived from it is considerable. This income, and the amount of the penny toll at the Ardrishaig Pier, will fully bear out our original estimate. Both taxes have been acquiesced in by the public with less reluctance than I at first calculated on, and with the able assistance afforded by the steamboat officials, there is every facility for their collection.

The new screw steamer, "Chieftain," the property of Mr. Lang, of Mull, which has been running since the middle of January, carrying goods and passengers to a number of the outlying ports and islands on the west coast, also carries a considerable quantity of goods for intermediate stations on the Canal, and an urgent request has been made by Mr. Lang for a small store at Oakfield Wharf, which is certainly very much required, as they carry a large amount of goods to and from that station; and as every possible facility should be afforded for the development of the local traffic, I would strongly recommend that the requisite accommodation be forthwith granted. It will involve an outlay of about 30 l., but for which they will pay a rent of six per cent. on the outlay. Mr. Malcolm has, at his own expense, erected a store for this vessel at the Bellanach Wharf, where there is also a considerable traffic; and Lochgilphead, which is in the immediate neighbourhood of the Oakfield Wharf, is daily becoming a place of more importance. This season there has been a large union poor-house completed. There is also to be an asylum for lunatics, and a great probability of the courts being established there instead of at Inverary, all which will tend towards the increase of the local traffic, and fully warrant the establishment of a store at this point.

The general condition of the Canal, as regards its works and traffic, is at present very encouraging, and tends to inspire confidence for the future.

REPORT

COMMISSIONERS

OF THE

CALEDONIAN CANAL.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
1 July 1861.

Under 3 oz.

Highland Roads and Bridges.

THE

OF THE

COMMISSIONERS

Appointed for the purposes of an Act passed in the 59th year of the Reign of his late Majesty King George the Third, intituled, "AN ACT to repeal Two Acts, made in the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth years of His present Majesty, for maintaining and keeping in REPAIR certain Roads and Bridges in Scotland; to provide more effectually for that Purpose, and for Regulation of Ferries in Scotland."

THE late winter was one of great and protracted severity, and the Roads of the Northern Counties suffered, in several places, from the frost and floods: but so sound was their general condition, that they escaped any material injury. The communications have not been interrupted, except for a few days at the Ord of Caithness, and on the Badenoch Road.

The extra repairs and improvements have been executed at a cost of 1,293*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*, which is not above the average of preceding years.

A further sum of 134*l.* 3*s.* 7*d.* has been expended upon improvements on the Invermorriston, and Beauly and Strathglass Roads; which has been specially provided for by tolls in the County of Inverness.

The following is an Abstract of the Assessments payable to the Commissioners by the several counties of Scotland, under the operation of the Road Repair Acts, as their proportion of the expense of repair of Roads and Bridges, for the years 1857, 1858, 1859, and 1860.

Inverfarigaig Pier.

The condition of the Stone Pier at Inverfarigaig has, at different times, engaged the attention of the Commissioners, and of the county of Inverness; and an opportunity has now arisen by which the interests of the public and of all parties concerned in that Pier may be promoted. The work was originally constructed by the Commissioners, in 1813, for the accommodation of the traffic of the Roads adjacent to Loch Ness, in connexion with the Caledonian Canal; but not having been built to a height sufficient to raise it above the intended summit level of the Canal, the Pier was submerged, and rendered useless for all the purposes for which it was designed. In 1858, the county of Inverness represented to the Commissioners of the Caledonian Canal the propriety of restoring the Pier: but the Commissioners declined to undertake the work, and no measures have since been taken to improve it. Mr. Fountaine Walker, of Foyers, the proprietor of the lands adjacent to Loch Ness, has now offered to construct a convenient Pier, for passengers and goods, on the site of the old Pier, on receiving the necessary authority from the Commissioners, the county of Inverness, and the Commissioners of the Caledonian Canal, who are all concerned in the proposed arrangement. In the opinion of the Commissioners, it is advisable to offer every facility to Mr. Walker's proposal. They have accordingly given it their own consent, and recommend it to the favourable consideration of the county of Inverness. There can be no doubt that the Commissioners of the Caledonian Canal will gladly encourage an enterprise so conducive to the convenience of their navigation. The regulation of the tolls, to be collected at the new Pier, will devolve upon that Board. The existing Pier being public property, there may be a difficulty in its absolute conveyance to Mr. Walker. It will be sufficient, however, for his purpose, to grant him its free use and occupation, and to consent to its appropriation for the foundations of the new structure.

T. Erskine May,
Secretary.

APPENDIX.

(No. I.)

Sir, London, 14 March 1861.

In making my annual Report, for the information of the Commissioners, I have much pleasure in stating that the Roads under their charge continue to be maintained in their usual good state of repair.

During the last winter the Roads in the Northern Counties, along with other parts of the country, experienced all the injurious effects of the severe and protracted frost which continued till the end of January, when thaw set in. Since then, on the whole, we have had favourable weather, with the exception of a severe flood on the 5th and 6th instant, which has done considerable damage to the Fort William Road, at Letterfinlay, and which the resident Inspector made arrangements promptly to repair. Throughout the winter the communications have been preserved open and uninterrupted, with the exception of a few days at the Ord of Caithness, and on the Badenoch Road, and no casualty of any consequence has occurred on the Roads.

By a severe flood in the winter of 1859-60 the foundations of Bonar Bridge, at Bonar, in the county of Sutherland, were damaged, as also two small Bridges near Bonar; and at Altnaharrow, on the Tongue Road, a three arched Bridge was very much injured, half of one of the arches and piers having been carried away. The repair of these works has been satisfactorily accomplished by the new Inspector, Mr. George Rhind, at a cost of 75*l.* 16*s.* 10*d.* for Bridges at Bonar, and 73*l.* 4*s.* 9*d.* for Altnaharrow Bridge.

Some repairs are necessary, in the course of this season, at the Fleet Mound; and a new arrangement will have to be made in regard to the Sluice Keeper, who has charge of the machinery and works at this place, the present Keeper being wholly incapacitated from old age. I shall communicate with Mr. Loch, the Duke of Sutherland's Commissioner, on the subject, as serious damage might occur by any neglect in opening or shutting the sluices while the river is in flood.

In the County of Ross the foundations of the Bridge of Fearn, on the Tain Road, were damaged, and have been repaired at a cost of 27*l.* 8*s.* 2*d.* Additional metalling has been provided for the Invergordon Road; and along the sea-shore at Ballintraid sloped pitchings to protect the Road from the sea have been built, at a cost of 62*l.* 5*s.* 6*d.*

In the County of Inverness a breastwall and parapet have been rebuilt at Dreim, on the Strathglass Road, at a cost of 45*l.* 4*s.* 8*d.*; and on the Invermorriston Road about 600 yards of new parapet have been contracted for, and are now nearly built. On the Lochnagaul Road breastwalls were rebuilt and the road restored where damaged during the gale of 3d October last.

The Craig Ellachie Bridge has been repaired and painted, at a cost of 65*l.* 10*s.* 10*d.*

In the County of Argyll, the Bridge of Drynan, near Ardentinny, on the Strachur Road, has been rebuilt at a cost of 298*l.* 7*s.* 2*d.*

A more detailed note of these improvements and the repair of casualties is annexed, from which it will be seen how small has been the damage which these works have sustained during the past year.

You are aware that in the last Session of Parliament an Act was obtained for the construction of a railway, extending from Inverness to the village of Invergordon, a distance of 31 miles, but by the Road of 33 miles. While this Act was passing through Parliament I took care that the interests of the public travelling on this Road were sufficiently protected. No less than nine Bridges, with the required inclinations in the approaches of 1 in 30, having been provided over or under the railway, wherever the Road has been interfered with. In fact we could not have insisted, under any circumstances, on greater accommodation than has been accorded by the railway company. It is possible that some screen fencing may yet be required at some points where the line runs close to the Road, but this I shall look to as the works advance.

The railway works are now in active progress, and the Road between Dingwall and Inverness has in consequence been a good deal cut up during the last winter, and I am now negotiating with the contractor as to the payment of the extra cost occasioned by his operations.

I have also to report to you that a Bill has passed the House of Commons this Session for the construction of a new railway, called the Inverness and Perth Junction Railway, extending from the Town of Forres, by Grantown and Kingussie, to Dunkeld, and running to a certain extent parallel with the Military Roads from Dava, by Grantown, to the County March of Inverness and Perth Shires, a distance of about 50 miles. In the course of this extent the Road is crossed three times by Bridges, and five times diverted, in two cases very slightly; but I am glad to state there is no level crossing, and I shall consider it my duty to take care that in these Bridges and alterations of the Roads the necessary width and slopes are secured, and that the works shall be substantial and satisfactory.

You will thus see that by the introduction of railways in the North the toll revenue, which is now an important supplement to the county assessment, will be diminished between Inverness and Nairn, also between Inverness and Invergordon, and between Inverness and the County March of Perthshire. No doubt the expenditure for repairs will be less, but not in the proportion of the diminished revenue, so whatever loss may arise on this head the counties will have to sustain and provide. Fortunately there are no debts on the Roads now to be affected, so that I anticipate the loss to the counties will be very inconsiderable.

We were successful in obtaining a payment of 2,000*l.* for loss of tolls on the Inverness and Nairn Road, which I suspect is the last sum recognised by Parliament in the shape of toll compensation.

I have appointed Mr. George Rhind as inspector of the Caithness District, in room of Mr. Duncan, deceased, and he seems to be performing his duties in a satisfactory and creditable manner.

I have, &c.
(signed) Joseph Mitchell.

T. Erskine May, Esq.,
Secretary to the Commissioners for Highland Roads and Bridges, London.

During 1856 and 1857, 1,600 l. 9 s. 9 d. was received from the County Collector on account of this additional Assessment, which was paid into the separate Account opened with the Bank of Scotland, intituled, "Lochshirahead Repair and Improvement Account," to be applied towards these extra repairs, &c.

LANDED PROPERTY IMPROVEMENT ACTS.

In reporting upon the progress of the works in operation during the year 1860, and the past quarter of the present year, and considering that fourteen years have now elapsed since the 10th Vic., c. 32, came into operation, we are happy in being enabled to state that the systematic arrangements primarily adopted and uniformly continued, in reference to works under the Act, have proved as successful as heretofore; and, moreover, similar works executed from private funds, have been attended by the same beneficial results, the proprietors availing themselves of the knowledge of agricultural improvement, derived from the Act, and, in some cases through the aid of our Inspectors.

In referring to the subjoined reports of these gentlemen, we have the satisfaction of stating that it is the universal opinion of the landed proprietors who have obtained loans that they have derived benefit much beyond the actual outlay. It is also gratifying to know that parties who had undertaken works from philanthropic motives, in the years 1847 and 1848, have been amply remunerated.

Up to the 31st March, 1861, 3,580 loans have been sanctioned by your Lordships; but, as mentioned in previous Reports, during the period which has elapsed between the year 1847, when the first loans were made, and the termination of the period reported on, considerable sums, which had been so sanctioned, have been cancelled by this Board, under the powers given in 13 and 14 Vic., cap. 31.

At the close of the year 1860 there remained unappropriated, out of the fund of £2,000,000 voted by Parliament for the Land Improvement Service in Ireland, the sum of £362,834.

The sum issued on account of works, up to 31st March, 1861, amounted to £1,582,095 7*s.*, of which £1,499,085 7*s.* was expended on the loans which have been completed, and £83,010 has been issued on 282 loans which are in progress, or have not been finally closed.

FARM BUILDINGS.

The several totals, as above stated, comprehend 229 loans, amounting to a sum of £80,360, which have been sanctioned to proprietors for the erection of farm-buildings, of which 182 loans, amounting to £61,660, have been completed in the undermentioned counties, viz. :—

Of the remaining 47 loans for farm buildings which have been sanctioned, 14, amounting to £4,850, have not been proceeded with, and do not, therefore, appear in the following table, which includes 15 loans, amounting to £4,850, for buildings commenced during the year 1860. The other loans stated therein have reference to works of previous years.

Thorough Drainage, &c.

The reports of our Inspectors on the progress of the numerous works which have been commenced, universally allude to the difficulty which at present exists in procuring labourers to execute the works at reasonable prices; but our Inspectors report that, though the rates of payment are higher than formerly, trained hands of superior intelligence can be obtained, whereby the works will be more effectively executed, and the results sufficiently remunerative to induce continuous employment.

The number of acres that have been thorough drained, under the Land Improvement Acts, from the commencement up to the date of this Report, amounts to 193,700, which has been effected at an average cost of £4 17*s.* per acre. Of this quantity 4,500 acres have been drained during the year 1860, and a considerable portion of the land drained has been subsoiled.

In the year 1858 the number of acres drained was 6,300; and in 1859, 3,300; and in 1860, 4,500; making an average in three years of 4,700 acres.

The following is a tabular statement, according to districts and counties, of the amounts of applications for loans and the amounts issued under the Land Improvement Acts, up to 31st December, 1860.

It now remains for the Board to notice the operation of the Act, passed in the last Session of Parliament, to facilitate the building of Labourers' Dwellings.

LABOURERS' DWELLINGS.

The only new feature connected with the administration of the Land Improvement Acts during the year has been the passing of the Act 23 Vic., c. 19, authorizing loans for the erection of dwellings for the Labouring Classes in Ireland. On the passing of this Act the following instructions for the guidance of the Commissioners were approved by your Lordships:—

"1st. No loan to be made for repairing or enlarging old dwelling-houses.

"2nd. No loan to be made for a less sum than £200, nor for a larger sum than £1,000 "to one person.

"3rd. No larger sum than £60 to be allowed, by way of loan, for the erection of each "labourer's dwelling; and in all cases the applicant to be bound to provide, at his own "expense, suitable building materials and labour to the value of at least one-fourth of the "whole amount sanctioned by the Treasury for each dwelling, making the entire maxi-"mum cost £75.

"4th. All labourers' dwellings to be erected according to plans and specifications to "be approved of by the Commissioners of Public Works.

"5th. No instalment after the first to be paid until satisfactory proof be given that a "sufficient portion of each dwelling has been executed and paid for out of the previous "instalment, and that suitable building material or labour, to the value of at least one-"fourth of the instalment, has been also supplied in the manner before stated in aid of the "loan.

"6th. In all cases, previous to the last instalment being issued on account of a loan, the "applicant to be bound to erect at his own expense, in a substantial manner and on a suit"able site, a properly drained and sufficient privy for the use of each labourer's dwelling, "and that a small enclosed yard has been erected at the back of each dwelling for the "reception of manure, &c. Land Improvement.

"Adverting to the above-named Act and the foregoing instructions, it will be necessary "for the party applying to furnish the following information to enable the Commissioners "of Public Works to decide as to whether any and what loan should be recommended "in his case.

"1. A short report setting forth the facilities of obtaining materials, the distance of the "proposed sites from water, whether spring or river, and the proportion of materials, such "as quarried stone, lime, building sand, and labour proposed to be supplied by applicant.

"2. An Ordnance sheet, or sheets, having the boundary of that portion of the estate on "which the dwellings are to be erected, defined by a coloured margin, and the sites of the "dwellings numbered, and marked in red.

"3. Plans, elevations, and sections drawn to a scale of eight feet to an inch, and having "the several dimensions correctly figured on them.

"4. Estimates and specifications for dwellings, numbered to correspond with plans, "elevations, and sections."

On receiving their Lordships' approval the Board designed four sets of suggestive plans, and framed a general specification of works for the information of applicants, showing the mode of erection which they considered most suitable, and the cost of which was not likely to exceed the amount sanctioned by your Lordships in paragraph 3 of the instructions.

Although their plans, specifications, and estimates, together with the instructions, have been printed and extensively distributed throughout the country, only twelve applications for loans for the erection of labourers' dwellings have as yet been received by the Board; but probably several, in addition, may still be applied for during the present year.

Pursuing the arrangement heretofore adopted we shall now proceed to review the drainage works, by giving the following information from the Reports of several of our Inspectors of Drainage.

Northern District.

We shall commence with the Northern District, in which the sum of £6,341 has been issued in the following proportions since 1859 :—

Antrim, £2,150; Londonderry, £200; Donegal, £310; Fermanagh, £1,900; Tyrone, £941; Armagh, £300; and Down, £540.

Mr. William P. Prendergast, Inspector of Drainage for the counties of Fermanagh, Cavan, and Leitrim, with portions of the adjoining counties of Tyrone, Sligo, Donegal, &c.; reports as follows :— Counties of Fermanagh, Cavan, and Leitrim, with portions of Tyrone, Sligo, Donegal, &c. Mr. W. P. Prendergast, Inspector of Drainage.

"The works in progress in this district have been continued under the same manage- "ment as in the preceding year, and are generally satisfactory to the owners, although the "comparative scarcity of labourers and the higher rates of wages demanded have caused "some proprietors to complain of the difficulty of proceeding, and some to stop altogether "at intervals; but it is to be remarked that railway works are in progress in all these "counties, or so close to the borders as to draw off a large number of the best labourers "for a time, and, of course, cause a temporary diminution in the numbers available for "agricultural work, unless the land owners or farmers consent to outbid the railway con- "tractors by offering wages very much higher than they have ever been accustomed to; "but this is rarely done, and it is usually considered preferable to submit to the temporary "inconvenience of stopping drainage and land improvement works for a season than carry "them on at the increased cost. It is desirable to give this explanation, owing to the "somewhat exaggerated statements occasionally put forward of the supply of labour in "Ireland not being sufficient for agricultural requirements, whereas in the districts with "which I am familiar, it would seem that the point so long wished for by all the advocates "of large farms and the spirited system of Scotch and North of England farmers has only "now been reached; and that if the same wages were offered in Ireland that are regularly "given in Scotland and the North of England, any required number of able-bodied men "may still be had.

"The objection to this step, however, has for a time checked the extension of Land Im- "provement works in a considerable portion of this district, and there are not a great "many new loans to report on. In Fermanagh, however, two of the largest estates in the "county have had loans granted to them during the past year, viz., the properties of "Captain Mervyn Archdall, M.P., and of the Marquis of Ely, and as both these estates are

Land Improvement.

"managed by thoroughly practical and experienced resident agents (Mr. Nicholas Archdall and Mr. Maurice Maude), who have watched the results of similar undertakings in the county for the last twelve or fourteen years, it is a good testimony to the approval and success they met with, and the new works are now progressing in a manner satisfactory to all parties concerned.

"Mr. Paul Dane, agent to the Belmore estate, has also obtained a loan for his own property in this county, and carried out the work with great spirit in the neighbourhood of Enniskillen.

"All the principal estates in the county Fermanagh have now been improved by Treasury loans: Lord Erne's, Lord Enniskillen's, Sir Arthur Brooke's, Lord Belmore's, Colonel Barton's, Mr. Folliott Barton's, Mr. Johnston's, Mr. H. Richardson's, Mr. Leslie's, Mr. Collum's, besides many glebes and smaller properties. And it may be fairly taken as a proof that the system is universally recognised as satisfactory when, after so much experience of it among their neighbours, the few that had not adopted it some years ago carry out similar plans now.

"I have been in constant communication with the proprietors and agents and farmers interested in these improvements, and have made it a point to ask their opinion of the results of the expenditure and the efficacy of the work when finished, and whether they would make any change in the plans and specifications if they were to begin again, as it is evident that a body of most valuable evidence upon agricultural subjects is thus collected in the course of twelve or fourteen years that ought to be of the greatest service in guiding us for the future. In pursuance of this plan I usually annex to my Report a few letters from landed proprietors who have paid much personal attention to the subject, and on this occasion it will be seen from Lord Belmore's and Colonel Whyte's letters, herewith enclosed, that after many years' personal attention to their own estates (on which a great variety of work had been executed), they are satisfied with the results, and are proceeding to apply for new loans, as the former ones are expended. The system of thorough drainage, by parallel drains not less than four feet deep, continues to be generally approved of; and in retentive clays, the distance between the drains of about thirty feet is adopted for the most part, although some farmers occasionally wish to put them at twenty-five feet.

"Pipe tiles are better understood each year, and approved of as the most convenient material for drains, giving the quickest discharge, and being carted and laid in with much less trouble, and much more speedily than stones.

"The demand for them seems to increase in all directions; and Lord Enniskillen's tilery at Florence Court, and Messrs. La Touche's, at Leitrim, cannot make tiles fast enough to supply the demand.

"In the county Leitrim the greater number of the loans have been expended and the works closed; but a good deal is going on from private resources, and Colonel Whyte and Mr. Fitzpatrick are still at work under the Act.

"In Cavan, Lord Headford's drainage is going on well, and Sir John Young has obtained a loan for the drainage of two small lakes, by cutting through a barrier of soft rock, by which a great deal of valuable land will be permanently reclaimed, and a large profit obtained.

"This is a most interesting and useful work, and Sir John Young showed me the ground and explained all his wishes before leaving Ireland, so that his agent might employ the people during his absence, and have a fund under the Board of Works' inspection for carrying out the plan during his absence. I have now referred to a few of the cases in which there is some variety from the ordinary routine of farm work, for the purpose of showing that the Act works well, and can be made useful in almost every situation in which a landed property can be placed, and for almost every kind of improvement required, and great satisfaction has been expressed to me at the last amendment in the provisions of the Act, by which labourers' dwellings may be included in the loans, although as yet not many of the proprietors in my district have concluded their arrangements for building the cottages they wish to have on their estates.

"I will conclude with remarking, that in all quarters during my frequent circuits through the north-west of Ireland in the course of the past year, I find the most marked improvement continually in the dress, food, and general condition of the agricultural and trading classes, and the labourers, where properly treated and regularly paid, most orderly and correct in their conduct, and most industrious and anxious to work at the hardest and most disagreeable work in wet and dirt, if they can only get the same rate of wages as is commonly paid in England and Scotland for similar work.

"Among the items denoting the condition of the country, and what the personal presence of resident landlords can accomplish, I would call attention to the fact, that I saw twenty-eight well appointed iron ploughs belonging to Lord Belmore's tenants alone (four-

Land Improvement.

" teen of them from Gray, of Glasgow), at a ploughing match I attended this year at Fermanagh ; and those who are familiar with the country know what a change this is.

" Ploughs and threshing machines from Scotland are now quite common among tenant farmers, and the number imported from Glasgow increases every year. And by Colonel Whyte's letter it will be seen, that in the county Leitrim, in a still thickly populated locality, he states there has not been a single pauper in the poorhouse from his estate of thirty-three townlands, owing to the regular employment afforded by his Land Improvement works and the attention he pays to them.

" Letter from Lord Belmore :—' Last week I devoted a considerable time to the Tyrone ' estate, inspecting what had been done in the way of drainage and reclamation during ' the past winter, and had every reason to be satisfied with the result. From the circumstance of the advanced state of the main drainage at the end of last summer, more progress, in the way of reclamation and general improvement visible to a casual observer, has been made than in any previous winter since I obtained the loan from the Board in 1857, and I found the farmers had, in almost all directions on the estate, at last begun to enter into the spirit of the thing, and done a great deal of work both in the way of drainage and also of breaking in waste ground and spent bog, and levelling useless "ditches"—fences I cannot call them—in most instances. I observed a disposition also on adjoining estates to follow the example set on mine.

" ' At home, in Fermanagh, owing partly to the wetness and severity of the season, and more so to the difficulty of procuring a sufficient supply of tiles, owing to the greatly increased demand for them in the neighbourhood, the progress made has not been so great as in Tyrone, except in the immediate neighbourhood of Lough Avilly, which had been almost completely drained off before last year, and consequently I expect a good deal of land will be in crop this season for the first time. I have found it advisable to apply to the Board for a further loan to enable me to continue the drainage works in both counties. I have every reason to be satisfied with their specifications. I have found tiles make the best arterial drains ; but where there is a hard bottom and plenty of large stones, I prefer a stone pipe (dry built) for the sub-main drains, as being cheaper, less liable to get out of order, and better able to vent the water in very wet weather, there being no limit as to size as in the case of tubular tile-pipes. I have no alteration to suggest in the machinery of the Board nor in your specifications, and find no difficulty in going on as we are.'

" Letter from Colonel Whyte :—' Since the year 1849 I have expended in drainage, fencing, clearing, and other improvements, in or about £4,500, and so beneficial has it proved, that I should be quite ready, were the loan to continue, to double the amount. My plan has been, to hold the improved land in hands for at least three years, and in no case have I failed to obtain, on re-letting at the expiration of that time, at least 25 per cent. increase on the original valuation, and I have found the tenants quite as well satisfied as myself.

" ' You will probably remember that at one time I found considerable difficulty in obtaining permission to employ a portion of the loan in fencing off about 2,000 acres of upland, which was done with a dry stone wall of five feet in height. This, however, has, in all ways, proved the most profitable of all my improvements. It has formed a most valuable sheep farm, and the manure has improved the land to an extent that could scarcely be credited. The walls have now stood the test of ten years, and have cost but little in repairs. This year I contemplate fencing in about 300 more acres of the same nature lying contiguous to the original farm.

" ' I have found the machinery of the Act most convenient, and can only suggest one improvement, and that is, that permission should be granted to erect limekilns. In my opinion this would be most advantageous to the country, the miserable kilns at present generally used cause in the aggregate an immense loss, both of time and fuel. The latter is, from the exhaustion of the turf bogs, now becoming very expensive.

" ' In conclusion, I beg to say, that if the use of the loan did but cover the interest it would still be most valuable from the amount of labour it enables the landlord to afford and the benefit accruing thereby to the poorer tenants. It is now more than twelve years since there has been a pauper in the poorhouse belonging to the thirty-three townlands which I hold in the county Leitrim, where, as you are aware, the population is dense.' "

Land Improvement.

Midland and Eastern District.

In this district the sum of £11,200 has been issued in the following proportions since 1859 :—

Cavan, £210 ; Monaghan, £290 ; Louth, £610 ; Meath, £1,680 ; Westmeath, £900 ; Dublin, £1,000 ; Kildare, £1,910 ; Queen's, £1,860 ; Wicklow, £460 ; Carlow, £280 ; Kilkenny, £680 ; and Wexford, £1,320.

County of Carlow, and Queen's County. Mr. Joseph Fishbourne, Inspector of Drainage.

Mr. Joseph Fishbourne, Inspector of Drainage for the county of Carlow and Queen's county, reports as follows :—

"I have within the current year (1860) reported on six new loans in the Queen's County, "and have also made many inspections of works executed with loans previously sanctioned, "in Carlow, Kilkenny, Tipperary, and Queen's Counties ; in all the landlords and occupiers "have expressed themselves highly pleased and satisfied with the results. I have ample "opportunities for observing the general improvement of the country, and to learn the "opinions of all persons connected with landed property. It is universally admitted that "the work executed under the provisions of the Land Improvement Acts has been highly "remunerative, and has encouraged many to expend their own capital in executing similar "works. The whole country is steadily improving, and the contrast between improved "and unimproved fields is so striking, that many occupiers are now having improvements "executed on their own account, who in former years opposed their landlords when they "proposed to have similar works executed for them. Although the number of labourers "has decreased, still a sufficient number can be easily obtained by paying fair wages. They "are now trained hands, and execute work well and carefully at moderate prices.

"In December, 1860, I inspected works executed on Sir John Power's estate in Tipper- "ary county. I then learned from his tenants, that before the loan was obtained for the "improvement of the townland of Brenormore, it had been let at an average of six shillings "per Irish acre, and the occupiers were in distressed circumstances ; but by the improve- "ment of their lands and houses they are now enabled to pay an average rent of more "than treble what they formerly paid, and all are in a most prosperous, contented, and "solvent condition.

"William Cope Cooper, Esq., obtained a loan under this Act for the improvement of "his property in the barony of Cullenagh, Queen's County, named Knockardigur. Those "lands were then wild, wet, cold, and rushy pastures, only capable of supporting young "cattle during four or five summer months ; they have been thorough drained and limed, "and are more than trebled in value. Cows were fatted on those lands every year since "1850 ; and in this year those fed there left a profit of £6 10*s.* each for their keep from "May to November. One hundred and thirty acres have been thorough drained and "limed at a cost of about £7 per acre. The annual profit exceeds £260.

"Other similar cases have come under my observation, which could be stated to prove "the results arising from the operation of the Land Improvement Act have been most "satisfactory."

Western District.

In this district, comprehending the province of Connaught, with the county of Clare, the sum of £7,180 has been issued as follows, since 1859 :—

County of Roscommon and part of Galway. Mr. Richard Irwin, Inspector of Drainage.

Mr. Richard Irwin, Inspector of Drainage for the county of Roscommon and part of Galway, reports as follows :—"The advanced price of labour, and, still more, the difficulty "of securing a sufficient number of labourers at almost any price, have, during the past year, "operated as a serious discouragement to the progress of Land Improvement ; yet the works "which have been completed in this district since the close of 1859 may be stated as very "nearly equal to those of the preceding twelve months ; and it is certain that improve- "ments would have been carried out to a much greater extent but for the diminished "supply and increased cost of labour. This difficulty, which is now causing considerable "alarm among farmers and others who are necessarily employers of labour, has been "attributed to the special demand for labourers occasioned by the circumstance of three "railways being in course of construction in different parts of the district ; but this is a "mistake, as the true cause is to be found in the long-continued and (I regret to add) still "continuing emigration, which has already taken away so many of the best and most indus-

Land Improvement.

"trious of our labourers and small farmers. During the last, and also, but in a lesser "degree, during the preceding autumns, serious losses, as well as great inconveniences, "were caused in almost every part of the district by the impossibility of obtaining, at any "price, a sufficient number of harvest labourers. This statement may appear inconsistent "with the well-known fact, that the numerous gangs of labourers who migrate to England "for the haymaking and harvest times are chiefly from this province; but this apparent "contradiction is easily explained, as the great majority of those 'harvestmen' are small far- "mers who rarely work for hire in their own country, and scarcely ever during the late and "uncertain harvest time of the western province, as they are then occupied with their own "crops. Hence the importance of giving more encouragement to the labourers of each "separate locality is now beginning to be acknowledged and acted on; and as experience "has shown that there is no species of encouragement so much prized by an industrious "labourer as the steady and generally well-paid employment afforded by works of Land "Improvement during, what are often termed, the 'idle months of the year,' it is prob- "able that in the course of the next twelve months there will be a greater number of appli- "cations for loans, and also a greatly increased expenditure of private funds on thorough "drainage and other works, the advantages of which have been brought within the obser- "vation of all by the working of the Land Improvement Acts.

"The advantages of improved farm-steadings, as already stated in former Reports, are "in each successive year more and more appreciated by the more intelligent of the farm- "ing class; yet it is a frequent subject of remark that the facility for obtaining loans for "farm-buildings has not been made available in a district in which not only proper feed- "ing-houses for cattle, &c., but even such apparently indispensable offices as farms and "granaries, are very commonly either entirely absent, or else consist of small, ill-thatched "sheds, totally unsuited for the purpose. The truth is, that the tillage farms of the district "are, with very few exceptions, below the required value of £100 per annum, which de- "prives the occupier of the benefit which the Act was intended to confer; while the farms "above that value are almost exclusively in the occupancy of graziers, who do not look for "any buildings beyond a thatched hovel on each farm for the residence of the herdsman "or caretaker. On the contrary, the interest which the more intelligent tillage farmer "takes in observing the substantial construction and improved arrangement of the farm "offices erected under the Act is increasing every day; and very many inquiries on the "subject have been addressed to me, particularly during the last year, both by proprietors "and occupiers, all of whom were much disappointed on being informed that loans for "farm-buildings were not granted on farms below the value of £100 a-year.

"This increased desire for farm-buildings may be regarded as the very best evidence of "the gradual introduction of improved husbandry, which for some years past has been "observed to follow the operations of the Land Improvement Acts; and it is certain that "numbers of farmers, who but a few years ago almost exclusively raised their potatoes "(then their only green crop) on ashes procured by burning the surface of the land, are now "endeavouring to restore the fertility of their exhausted farms, commencing with peat com- "posts, aided by guano and other portable fertilizers, on what they raise turnips and man- "gold wurzel as well as potatoes, and thus, by providing good winter food for their cattle, "they secure a supply of farm-yard manure for future crops. To the many industrious "farmers who have reached this stage of improvement in husbandry, the importance of a "small but compact farm-yard can scarcely be too highly estimated; and it is the opinion "of every practical man with whom I have conversed on the subject, that building loans, "to the amount of two or three years' annual value, could be made with the greatest ad- "vantage and most complete security of repayment on farms valued from £25 per annum, "upwards; particularly as it is certain that in all cases in which three years' value of "the land might be considered insufficient for the erection of offices suited to the farm, the "applicants would willingly bind themselves to provide, at their own expense, whatever "additional building materials and labour might be required."

Western Division of the County of Galway. Mr. S. U. Roberts, Inspector of Drainage.

Mr. Samuel U. Roberts, Inspector of Drainage for the Western Division of the County of Galway:—

"The works carried out under the Land Improvement Act in this district during the "past year have been of limited extent, owing in a great measure to the prosperity of the "country, and to the fact, that landed proprietors and their tenants are now generally "enabled to carry out improvements in connexion with their lands without the aid of loans "from Government.

"The works of main and thorough drainage executed by Mrs. Blake, of Dartfield, have "been completed in a very workmanlike manner, and have been attended with the most "satisfactory results; so much so, indeed, that Mrs. Blake applied for a second loan, to "enable her to extend the improvements.

Land Improvement.

"Mr. O'Farrell, of Dalystown, is executing some very extensive works of reclamation "and drainage near Dalystown, and some well-designed improvements of main and thorough "drainage at Streamstown. On the former he is expending a considerable sum per acre, "in addition to the loan sanctioned by the Board, in the anticipation that the return for "the expenditure will be considerable; but the works are not yet sufficiently advanced to "enable me to report the result. The main drainage works at Streamstown have been "well executed, and a sufficient fall obtained for thorough draining a large swamp hereto- "fore covered with water during the greater part of the year.

"At Furbough, Mr. Andrew Blake is executing some works of main and thorough "drainage, which are progressing in a satisfactory manner.

"Mr. Blakeney, of Abbert, has built extensive farm offices on a farm near Abbert. The "work has been executed in a very creditable, workmanlike, and substantial manner. "The offices are carefully arranged and well adapted to the farm, and Mr. Blakeney con- "siders that its increased value, resulting from the convenience of these offices, will pay him "10 per cent. on their cost.

"At Ballybanagher, near Tuam, Mr. Andrew Nolan is building farm offices which will "shortly be completed.

"I can with confidence report that the benefits which will result from the execution of "these works will exceed considerably the amount of the annual instalment of 6½ per cent., "payable on the expenditure; and I am of opinion that, from the judicious manner in "which they have been laid out and executed, further profitable improvements in the land "will follow."

Southern Division of the County of Galway. Mr. C. Cooper, Inspector of Drainage.

Mr. Charles Cooper, Inspector of Drainage for the Southern Division of the county of Galway:—

"During the year 1860 the operations under the above Acts in this district have been "of a limited nature, only three new loans having been sanctioned and six progress inspec- "tions made relating to works, several of which have since been completed.

"Of new loans, two only have been made; one to Mr. John S. Kirwan, of Moyne, and "the other to Major John Burke, of St. Clerans. On the former two inspections have "taken place, and the result has been satisfactory to all, upwards of 120 acres of land hav- "ing been effectually thorough drained, for which the proprietor has been awarded the "'medal' of the Ballinasloe Agricultural Society, as being the best and most effective in "the district.

"The works under the second loan made to Mr. Kirwan are now in progress and promise "to be equally effective and satisfactory.

"The thorough drainage of a large tract of land, heretofore deemed impracticable, is now "being proceeded with, the outfall for which has been obtained by the formation of a con- "duit under the tail-race of an important mill, and the drainage discharged into the main "drain of the arterial drainage district.

"Of the properties upon which progress inspections have been made there is nothing "which calls for particular remark. The works have been mostly executed in a proper "and workmanlike manner, and the proprietors appear well satisfied with the improve- "ments. As referred to in former Annual Reports, the system of deep drainage has been "universally adopted in this district, open main drains being made five feet or more, and "the covered mains from three and a-half to four and a-half feet in depth."

County of Clare. Mr. John W. Kelly, Inspector of Drainage.

Mr. John W. Kelly, Inspector of Drainage for the county of Clare:—

"The operations under the Land Improvement Act in the county of Clare during the "past year were of a limited nature, being confined to main and thorough drainages under "loans previously granted to Mr. R. W. C. Reeves and to Mr. Michael Skehan, and under "a new loan to Mr. James O'Brien. The results of the works in every case that I have "seen were highly satisfactory. While making a survey, within the last few days, of lands "about to be thorough drained by Mr. F. M. Calcutt, M.P., I had an opportunity of seeing "some lands of his, the thorough drainage of which was effected a few years ago, under "the provisions of the Land Improvement Act, and the remunerative return yielded by "them has far exceeded the improved value anticipated in the estimate submitted to the "Commissioners.

"The limited degree in which the provisions of the Act are taken advantage of in this "part of the country is partly owing to the rise in the price of labour, but mainly to the "pursuits of the more extensive farmers being chiefly devoted to grazing. Thorough "drainage in general, to be rendered fully effectual, requires to be followed up by sub- "soiling and a course of tillage and manuring; but the present state of the labour market "and the remunerative return to be derived from its application to agriculture, are not "considered sufficiently inviting to adopt this course. The prices of grain are low as com-

Land Improvement.

"pared with those of cattle, butter, sheep, meadows, &c., and farmers in general naturally "prefer those pursuits attended with greatest immediate profit and least outlay and trouble. "Even those thorough drainages and subsequent courses of tillage at present effected are, "for the most part, done with the view of preparing the lands ultimately for meadows and "pastures, and as such, no doubt, they will pay well; but until the prices of grain and "cattle, &c., approximate more to an equality, and tillage become consequently more gene- "ral, it is probable that thorough drainage will not prevail to an extent commensurate to "the benefits it invariably confers.

"Grazing and cattle feeding is the order of the day; and it is an interesting fact which "has not, perhaps, received that notice its importance deserves, that even of the quantity "of grain constituting our present diminished home growth, a large share of it is raised, "not by preference, but merely incidentally to the growth of green crops, which (for cattle "feeding) are the real desiderata."

Southern District.

In this district, the sum of £7,539 19*s.* 9*d.* has been issued, in the following proportions, since 1859 :—

Limerick, £2,040 ; Tipperary, £1,640 ; King's County, £309 19*s.* 9*d.*; Waterford, £80 ; Cork, £2,700 ; and Kerry, £770.

County of Tipperary. Mr. J. Jocelyn Poe, Inspector of Drainage.

Mr. J. Jocelyn Poe, Inspector of Drainage for the county of Tipperary and neighbouring districts :—

"In forwarding my Report of the proceedings under the Land Improvement Act in this "district for the past year, but little remains to be added to my former statements, that all "the works undertaken have progressed satisfactorily, and the results have fully realized "to the proprietors the benefits they had calculated on.

"I never entertained a doubt that this would have been the case, in a greater or less "degree, though I could hardly have anticipated so very decided an increase in the value "of land thorough drained under my inspection as has arisen on the estate of Mr. Carden, "of Barnane. He was the first applicant for a loan for thorough drainage in this district, "and carried on his works most energetically. The land, when drained, was tilled, limed, "and laid down for pasturage, and he has recently let a very large extent of this land, "which, previous to the commencement of the drainage works was not worth more than "ten shillings per acre, for forty shillings the Irish acre.

"The results in other cases, though not to the same extent, or in so large a ratio, as "Mr. Carden's, have been very satisfactory. The estates of Mr. Tuthill and of Mr. Smith- "wick, in the barony of Owney and Arra, and of Mr. R. U. Bayly, bear out this fact; nor "do I know an instance in which the annual benefit has not exceeded the estimated per "centage.

"During the past year the inspections for farm-buildings have been nearly as numerous "as those for thorough drainage, and only two new cases have been before me for appli- "cations for loans for drainage.

"In many cases the proprietors are making some small allowances to their tenants for "drainage, and as the improved system of thorough drainage has become so well known "through the country, from the frequency of works executed under this Act, there is no "difficulty in procuring labourers who understand their work; and though their wages "are nearly double what they had been, still the employer has good value for the dif- "ference."

County of Waterford. Mr. A. U. Roberts, Inspector of Drainage.

Mr. A. U. Roberts, Inspector of Drainage for the county of Waterford :—

"I beg leave to inform you that no new loans have been applied for in this county dur- "ing the past year, and the only work in progress has been completed, namely, that of Mr. "Baker, in the barony of Decies-without-Drum.

"I am glad to be able to inform you that the proprietors and tenants are taking a greater "interest in keeping in good order the main drains and outlets, and consequently the drained "land has a better appearance, and that tilled has produced better crops than heretofore.

"Several proprietors are themselves draining their farms in this county with their own "funds. All of this drainage is being carried on on the principles laid down by the Board.

"Tenants also, in several instances, have also drained portions of the farms; and by the "experience gained by them in seeing the works under the superintendence of the Board, "are now able to lay their drains out themselves, when formerly they had to employ a "drainer to do so.

"I can with confidence state that every acre of land which has been drained under this "Act in this county, and which has been properly tilled and taken care of, has amply repaid "for the expenditure; but I am sorry to say that much of the drained land has been "allowed to remain unbroken and neglected."

County of Kerry. Mr. H. Stokes, Inspector of Drainage.

Mr. H. Stokes, Inspector of Drainage for the county of Kerry—

"Pursuant to instructions, I beg leave to lay before the Commissioners of Public Works "the following Report on the working of the Land Improvement Act in the county of "Kerry for the year ending 31st December, 1860.

"The proceedings have been very limited, for I find but five applications have been "made for loans and referred to me for report by the Board, and they have ordered but "three progress inspections on works previously sanctioned. One of the five applications "for loan has been abandoned (Mr. James Butler's), and there has been no progress inspec-"tion made in the other four cases; but I know that the Rev. George Browne and Mr. E. "C. Morris have thorough drained land sufficient to account for nearly two instalments "each. The amounts sanctioned in those cases have not been notified to me.

"I do not expect to see any considerable increase of the applications under the Act, as "the constant demand for land occupation, the high rates of wages to be paid to labourers, "and the diminishing return of work to be got from them, continues to deter owners from "borrowing, as described in my Report for 1859; and a good many years must elapse "before any material change in the supply of labour can be expected which would induce "a return to the advantages held out by the Board.

"It is not supposed that the new law of tenant compensation will have any effect in "stimulating Land Improvement loans, so that with the present prospects, I think it is "pretty certain that we shall have as little to do under the 10 Vic., cap. 32, &c., in 1861 "as in 1860."

Public Buildings.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Since our last Report the new buildings of—

Enniscorthy, Parsonstown, Carrickfergus, and Newtownstewart

Model Schools have been completed, and transferred to the Board of National Education.

The works at Londonderry Model School are on the point of being finished, and satisfactory progress is being made at the similar buildings of—

Monaghan, Sligo, and Newtownards.

The plans are ready, and tenders will shortly be called for, for the erection of a Model School at Lurgan, and a site is being obtained for one at Cork.

The intention of erecting a Model School at Ballinahinch (Co. Down), has been abandoned by the Board of National Education.

Of the Coast Guard Stations to be erected by the Board, the following is the present position—

Dunmore Coast Guard Station is just completed.
Eastferry Station is nearly so.
Baldoyle Station is in progress.
Morris Castle Station is about to be commenced.

New buildings for Probate Offices are in progress at Waterford and Londonderry, and one is about to be commenced at Armagh.

Alterations are also being made in the Belfast Custom House, with the view of accommodating the Probate Offices of that town in the building.

The preliminary steps towards the erection of the additions to the Constabulary Depôt in the Phœnix Park, and the new Constabulary Barracks at Limerick, have been taken, and the works, it is hoped, will soon be contracted for.

The works of erecting the new Laundry, Ablution-room, Dormitories, and the additions to the Chapel at the Royal Hibernian Military School, are being proceeded with.

An entrance building with residence for a Warder, Store-rooms, &c., is being erected to Mountjoy Female Convict Prison; and plans are being prepared for an addition to the Infirmary of that establishment.

Important additions and alterations have been made at Clonmel National Model School, viz.:—

A new Girls' School; two new Class-rooms; residence for Master.

Public Buildings.

ARTERIAL DRAINAGE,

Arterial Drainage.

With Improvements of Navigation and Water-power, under the Acts 5 & 6 Vict., cap. 89; 8 & 9 Vict., cap. 69; 9 Vict., cap. 4; 10 & 11 Vict., cap. 79; 16 & 17 Vict., cap. 130; 18 & 19 Vict., cap. 110; 19 & 20 Vict., cap. 62; 20 & 21 Vict., cap. 23; and 21 & 22 Vict., cap. 41.

All executive operations connected with the works of Arterial Drainage have been brought to a close during the past year, and the districts named in the table below have been finally settled, awarded on, and transferred to the custody of trustees appointed by the proprietors.

The Clonakilty Slob-lands and the Shanagolden District remain in the same position as regards the Board's responsibility and control as heretofore. The latter, however, will now be immediately brought to a final issue.

The following are the districts on which Final Awards have been made during the past year, together with the amounts charged upon the lands by those Awards, and the amounts remitted under the provisions of the Act 16 & 17 Vict., cap. 130.

The whole expenditure charged against the different undertakings commenced under the Arterial Drainage Acts, including £70,201 for works chargeable to counties, amounted at the end of March, 1861, to £2,382,026, of which £9,472 is due to the expenditure during the fifteen months ended March, 1861, the sum of £983 being included in the last-mentioned amount for interest on the loans obtained for the districts not completed. Of the total expenditure £2,376,883 may be considered to have been on the completed districts, of which £1,185,422 has been remitted, and £5,142 to have been on districts not yet closed.

The repayments in respect of the completed districts amounted to £452,746, including £67,048 for works charged to counties, and also the interest included in the instalments paid by the proprietors charged by the awards.

The usual returns connected with the expenditure on these works, and the usual extracts from the reports of the Engineers in charge of them, are appended to this Report.

HARBOURS.

Harbours.

Kingstown Harbour.

The new Steam Packet Pier which is now exclusively used for landing and embarking Passengers and the Mails, and which has fully realized our expectations, is completed, with the exception of the shed for the shelter of passengers, which is in progress, and we expect will be finished by the 1st July.

* Remission on whole District—see last Report.

Howth Harbour.

The operations here have been as usual confined to works of repair and maintenance. No very serious damage has been sustained, but the sea slopes of the breakwater require almost constant attention.

Dunmore East.

A moderate outlay during the ensuing summer, in ordinary repairs, will meet all that is required here.

Donaghadee.

Very satisfactory progress has been made with the works here. Even now such steamers as are contemplated for the postal service between this and Portpatrick may safely use the harbour at any state of the tide or weather, and we anticipate that at the close of the coming summer very little of what was designed will remain to be done. See Resident Engineer's Report—Appendix D.

Inland Navigations.

Shannon and Maigue.

These navigations, including the various works on the Lower Shannon, are in a satisfactory state, and are not likely in the ensuing year to call for any extraordinary expenditure beyond mere repair and maintenance. The only outlay in the current year of any signification is for the clearing and deepening the harbour at Foynes, which has progressed favourably and will be very shortly done, affording a depth of 8 to 10 feet at low water.

Tyrone Navigation—Coal Island Canal.

The repair of breaches alluded to in the last report is satisfactorily completed, and the navigation is now in good order, requiring nothing beyond ordinary maintenance.

Boyne Navigation.

The towing paths and landing stages have been considerably improved, and the whole of the works are in a satisfactory condition, and not likely to require any extra outlay.

Post Roads.

POST ROADS.

Act 6 and 7 Wm. IV., cap. 116.

Clare.	Down.	Kilkenny.	Waterford.
Cork.	Dublin.	Leitrim.	Wicklow.
Donegal.	Fermanagh.	Tipperary.

These repairs have been executed under the superintendence of the respective County Surveyors, at a cost of £1,233 15*s.* 9*d.*, repayable by Grand Jury Presentment at subsequent Assizes.

We have the honour to be,

APPENDIX C.

EXTRACTS from the ANNUAL REPORT of Mr. J. J. BOYLAN, C.E.,

On the LOUGH NEAGH DISTRICT, in the Counties of Antrim, Armagh, Derry, Down, and Tyrone.

Drainage.

No works under this head were executed in this district by the Board during the past year, the works having been transferred, in the final settlement of the award, to the custody of the Trustees appointed by the Proprietors on the 2nd June, 1859.

Navigation.

The deepening of the navigation channel through Lough Beg, which at the date of the making of the award (18th February, 1859), and the transferring of the works to the care of the Trustees appointed under the Act 19 & 20 Vic., c. 62, was incomplete, was proceeded with during the past year.

On the commencement of the year, the steam dredger continued widening and deepening the channel through Lough Beg, from the point to which it had been finished on the 31st December, 1859, namely, 390 yards above the debouch or north end of the lake, and during the year 3,566 yards in length of the channel, which is now 80 feet in width at bottom, and having a depth of 7 feet of water in it at the summer water-level of the lake, have been completed.

There now remains but 1,250 yards in length of the channel to be deepened; and should the weather continue favourable for dredging operations, it is anticipated this will be completed early in the month of April.

Mill Power.

The fences bounding the plots of ground reserved for the mill sites at Portna, Movanagher, and Carnroe, have been repaired.

At Portna a stone wall, 82 yards in length, has been built, dividing the Navigation Trustees' property from that reserved for mill sites; and at Carnroe a bank fence, 116 yards in length, has been constructed, to define the boundary of the mill site plot from the property of the Navigation Trustees.

During the floods of January last, a portion of the island, forming part of the mill site plot at Movanagher, having been washed away by the action of the current, a wall or pitching, 43 yards in length, has been formed, at the head of the island, to secure it from further abrasion during floods.

EXTRACTS from the ANNUAL REPORT of Mr. H. J. B. KANE, C.E., Resident Engineer, On the BROSNA (FERBANE) DISTRICT. For the year 1860. Dated 21st January, 1861.

The works in progress during the past year on the Brosna (Ferbane) district, may, with the exception of the new cuts, &c., on the Pollagh division, be classed principally under the head of Maintenance; but notwithstanding their trivial character, they were very essential, and have proved most satisfactory, as the permanence and efficiency of all these works is now satisfactorily established, in consequence of the opportunity afforded for testing and amending them, when such proved necessary.

FERBANE DIVISION.

On this division, the Kilcolgan drain was scoured, and the main channel in some places cleansed from deposits of mud, also numerous objectionable fences which were built since the opening of this large river channel, and which encroached so much on the slopes as to obstruct the free discharge of the water, were removed.

COOLE AND BRACKAGH DIVISIONS.

Four occupation bridges, viz., at Derries, Kilcolgan, Coole Castle, and Brackagh, were during the early part of the year thoroughly repaired, by new sheeting them with three-inch plank, laid longitudinally, and coated with tar and naptha.

BALLYCUMBER DIVISION.

An objectionable shoal, situated at the up-stream end of the deep cut, known as Armstrong's Cut, was excavated and considerably improved; also the old river course, formerly abandoned and cut off by the new cut, has been again opened and improved, to act as an auxiliary cut in time of high floods, as it was found that the dimensions of this cut, made in the year 1847, was not sufficient in times of extraordinary floods.

AQUEDUCT DIVISION.

The main channel on this division was, during the months of June and July, effectually cleansed and scoured; a considerable tributary stream, called the Lumcloon drain, was excavated and improved, for the entire distance from its junction with the river to the limit of flooded land, and some small portions of unwatering cuts, formerly used during the excavation of the main channel, were filled.

POLLAGH DIVISION.

On this division the bottom lift of the upper cut, which could not be completed during the year 1859, in consequence of the early September flood, has been excavated to its full depth and dimensions, and over 5,500 cubic yards of blue clay removed therefrom; all the dams and dam seats successfully excavated and dredged out to a depth of two feet under summer water; also a large quantity of sand which accumulated during the winter floods, in consequence of the unfinished state of the channel, has been dredged out, and otherwise removed. A foot bridge, spanning the river just above the new cuts, and constructed of timber and iron girder, resting on piles, and having two side bays of 35 feet each, and a centre bay of 40 feet span, has also been constructed.

CORNALAUR DIVISION.

The back-drain discharging into the Brosna at Pollagh, and the repairs of the several bridges spanning said drain, were the principal works in progress on this division, with the scouring of certain portions of the main channel, for the purpose of obtaining material for the repairs of the banks damaged by the floods of last year.

CHARLEVILLE DIVISION.

Owing to the treacherous nature of the material through which the back-drains are excavated on this division, it was found necessary to give them a thorough cleansing for a distance of upwards of 600 perches, as great obstructions to the free discharge of the water had occurred from various and, in some cases, rather extensive land-slips.

APPENDIX C.

Extracts from the Annual Report of Mr. H. J. B. Kane, C.E., Resident Engineer.

AHARNEY DIVISION.

The repairing and improving of the banks on this reach from junction of the Silver with the Clodiagh River to Derryesker Bridge, with the scouring of main channel on same reach, and up to Doory Bridge, and the scouring and cleansing of the back drains on northern and southern sides, together with the repairs of some small gullets and bridges, were the only works executed on the above division.

RAHAN DIVISION.

The embankments on this reach of the Clodiagh River suffered considerably by the action of the heavy winter floods on the sandy material of which they are constructed, and consequently required considerable repairs, for which purpose certain portions of the channel, where shoals had accumulated, were scoured, and the material thus obtained used in the repairs of the aforesaid embankments. An occupation bridge of 35 feet span, known as Molloy's Bridge, was also repaired and strengthened by tension bars; and another bridge, of same span, was raised 2 feet, as a precaution against high floods, which formerly used to rise to the bottom of the girder.

BALLYBOUGHLIN DIVISION.

The main channel on this division was effectually scoured and cleansed for its entire length, and the several occupation bridges substantially repaired and coated with tar; also the drain known as the Raheen drain was deepened and otherwise improved, from its junction with the main river to Raheen Bog, a distance of 265 perches.

CLOGHATANNY DIVISION.

This stream, during the early part of the year, was thoroughly cleansed and scoured, from its junction with the Brosna River to near its source at the road leading to Moate.

TULLAMORE DIVISION.

The timber occupation bridges on this division, varying from 24 to 18 feet in their spans, and 15 in number, were repaired and coated with tar, and the main channel of river cleansed for its entire length; also a tributary stream, known as the Puttaghan drain, was scoured and cleansed.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The total amount of the different descriptions of work executed during the past year are as follows:—Main river courses and drains scoured and cleansed, 26 miles; unwatering cuts closed, 38 perches; six timber and iron occupation bridges, varying from 80 feet to 40 feet in their spans, newly sheeted and coated with tar, and the construction of some small gullets over back-drains. The earthwork, on the whole district amounting to 17,464 cubic yards, and the cost per cubic yard being $7\frac{3}{4}d.$

In the following table will be seen the divisional apportionment of earthwork:—

The district is now completed, and has been for some time given up to the Trustees, who have taken measures to have it effectively maintained.

REMARKS WITH RESPECT TO RAIN-FALL.

The rain-fall for the year 1860, in this vicinity, has many remarkable features, and as the agricultural success of the country has been materially influenced thereby, a somewhat detailed investigation of its peculiarities may be interesting. These may be classed as follows:—The excess in the total quantity over former years—the remarkable wetness of the first nine months of the year—the quantity of rain falling in the months of January and June—the high state of saturation of the earth during the whole year, and the consequent excess in the proportionate quantity of water discharged by the various rivers. The total rain-fall for 1860 is 33·96, and the average for the last 12 years is 31·33, showing an excess of 2·63, and exceeding the average for the last seven years by 5·47. It is also the greatest fall that has occurred since the year 1852; and reviewing it with reference to that year, we find that there exists a considerable similarity in its distribution, as we have the spring quarter only varying in average 0·16, the last year being in excess, the summer quarter 1·01 less, and the autumn 0·07 greater; and taking the total for the first three quarters of the year, spring, summer, and autumn, we find that the last year is only 0·78 under 1852. Further, that the rain-fall in June, 1860, is 5·51, the greatest amount which has fallen in that month since 1852, when the amount registered for June was 6·15, being 0·64 in excess; but if we compare last year's with the general average, a considerable difference appears, the spring quarter being 0·55, the summer 2·26, and the mean for the first three quarters 1·46 over the average. Now, although the year 1860 is so much over the average in amount of rain-fall, it is a remarkable fact that the number of days with rain do not hold a like proportion, the average number being 186, and the total for this year being 189, showing an excess of only three days.

The rain-fall for January, 1860, when compared with the preceding years from 1848, or for thirteen Januaries, holds a high place for quantity, and gives 2·09 over the average. The analogous falls to it are in the years 1851, '52, '53, and '54, when we have January, '51, 6·05; January, '52, 5·89; January, '53, 5·04, and January, '54, 5·09, with wet and dry days, respectively, 7 dry, 24 wet; 8 dry, 23 wet; 6 dry, 25 wet; 11 dry, 20 wet. Now, for January, 1860, we have rain 5·80, days dry, 11; wet, 20; but viewing this fall with respect to the last five years, or from 1855 to 1860, six Januaries, we find it 2·83 over the average, which is 2·97, so that nearly double the quantity of rain fell in January, 1860, than has fallen in that month for the last five years; and comparing the fall for the January, 1860, with the same month in 1851 and 1852, we find that a greater quantity fell in those months, and that its distribution was somewhat similar, as the greatest fall in twenty-four hours in January, 1860, was 0·86; in 1851 was 0·96, and 1852 was 0·58; but viewing the rain-fall generally, with reference to its effect on the quantity of water discharged by the main arterial conduit draining the catchment basin of the Brosna district, we find that the wettest months and highest floods have occurred as follows:—January, 1851—Rain-fall for January, 6·05; maximum flood, 264,477 cubic feet per minute; mean water for month, 91,680 cubic feet per minute. January, 1852—Rain-fall, 5·89; maximum flood, 128,805 cubic feet per minute; mean water, 63,818 cubic feet per minute. February, 1852—Rain-fall, 4·37; maximum flood, 238,679 cubic feet per minute; mean water, 121,751 cubic feet per minute. November, 1852—Rain-fall, 6·27; maximum flood, 192,595 cubic feet per minute; mean water, 86,190 cubic feet per minute. January, 1853—Rain-fall, 5·04; maximum flood, 162,210 cubic feet per minute; mean water, 121,322 cubic feet per minute. January, 1854—Rain-fall, 5·09; maximum flood, 116,693 cubic feet per minute; mean water, 68,971 cubic feet per minute. January, 1860—Rain-fall, 5·80; maximum flood, 165,997 cubic feet per minute; mean water, 127,147.

From the above it will be perceived that, although floods vastly greater than the maximum for January, 1860, have occurred on several occasions, yet that the mean water for January, 1860, is 40,699 cubic feet per minute greater than the mean for the previous Januaries mentioned, and 34,858 cubic feet per minute greater than the mean of all analogous periods recorded, and 5,396 per minute greater than the highest mean water known, therefore we come to the conclusion, that although the maximum flood is exceeded by many on record, yet that notwithstanding the mean quantity of water discharged during the month exceeds the greatest previous mean discharge by over 4 per cent., and the average mean discharge by nearly 38 per cent. This is explained when we revise the rain-fall for a definite time previous to the month in question, when, if we take six months, we find for the six months ending January 31st, 1860, that the rain is 2·23, nearly 10½ per cent. over the average; and if we take five months for the period immediately previous to the greatest floods, we find that for the five months ending January 31st, 1860, the rain-fall is 3·55, nearly 25 per cent. over the average, and 0·50, nearly 3 per cent. over the greatest fall in any five months previous to the periods of great floods, referred to in the foregoing. Here we perceive that the per centage of the amount discharged exceeds the per centage of increase in rain-fall, and also that the amount and duration of heavy winter water is absolutely due to the amount of saturation that the earth has attained, and that the amount of saturation for January, 1860, is the highest that has been recorded.

The month of June, 1860, is peculiarly remarkable for the amount and distribution of its rain-fall; it exceeds the average by 2·57, and no series of analogous amounts appear, as the only month in which at all a proportionate quantity has been recorded is June, 1852, to which I have referred in the foregoing. More rain fell last June than for the same month on the three years previous taken together; and nearly five times as much as in June, 1859, and close to ten times the amount for June, 1858. It also exceeds the average for January (the wettest month in the year) by 1·63, and comes within 1·42 of the greatest amount of rain ever registered for any one month. The average number of days with rain for June are fifteen; but we find that this month in the present year has no less than twenty-five, or ten over average. The high level of the water surface with respect to the land, and the quantity of water discharged, are peculiarly remarkable, as we find the average height of water on gauges for this month to be 3·68 feet, and the average for June, 1860, 6·75 feet, nearly double. The greatest discharge for June, 1860, is 93,398 cubic feet per minute, 13,861 cubic feet per minute over the greatest discharge for that month which has ever been registered (viz., in June, 1852), and 52,823 cubic feet per minute over the mean of greatest floods for that month, or more than double the greatest mean quantity; the mean discharge for June, 1860, is 69,548 cubic feet per minute, and the average mean for that month is 21,942 cubic feet per minute, not more than one-third. The least discharge for June, 1860, is 38,275 cubic feet per minute, and the average mean least discharge for that month is 15,173 cubic feet per minute, considerably less than one-half that of June last, which, although exceeded in amount of rain falling within the month of June, 1852, notwithstanding exhibits by far the greatest quantity of water discharged. This can be accounted for in the same way as the excess in the mean discharge of January, as we have the rain-fall for five months ending 31st May, 1860, 15·55, and for the same period in 1852, 14·94, the mean average depth of rain-fall for those five months being only 11·77.

In conclusion, if we consider the mean least discharge for the year 1860, as compared with the mean of least quantities, we find that the least mean discharge for 1860 is 31,300 cubic feet per minute, and that the average mean least discharge is 21,535 cubic feet per minute. From all the foregoing, we must infer that although the past year was not the wettest on record, yet that the earth has been in a much higher state of saturation than for any other year for which we have the necessary observations for instituting a comparison.

EXTRACTS from the ANNUAL REPORT of Mr. JOHN W. KELLY, C.E., District Engineer,

Extracts from the Annual Report of Mr. John W. Kelly, C.E., District Engineer.

On the Progress of the Works on the FERGUS DISTRICT, in the Counties of Clare and Galway, and on the State and Result of the Works in the QUIN DISTRICT, County of Clare, and the ANNAGH DISTRICT, County of Galway.

For the year 1860. Dated 28th January, 1861.

FERGUS DISTRICT.

The works of this district having been far advanced towards completion at the opening of the year, were proceeded with with as little intermission as possible during the spring and summer seasons, were finished ere the close of autumn, and the Commissioners' final award made on the 30th of October last.

The works during the year consisted of the maintenance and repairs of about 5½ miles of tidal embankments in the Clare division; of scouring and clearing 23 miles of the main channels, and 11 miles of the minor channels, that were formerly opened in the several other divisions of the district; and of opening and completing 4½ miles of main, and 2½ miles of minor channels in the Kilfenora and Castlelodge divisions. Also of building the accommodation bridges of Ballycoree, 36 feet span, and Castlelodge, 10 feet span, and several small gullets, varying from 2 to 4 feet spans.

Advantage was taken of the very fine weather during the summer to complete works that could be done only in a very low state of the waters—such as scouring the main water courses, deepening channels through beds of lakes, &c. By employing small gangs of men in several parts of the district, under sub-overseers or gangers, in addition to those employed under the regular overseers, this object was attained in a comparatively short period during the fine weather, and no works left unfinished but such as could be done in the ordinary state of the weather.

The aggregate number of days' work of all the persons employed during the year was 15,303, and of horses' work, 101. The total quantity of excavation was 38,417 cubic yards, of which 36,611 cubic yards were of earth and gravel, and 1,806 cubic yards of limestone rock. The length of the main and minor drains newly opened was 7 miles; of main and minor channels scoured, 34 miles; and of tidal embankments that received more or less repairs about 5½ miles. The whole of the works of this extensive district continue to be in good order.

The Quin District.

Having travelled over the whole of this district, including its numerous tributaries, I regret to have to repeat, what I have so often stated in former annual reports, that no attention whatever has been bestowed upon the conservancy of the works. The channels are in numerous places obstructed with stone crossings, and with the growth and accumulation of weeds. That the lands have not yet suffered much from this neglect is mainly due to the original adequacy of the scale of the works, and the manner in which they were executed. In other respects the beneficial results of the works are all that could be expected.

The Annagh District.

The main channel through this district is kept perfectly clear by the scouring power of its mountain floods. Indeed, as stated in my former annual reports, its tendency continues to be to get deeper. Not so, however, the tributary streams, which, being of a sluggish character, are much obstructed with the growth of weeds.

A tract of cutaway bog, which in its undrained state was all but valueless, has been for the greater part levelled and tilled, and is becoming very productive in the growth of green crops, oats, &c. The remainder of the district (the meadow lands, &c.) is also much improved—quite above the influence of the floods that formerly produced such devastation—and grazed all through the winter, like the adjacent uplands.

The great weir (19 feet in height) in this district is an excellent piece of masonry, and is doing its duty well. The greatest flood ever known in the country passed over it (the weir) in August last, without causing it any injury. At the maximum stage of the flood, the discharge amounted to the enormous quantity of 14¾ cubic feet of water per minute, from each acre of its mountain catchment basin—an acreable discharge which is, I believe, unprecedented in the observed river discharges in this country. At the maximum stage of the greatest flood that occurred in the Shannon for many years, the discharge per minute at Killaloe, from each acre of catchment basin, I found to be but 0·699 of a cubic foot. In the Annagh River the flood discharge was relatively 21 times greater! At the time the great flood occurred in the Annagh district, the rain-fall in Ennis amounted in 3 days to 2·47 inches, of which 1½ inches fell in 24 hours; and it is probable that very much more fell on the western mountains, composing the Annagh River catchment basin.

Some small breaches were made during floods, in the dry rubble-stone retaining walls above and below the weir, some years ago; and as a matter of course they have been increasing since. The Trustees have, however, taken no steps yet towards the repairs of them, nor the conservancy of any of the works, since given up to them, over eight years ago.

Report of Mr. Robert Adams, Inspector.

Report of Mr. Robert Adams, Inspector,

On the State of the Tyrone Navigation.

For the year 1860. Dated 1st January, 1861.

I have the honour to report that the works on the Tyrone navigation are in good order. The works of repair, executed up to the 31st December, 1860, have not been heavy. The south side of No. 2 Lock was rebuilt from the water-line up. A portion of the south side of No. 5 Lock was also rebuilt. The low level, joining the River Blackwater, was dredged to the necessary depth. The weeding of the canal was a serious item in the past year's expenditure on repairs. It is only recently that this weed or plant has made its appearance in this district. However, from the rapidity and luxuriance of its growth, it is to be feared that the removal of it will be a permanent annual charge on the navigation.

The other operations during the past year were the ordinary repairs incidental to the maintenance of the navigation, such as the repairs of the towing-path, which is also a turnpike-road, repairs of embankments, cleaning out shoals at the entrance to locks, &c.

Report of Mr. James Bellew, Superintendent.

Report of Mr. James Bellew, Superintendent,

On the State of the Works of the Boyne Navigation.

For the year 1860. Dated 3rd January, 1861.

I beg to forward the following report of the state of the Boyne navigation, and of the several works which have been executed during the year 1860 :—

River Wall, Ball's Grove Trackway.

This wall has stood up well. The old part of it was pinned up a few years ago; and it was only necessary, during the past season, to reset some stones and coping which had fallen out. I have every confidence that it is secured for the present.

Oldbridge Station.

The gates at this station are in good working order. The only repair required was a couple of sluices, which were put in. The guard-lock was partially sheeted, and is in good order.

Stalleen Station.

The only repair which it was necessary to have executed at this station was some new foot-boards and sluices. The gates are in good order. The guard-lock at this station is also in good order.

Broe Station.

A very excellent new towing-path has been made from the landing-stage to the lock-keeper's house at this station. This work was very much required, as heretofore the horses had to track along the bank, which, in bad weather, was a complete marsh. The gates at this station are in excellent order, the breast and one of the leaves of the deep gates having been completely resheeted. The guard-lock gates were also partially sheeted, and are in good order.

A very important work has been executed between this station and Rosnaree. The horses had to tow along the river's bank, which in many places was full of holes, and so low that in time of flood the ground was completely covered; and as there was no bank erected where the boat-men could get their horses landed, when it was necessary for them to pass the river, they were invariably obliged to remain at Rosnaree station until the horse was taken back again, round by Slane to Broe station, and from that along the bank to meet the lighter at Rosnaree. This great source of inconvenience and delay has been removed. A landing-stage or bank has been erected, and the tow-path raised, the holes filled up and properly gravelled, so that when it is at all fit for boats to travel, they can do so without the trouble and inconvenience to which I have referred.

A very large quantity of stones and gravel was required for the execution of the work, all of which I procured free of expense. Mr. Tiernan, of Rosnaree, gave the stones; Mr. Moonan, of Nouth, allowed the gravel to be raised on his land; and Mr. Maguire, of Newgrange, lent his float, in which the stones and gravel were conveyed to the work, as required.

Rosnaree Station.

The only repair which was necessary at this station was the putting on a few foot-boards and sluices, and to repair the window-frames of the lock-keeper's house. The works are in good order.

Mill Lock, Slane.

These gates are new.

Castle Lock Station.

The breast-gates at this station were completely new sheeted. The deep were also partially so. They are in excellent order.

Report of Mr. James J. Boylan, C.E., Resident Engineer.

Report of Mr. J. J. Boylan, C.E., Resident Engineer, on the Works executed during the year 1860

Donaghadee Harbour Improvement, County of Down.

The works that have been in progress for the improvement of this harbour, consist of the deepening a portion of the present basin (in which there has been a depth of but 6 to 9 feet of water at low water of spring tides), to insure a depth of 10 feet at the site for the packet-berth, increasing to 13 feet at the entrance.

The material forming the bottom of the harbour alongside the south or landing-pier, and extending for a breadth parallel with it of 180 feet, consisted of fine sand, and deposit of mud, for a depth of from 4 to 8 feet, which had accumulated over the rock, which in this part appears to have been excavated, during the construction of the harbour, to a depth of from 10 to 16 feet below low water of spring tides. Immediately adjoining was a light stratum of fine sand, overlying the seat of the dam, used for the purpose of keeping out the water during the building of the pier, consisting of stiff clay, intermixed with stones, to a depth of 2 to 3 feet, and immediately under it, stiff gravel and boulders. The seat of the dam referred to, extended over a considerable portion of the centre of the harbour, in some places to a breadth of 150 feet, and in it was a great number of large stones, from $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ ton weight.

Beyond the seat of the dam to the north side of the harbour, the bottom consisted of stiff gravel with large boulders, and occasional beds of retentive clay.

Immediately at the entrance of the harbour the bottom was found to be covered with a quantity of stones, varying in size up to $3\frac{1}{2}$ tons, which must have been washed round from the paving at the back of the piers, or dropped accidentally during their transport, for the formation of the pavement.

The party of helmet-divers, who have been employed from the commencement of these works, in September, 1859, continued their operations throughout the entire of the past year, and succeeded in removing a quantity of stones that had been scattered over the bottom, and particularly at the entrance of the harbour, and they also raised a number of stones that had been loosened by the dredger, but from their size could not be brought up in the dredger buckets.

The steam-dredger, which had been thoroughly overhauled, as stated in my last Annual Report, could not get to work, in consequence of the extremely unsettled state of the weather, until the 21st March last, since which date every advantage has been taken, when tide and weather would permit men working.

The dredger is now, by the lengthening of the ladder, &c., enabled to dredge to a depth of 17 feet, or during calm weather, and with extra care, to a depth of $17\frac{1}{2}$ feet, thus enabling her to work to the full depth required, from half ebb to half flood, or a period of about 6 hours on an average each tide; and when possible, both tides were worked. Even in the shorter days, when the weather was calm, the work was proceeded with by the aid of lamp-light, after or before daylight.

Two flats were constructed to tend the dredger. They are 44 feet in length, 14 feet beam, and $4\frac{1}{2}$ feet deep. They will carry 25 to 35 cubic yards of gravel, with safety.

The dredger commenced working about the centre of the harbour, or place having the lightest water on it, taking off a lift of about $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet in depth. She was then dropped back to the angle next the lighthouse, where she worked to the necessary depth, continuing along the south quay, westward, for the entire length to be deepened, and for a breadth of about 180 feet. She was then dropped back to the entrance, and worked off the top of the old dam, to a depth of about 2 feet.

During the execution of the above work, the dredger was moored parallel with the south pier, or in the line of the harbour; but this was found not to answer when the rough weather set in, and she was then moored across the harbour (so as to be enabled to haul stern on to the south pier at night, &c.), and commence getting down the entrance just inside the pier heads to the full depth, at which portion of the work she is now engaged.

During some of the late autumnal gales a considerable quantity of sand has been washed down from the innermost portion of the harbour, to that which had been dredged during the preceding summer; but this was to be anticipated, in consequence of the great extent of sand lying at a level of 10 to 12 feet above the level of the basin, and the set of the strongest current in the harbour is from the west end of the north pier towards the lighthouse angle, and out the entrance.

There is, however, now an area of 3,600 square yards of the basin deepened to the necessary depth, and there is more than twice that area, in addition, deepened to within less than 2 feet of the proposed depth. In the present state of the harbour any vessel drawing 10 feet water can come in during the lowest state of spring tides in safety, by keeping within 100 feet of the lighthouse pier, and after passing well inside for a length of 100 feet, bear towards the westermost crane, at which there is good water.

The material dredged has been discharged in deep water, at an average distance of 180 fathoms from the mouth of the harbour, and where the sweep of the current is such as to disperse it in an uniform thin stratum, the depth of which is unobservable. At such time as the weather would permit, the dredged material has been deposited during high water, at the back of the south pier, but this could not often be accomplished.

The greater portion of the stones raised by the divers from the basin have been placed to form a temporary pier, protecting a portion of the harbour adjoining the old wharf, where there has been a temporary slip erected, on which, from time to time, to repair the flats required for the harbour works.

Notwithstanding the very rough weather during the early part of the past year, as well as at the close of it, no portion of the pavement, at either piers, was stirred or shaken.

Quantity of work executed during the year 1860:—

Gravel, stones, sand, &c., dredged,	14,650	cubic yards.
Stones raised by divers,	1,190	,,

Report of Mr. James M. Merrick, Inspector,

On the State of the Shannon Navigation, Athlone District.

For the year 1860. Dated 2nd January, 1861.

Navigation Channel from Shannon Harbour to Shannon Bridge.

Five new larch guide-piles have been driven, and one stone beacon repaired, for better defining the navigation course. All the guide-piles, buoys, and beacons between these stations are now in good order.

Shannon Bridge.

The timber fender on wharf was repaired once during the last year, and some further repairs are now in progress.

The sashes of the collector's house have been repaired. Four new window-frames and sashes were provided, and the hall-door painted.

The swivel bridge and wharves are in good order.

Navigation Channel from Shannon Bridge to Athlone.

Eight new guide-piles have been erected, and two refixed; and 37 piles have had bushes fixed on the top, for better marking the navigation course in foggy weather. The course between the stations is now well defined, and the beacons, buoys, and piles are in good order.

Athlone.

The roadway of the swivel bridge, 100 feet by 15 feet, has been newly sheeted with American oak, $2\frac{3}{4}$ inches thick, laid diagonally in boiled Stockholm tar. 194 superficial feet of the under sheeting has been repaired with oak plank, $3\frac{1}{4}$ inches thick.

The limestone ashlar pavements at each end of the bridge having been much worn, have been removed to a depth of 18 inches. This has been filled with a concrete of broken stones and lime grout at bottom, and a concrete of Galway granite metalling, and Portland cement on top. These approaches now give much satisfaction.

The chamber of the lock has been cleared of 240 cubic yards of deposit by spoon-dredging; and new chains have been provided and connected with the opening and closing gear of the lower gates by the diver.

The position of this gearing is now being altered over the chain-tunnels, so as to bring the barrels square with the chains, thus causing less strain on them, and lessening the labour in opening and closing the gates.

The Connaught quay, from the bridge to the lock, is now being covered with 60 tons of broken stones, and 30 tons of gravel. Some slight repairs have been executed on the crane on this wharf.

A floor is being formed of gravel in the arched store, also on this quay, under the west abutment of the swivel bridge, 12 inches over the level of the quay.

The ten-ton boat, used for driving guide-piles, has been repaired, and two new oars provided for her.

The other works at this station are in very good order, with the exception of the lower lock-gates, which require a new gangway, and with the upper gates, require painting and tarring, as also some repairs, which can be executed with more advantage next summer.

Navigation Course, Athlone to Lanesboro'.

Two iron buoys have been placed on this course in Lough Ree, to replace decayed timber ones. The timber buoys which mark this channel are in a defective state. Many of them being decayed, and some having been lost, it will be necessary to replace ten of these with new iron buoys next summer.

Lanesboro'.

The crane on the wharf has been repaired, and the bed-plate secured to the masonry.

The roof of the collector's office is in a very defective state, and is about being replaced by a new roof.

All the other works at this station are in general good repair.

Navigation Course, Lanesboro' to Carrick-on-Shannon.

Twenty-eight stone beacons have been whitewashed, and one repaired. Four iron buoys have been repaired and remoored. Five new guide-piles and two floating-piles have been fixed to replace decayed ones, and one iron guide-pile has been re-erected.

Tarmonbarry.

A new sewer, 34 yards long, 12 inches square, has been constructed to prevent an overflow from the approach to the bridge into the houses adjacent, and 56 yards of the sewer into which it discharges, has been opened and cleared of deposit.

The embankment at north side of the bridge has been staunched in several places, and the low parts, for 325 yards in length, raised on an average 9 inches. The defective portions of the rough pitching on the river side have been made good; 1,483 yards of the back-drain of this and the lower embankment has been cleared of weeds and deposit.

The gable and roof of the Board's house at the bridge are in a defective state, and will require some repairs when the weather permits.

The lock-gates are in good order, but will require to be tarred and painted next summer.

The swivel bridge has been newly sheeted. The under sheeting of Memel timber, 3 inches thick, and the top sheeting of American oak, 2½ inches thick, laid in Stockholm tar. The gearing of the western side has undergone repair. The limestone ashlar pavement at the ends of the bridge, which have been worn, are being removed, and replaced by concrete, in the same manner as the Athlone bridge.

Cloondrah.

The roof of the lock-house has been repaired, and the walls outside and inside whitewashed.

One of the heelposts of the upper lock-gates has been repaired. One new water-gauge has been erected at the lock, and one painted and figured.

The spoon-dredging barge is being repaired at this station.

Rooskey.

Portions of the oak framing and swing beams of the lock-gates are much decayed from dry rot. Wherever this has become perceptible (and could be got at), the portions have been removed, and made good with sound oak laid in boiled tar.

The window-frames and sashes in the lock-house have been repaired and painted.

Ten tons of broken stones have been spread on the wharf, and 24 tons are now being spread.

Four oak stop-posts have been fixed on the bank near the swivel bridge.

The water-gauges at old canal lock have been painted and figured.

The weir-walls, wharf, and embankment are in good order.

Kilbride.

The framing of the lock-gates show some symptoms of decay from dry rot. They will require to be painted and tarred in the summer. New foot-boards have been put on these gates.

The lock-house walls and barges, &c., are being pointed with cement; and the window-frames and sashes are being repaired.

104 yards, by 2 feet high, of rough pitching, has been built to protect the canal bank at the Black Lough, and 36 tons of broken stones have been spread on towing-path in this part.

Jamestown.

The roofs of the mill buildings and caretaker's house have been thoroughly repaired, and 20 yards in length of surface channel has been constructed from the caretaker's house to river. The weir-wall is in a good state of preservation.

Carrick-on-Shannon.

29 tons of broken stones, and 6 tons of gravel, have been spread on the south wharf, and 40 tons of metalling are being spread on same wharf.

The wharves are in good order.

Battle Bridge and Lough Allen Canal.

The locks at Battle bridge and Drumleague are in a fair state of repair, but will require to be tarred and painted next summer, and some repairs effected.

The lock-house at Drumleague will require some repairs, in the ensuing season, to windows and doors, which are much decayed.

20 perches of the canal bank, between Battle Bridge and Drumleague, has been raised 6 inches by 6 feet wide, and the out-house at Battle Bridge Lock-house has been repaired and thatched.

Carrick-on-Shannon to Drum Wharf.

Five floating-piles were moored to mark the navigation course, and two guide-piles were also fixed. The navigation channel at Oakport and Knockvicar having been filled with deposit, had to be spoon-dredged. About 250 cubic yards of mud and sand were removed.

Knockvicar and Drum Wharf.

The lock-keeper's house at this station has been thoroughly repaired, and a new slated roof put on containing 16 squares.

The wharf, weir-wall, embankments, and lock are in a good state of repair. The lock-gates will require tarring and painting, in dry weather.

Drum wharf continues to be in a perfect state of repair.

Lecarrow, Dromod, and Drumsna Harbours.

These harbours continue in a fair state of repair.

Report of Mr. William Molloy, Inspector.

Report of Mr. William Molloy, Inspector,

For the year 1860. Dated 18th January, 1861.

In compliance with the instructions contained in your letter of the 18th ult., I have the honour to report to you, for the information of the Commissioners, that the works in this district are in a very safe and substantial state of repair. The past has been an almost unprecedented wet season, and several small slips or breaches, from time to time, have taken place on different parts of the river and canal banks which had been immediately attended to, and repaired. The works along the navigation have been maintained in a safe and satisfactory manner during the past year, without any interruption or obstruction to the general traffic. The many rivulets and tributaries discharging themselves into the River Shannon and its canals have brought down a large quantity of gravel and other deposit from the mountain districts, which had to be removed—some by excavation ; and a large quantity had to be dredged with bag and spoon, mounted on barges, and worked by hand, which I found to be most efficacious and satisfactory.

The principal works which have been executed in this district during the past season are as follows, viz. :—

Kilrush.

Two hoisting-cranes repaired, adjusted, and painted, with new proof chains provided for same. The shed has been newly covered with felt, and tarred ; two wooden offices have been painted, the pier thoroughly repaired, a flight of stone steps reset, and the face of the pier pointed with best Portland cement.

Saleen.

The collector's house has been thoroughly repaired ; the walls pointed in cement; sewers cleaned and repaired ; and the wharf and roadway made good.

Foynes.

This harbour was partially choked up by mud and silt, the accumulation of many years, which prevented vessels from entering or departing, except at high water. Having employed the C dredger to remove those obstructions, I commenced the work on the 1st of May last, and have steadily continued same since then. The boat and barges having been kept in excellent repair, little or no delay has been given to the progress of the work at any time ; and at the end of the year, being a period of eight months, she has removed 23,200 cubic yards of stuff from within the harbour, thereby affording a facility to vessels to enter to, or depart therefrom, at any state of the tide.

Clare.

The pier, wharf, and boundary wall have been thoroughly repaired at this station.

Limerick Navigation.

The canal banks and trackways between Limerick and Killaloe, a distance of 16 English miles, have been well and safely maintained during the past year. The boundary-drains have been cleaned up, and all obstructions removed which prevented a free egress to the drainage of the adjoining lands. All the lock-gates, lock-houses, and stores have been repaired, and are all in good order. I have got one pair of new lock-gates made and erected at Newtown, nine new balance-beams, and six new foot-boards put on on other gates, four new paddles with loggerheads, brackets, and the necessary amount of other repairs on the iron and wood-work, consisting of hand-rails, racks, pinions, rollers, &c. I have got twelve new wheel-barrows, and two new hand-barrows, made for the use of the works ; eight barges of various dimensions thoroughly repaired and put in working order. I may add, that the chief and principal parts of those barges were quite useless, as the decks and hoppers were all rotten, and the sides and ends defective. I have put new decks and hoppers in three of the large barges, which are 52 feet long each, and 15 feet beam, with several new timbers and planks in ends and sides, with winches on same for warping out when laden with stuff from the dredger. One barge, 26 feet long, by 10 feet 6 inches beam, thoroughly repaired ; two flat ones, 22 feet by 10 feet, ditto ; one flat one, 21 feet by 6 feet 6 inches, ditto ; and one new anchor boat, 18 feet keel, built as tender to dredger and barges.

Bunown, Ardclooney River.

The several floods which came down this river during the past year, brought large quantities of gravel from the mountain district, a large portion of which was deposited in the new ground lately purchased for that purpose, more of it brought into the navigation course, and a large quantity left in the bed of the river.

I have dredged with bag and spoon (hand-dredger), 1,610 tons of this gravel from the navigation courses ; I have removed 2,500 cubic yards with wheel-barrows from the bed of the old river course, so as to guard against its being brought down to the Shannon by any succeeding floods.

Portumna.

I have repaired the superstructure of the swivel bridge, the wooden jetty, and reset the crane on the wharf. The works are, therefore, in good repair.

Meelick.

I have prepared and tried up sheeting for the two pair of gates at Victoria lock. I have all materials for same in store at this station. I have had the lock-house and both swivel bridges on the Cloonaheenogue canal thoroughly repaired this season.

Banagher.

I have got the collector's house and out-offices all thoroughly repaired.

Shannon Harbour.

The approaches to, and the landing-place for the ferry-boat at both sides of the river were defective. They have been made good.

General Navigation.

The necessary guide-piles have been driven, and seven floating-buoys have been placed on rocks and shoals on Lough Derg, so as to define the sailing course.

River Maigue Navigation.

The works on this navigation are in good repair. There has been little or no expenditure incurred here for the last four years.

In conclusion, I beg to inform you that the works in general on the Lower and Middle Shannon, as also on the Maigue navigation, are in such a good state of repair that I consider it unnecessary to make any further remarks.

METROPOLIS TURNPIKE ROADS.

TO THE HONOURABLE THE KNIGHTS, CITIZENS, AND BURGESSES IN PARLIAMENT ASSEMBLED.

THE THIRTY-FIFTH REPORT of the COMMISSIONERS of the METROPOLIS TURNPIKE ROADS North of the Thames, appointed under the Act 7 Geo. IV. c. 142, prepared in obedience to the 138th Section of that Act.

IN conformity with the Act of Parliament constituting the Commission, the COMMISSIONERS of the METROPOLIS TURNPIKE ROADS North of the Thames have to submit their Thirty-fifth Annual Report.

The Tolls on the several Districts of the Metropolis Roads were submitted to public competition at the usual period of last year, when the whole of them were disposed of at satisfactory prices. Those on the Marylebone and Finchley Roads were let at the same time for 1,990 l., being an increase of 190 l. over the sum obtained for them the previous year.

The opening of a new thoroughfare in the neighbourhood of Cambridge Heath having caused a considerable evasion of Toll at that Gate, the Commissioners have, since their last Report, been obliged to erect an additional side-bar at Ash Grove.

The continued increase of heavy traffic on almost all the Districts of the Metropolis Roads, combined with the extreme wetness of the season, has rendered the maintenance of the Roads during the past year more than ordinarily expensive. It will be seen by the accompanying Report of the General Surveyor how large an extra quantity of materials has been required, the enchanced cost of which, together with the increase of labour necessary to apply those materials to the Roads, have caused this year's expenditure to be considerably beyond that of the previous year. Unless this increased expenditure had been incurred, the Roads would not have been in the satisfactory condition in which they now are.

With a view of ascertaining whether additional accommodation could be given to the public by the use of Tramways on the ordinary Roads, the Commissioners have given a qualified and conditional permission to Mr. Train to try the experiment on a mile of road westward of Tyburn. The experiment of running cars along this Tramway is now in progress, but is not sufficiently matured to enable the Commissioners yet to decide whether the disadvantages attending it are counterbalanced by its conveniences.

The sum of 169 l. 3*s.*, being the surplus receipts of Harvist's Estate for the year 1859, has been paid to the Accountant General, in accordance with the provisions of the Act of Parliament, and a further sum of 125 l. 1 s. 2*d.* is now available for the same purpose, being the excess of receipts in 1860.

In conformity with the 14th Section of the "Marylebone and Finchley Roads Extension Act, 1850," the Commissioners on the 1st May last paid off 1,600 l. of the Bonds secured on the Tolls of those Roads with the sum of 980 l. 14 s. The whole bonded debt now stands at 23,241 l. 14 s. 4 d.

The receipts from Tolls on the Metropolis Roads during the past year have been 64,177 l. 10 s. 10 d., and the receipts from all sources 69,544 l. 15 s. 9 d.: the expenditure during the same period has been 70,186 l. 3 s. 5 d., as will be seen by the annexed general account in the Appendix (No. 1).

All the accounts to the end of February have been paid, and the estimated amount of the liabilities of the Commissioners at the close of the financial year was 9,000 l.: this amount, which includes the expenditure on the Roads during the month of March, the Exchequer Bills held are more than sufficient to pay.

The Commissioners beg to refer to the Report of their General Surveyor in the Appendix (No. 3) for details as to the present state of the Roads, and for an account of such alterations and improvements as have been carried out during the last twelve months.

Metropolis Roads Office, 19 April 1861.

Vincent C. Wright, Accountant.

Appendix, No. 3.

Metropolis Roads Office, 22, Whitehall Place, 25 March 1861.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I BEG to present the Annual Report on the state of these Roads, and the Works and Alterations thereon, for the past year.

1st and 2d DISTRICTS. Kensington and Brentford Roads.

The continuation of new Buildings on the South Kensington Estate, and side Roads of the Kensington District, causes much additional wear to these Roads, more especially through Old Brompton and Gloucester Road; and it has been necessary to use granite for repairing the narrow parts of these Roads, and that material will be required for the whole of Old Brompton in future.

The North End and Fulham Fields Roads having been broken up for gas and water pipes, have required additional materials.

The stones of the paved Water Channels by the sides of the Kensington and Fulham Roads being much worn, considerable lengths have been relaid, using the best of the old stones, and making up the deficiency with new.

The Cab Standing by the side of the Road at Prince's Gate has also been paved.

The pipe drain in the Road at Earl's Court, about 900 feet, repudiated by the Board of Works, being very defective, has been taken up, and 500 feet of 12-inch brick drain and 400 feet of 9-inch pipe substituted in lieu thereof.

During the past summer, an additional Stand Post was erected near Kensington Gate, to facilitate the watering of this great thoroughfare.

The supply of water from the Well at Hammersmith Turnpike Gate having failed, the house is now supplied by the Water Company.

A portion of the Isleworth Road, by the side of Sion Park, not having been hitherto watered, arrangements were made in the spring of last year, by which his Grace the Duke of Northumberland caused a well to be dug near the bridge, and a good supply of water being obtained therefrom, it so facilitates the watering of the other Roads of this district, that this part is now also watered without any increase of horses.

The Sewers and Drains in the Turnpike Road through the town of Twickenham being very defective and insufficient, the Surveyors of Highways petitioned the Board for assistance towards the construction of a new Sewer in the Turnpike Road from Wharf Lane to the foot of the South Western Railway Bridge, 519 yards, and the Board were pleased to grant the sum of 100 l. towards this work, and for connecting the Road drains therewith. The whole of these works have been done to the satisfaction of the Officers of this department, and the Parish authorities have agreed to maintain and repair the said Sewers and Drains in future.

The Vestries of Heston and Isleworth Parishes being desirous of improving the Footways through the town of Hounslow, by altering the lines and levels, solicited a contribution towards the cost: the Board were pleased to grant a granite-curb edging for both sides of the Road, about 2,600 feet, the parishes to set such curb, and repave the water channels where disturbed by the works. This has been completed, and the Road and Footpaths are much improved.

The

The Chiswick Improvement Society, being desirous of inclosing Turnham Green Common, and planting trees, solicited the Board to discontinue the use of their stone depôt. Arrangements have been made, by which a piece of the common, by the side of the back Road leading to the Barracks, has been fenced round for a depôt, in lieu of the original one.

3d, 4th, and 5th Districts. Uxbridge and Shepherd's Bush Roads.

The works of constructing a main Sewer in this Road, mentioned in the last Report, have been completed to the boundary of Hammersmith Parish, and the Road reinstated.

The Grand Junction Waterworks Company have, during the past year, laid down main pipes along the Footpaths, by the side of the Uxbridge-road, at Acton and Hanwell, and in Boston-lane.

The Well at Southall having failed to supply sufficient water for the Road last summer, was deepened, and an increased supply has been obtained.

The United Kingdom Electric Telegraph Company petitioned the Board for leave to erect posts by the side of this Road: permission was granted to place such posts at the outer edges of the Footpaths, along the open parts of the Road, but not in the Villages.

Mr. G. F. Train having petitioned to be allowed to lay down Tramways on several of these Roads, permission was granted him to lay down one mile on this Road, from Tyburn to Bayswater, under certain stipulations, as an experiment.

The drain in the Shepherd's Bush Road, repudiated by the Hammersmith Board of Works, has been generally cleansed and repaired. Much building is still in progress at the sides on this line, and the Road is greatly worn thereby.

The works of altering the Drainage and extending the Footpath by the side of the Road, north of Harrow Town, mentioned in the last Report, have been completed, and increased accommodation has been afforded to the inhabitants.

Water was taken from the Waterworks Company for this Road by meter during the last summer, by which a saving in cost was effected, and this arrangement appears to be more satisfactory to all parties.

The wear on the upper end of this Road is much increased by traffic to and from the Great Western Railway Goods Station.

The Board of Works of Paddington Parish having declined to cleanse and repair the drain under the Footpath at Orme's Green, 400 feet of 6-inch pipe has been laid down under the water channel of the road, to carry off the surface drainage in future.

7th and 8th Districts. Kilburn Road.

Much increased wear takes place on the upper three miles of this Road, in consequence of the large Coal Depôt at Kilburn.

The wooden fencing by the sides of this Road at Red Hill, and several other places, in all about 380 yards, being much worn and decayed, has been removed, and iron substituted in lieu thereof.

9th and 10th Districts. Hampstead, and Highgate, and City Roads.

The Metropolitan Board of Works have been and are still constructing a large main Sewer along the Road from the Great Northern Railway crossing to Upper Holloway: this work interferes much with the traffic, and causes great additional wear of the Road.

In consequence of the increased omnibus and general trraffic upon these Roads, which are now almost wholly in the town, they have required during the past year an increase of 10 per cent. in the quantity of material for the repair.

The Board of Works of St. Pancras requested permission to erect Urinals on these Roads at St. Pancras Workhouse, at Kentish Town, and at Camden Town: leave has been given for the first two; but the third, at Camden Town, being near to a large omnibus station, would be highly objectionable, and has therefore not been complied with.

11th, 12th, and 13th Districts. Stamford Hill and Green Lanes Roads.

Mr. Alderman Sidney, being about to renew his Park Fence by the side of the Green Lanes Road, at Bowes Manor, offered to straighten it, by a give-and-take line, setting it back about four feet at the bend in the Road, and bringing it out about the same distance at the South Western corner, if the Commissioners would make good the Road and Footpath: this has been done, and a desirable improvement accomplished.

The Vestry of Enfield Parish being desirous of improving the Footways by the side of the Turnpike Road at the entrance to the town, solicited a contribution towards the cost, and the Board were pleased to order 1,100 feet of granite curb edging to be set by the sides of the Carriage Road in the town; and the Road, as well as the Paths, is much improved thereby.

The extension of underdraining the Road between Houndsfield and Ponders End, mentioned in the last Report, was completed in the autumn, and the effect has been most satisfactory, for no part of the Road thus drained was disturbed or broken up by the severity of the past winter, although heretofore always much affected by and rendered almost impassable after every frost. And I consider it desirable that this operation of underdraining should be continued for about 700 feet near the ninth mile-stone, and 1,600 feet at Freezy Water.

The great omnibus traffic on this Road, mentioned in the last Report, from Shoreditch Church to Kingsland Turnpike, has been increased during the past year, and will no doubt continue.

14th District. Seven Sisters, Road.

The embankment on this line of Road, although made near 30 years, has subsided much since the late frosts. And two considerable slips have occurred in the slope on the east side, which must be turned over, and reinstated in the ensuing summer. Much of the iron fencing at the sides of the Road will also, in consequence of this subsidence, require to be reset.

Building is still progressing by the sides of this road at the upper end.

15th and 16th Districts. Hackney and Lea Bridge Roads.

The opening of Ash Grove by the parish authorities of Hackney allowed the traffic to evade the Cambridge Heath Turnpike-gate, and a Side-bar was therefore erected in May last across the east end of that turning.

The great increase of omnibus traffic on Hackney Road between Shoreditch and Cambridge Heath, together with the general traffic, being much impeded by the stalls and barrows of vendors of fish, vegetables, fruit, &c., on about 200 yards in length of the narrow part of this Road, it became necessary to prevent such interruption. This has been accomplished by the assistance of the police, who now constantly attend to it, and the public have the free use of the Road.

The great and heavy manure traffic over the Lea Bridge Road has required an increased quantity of flints and gravel for its repair.

The late severe storm, caused the Eagle Pond to overflow its bank at the north-east corner; and the water therefrom washed away the side of the Road, nearly three feet deep: this has been reinstated, and two pipe drains have been laid in the side of the bank, with a view to obviate a recurrence of such injury.

The side of the ditch by this Road, near the fifth mile-stone, having fallen in, it became dangerous, and 100 feet of 12-inch pipes were laid down, and the ditch filled up, and rendered safe.

Generally.

The great continuance of wet during the past year, and the late severe frost, caused much additional wear of the Roads, and increased expenditure in labour and materials, more especially for cleaning and carrying away the slop and dirt from the town portions.

Several parts of these Roads being during the frost very slippery and dangerous, it was deemed expedient to sprinkle the surface with fine sand or ashes: this was done almost daily for about three weeks, to the extent of nearly 40 miles of Road, in various places (at a cost of near 300 l.), which afforded great facility to the traffic, and gave much satisfaction.

The Road sand on the country portions of the Roads has been again sold by public tender for the ensuing year, and has realised the sum of 184 l. 3 s.

The Bills, Plans, and Sections for various schemes in this Session of Parliament (upwards of 20), likely to affect these Roads, have been carefully examined and reported upon, and the Solicitors instructed to prepare clauses for the protection of the Roads, to be inserted in the Bills.

65,022 cubic yards of materials have been laid upon these Roads during the past year, and I am pleased at being able to say that, notwithstanding the unparalleled wet season, less, in the whole, than a mile in length out of the 122 miles, was sufficiently affected to burst, or blow up, after the late frost.

I annex a return of Materials, Implements, &c., &c., on hand.

And have the honour to be,
My Lords and Gentlemen,
Your most obedient and faithful servant,

(signed) H. Browse, General Surveyor.

the Commissioners of the TURNPIKE TRUSTS.

ENGLAND AND WALES.

Presented to both Houses of Parliament by Her Majesty's Command.

GENERAL REPORT, made by Direction of the Secretary of State, under Act 3 & 4 Wm. IV. Cap. 80.

Upon presenting to Parliament the General Abstract of Returns from Turnpike Trusts for the year 1858, transmitted to the Secretary of State, by virtue of the Act of the 3rd and 4th of Wm. IV. cap. 80., it is satisfactory to observe a continual improvement in the financial condition of the Turnpike Trusts generally, notwithstanding the gradual diminution of the revenue derived from tolls. The following statement shows the comparative condition of the Trusts in England and North Wales in the years 1837 (when the highest amount of revenue from tolls was received), 1843, 1849, 1855, 1856, 1857, and 1858 respectively:—

The foregoing statement shows a reduction of 10,300*l.* in the toll income of 1858 when compared with 1857, and a reduction of 3,726*l.* when compared with 1856. For several years past, except in 1857, the toll income has been gradually decreasing, the diminution in 1858 exceeding, on an average, 28*l.* a day. The statement on page 5 will show in which counties the revenue from tolls in 1858 advanced or diminished.

The aid obtained from the parishes in 1858 was 29,111*l.*, or 1,605*l.* less than in 1857. This amount of parish aid does not, however, show the total sum expended by the parishes upon Turnpike roads, as in some cases the roads are entirely or partially repaired by the parishes or townships, without specifying the amount under the heading in the returns of "Estimated value of statute duty performed."

The amount of "money borrowed" in 1858 was 7,735*l.* This sum includes the following amounts for new roads or improvements under the special authority of Local Acts:—Chester, Farndon, and Worthenbury New Road, 1,000*l.*; Bideford Road, 800*l.*; Prestwich, Bury, and Radcliffe Road, 1,300*l.*; Ludlow Road, 800*l.*; Balby and Worksop Road, 400*l.*; and Stockton and Middlesbrough New Road, 2,200*l.* Permission was also granted, under the Act of the 17th and 18th of Victoria, cap. 58., by one of Her Majesty's Secretaries of State, to enable the Trustees of three roads to borrow the sum of 1,234*l.* 19*s.* 5*d.*

The "other receipts" in 1858 amounted to 25,908*l.*,—being 867*l.* more than the amount under this head in 1857.

The "total income," in 1858, amounted to 1,083,410*l.*, being 8,453*l.* less than in the previous year.

The sum of 597,619*l.* was expended in repairing the roads (including tradesmen's bills for repairing toll-houses, gates, &c.), showing a reduction of 13,978*l.* when compared with the amount expended under this head in 1857. The variations in the several counties are shown in the statement inserted on page 5. The money expended in repairing the road does not wholly arise from the toll income, but is partly obtained from the parishes. After deducting the parish aid from the cost of repairing the roads, the appropriation of the toll income may be shown as under:—

Year.	Toll Income.	Appropriation of Toll Income:—
		For Repairs of Road.	For Salaries and Law Charges.	For Payment of Debt and Interest.	Other Payments, or in hand.
	£	£	£	£	£
1837	1,509,985	913,988	125,817	412,987	57,193
1843	1,314,179	716,018	115,689	393,902	88,570
1849	1,097,482	581,486	113,755	374,757	27,484
1855	1,039,475	578,765	108,824	315,300	36,586
1856	1,024,382	583,440	108,120	295,202	37,620
1857	1,030,956	580,881	105,645	286,604	57,826
1858	1,020,656	568,508	99,391	295,640	57,117

The preceding statement shows that the toll income has fallen off from 1,509,985*l.* in 1837 to 1,020,656*l.* in 1858, being a decrease of 489,329*l.* Within the same period of twenty-one years the annual sum expended in repairing the roads, after deducting the parish aid, has been reduced 345,480*l.*, or from 913,988*l.* in 1837, to 568,508*l.* in 1858; the sum expended in salaries and law charges has been reduced 26,426*l.*, and the amount applied to the payment of debt and interest has been reduced 117,347*l.* This statement also shows in what proportions the toll income in each of the years specified has been appropriated to the repair of the roads, the payment of salaries and law charges, and the liquidation of debt and interest. The per-centage on the tolls applied to these items of expenditure may be thus stated:—

Date.	Toll Income.	Appropriation of Toll Income:—
		For Repairs of Road.	For Salaries and Law Charges.	For Payment of Debt and Interest.	Other Payments, or in hand.
	£	per cent. on Tolls.	per cent. on Tolls.	per cent. on Tolls.	per cent. on Tolls.
1837	1,509,985	60·53	8·33	27·35	3·79
1843	1,314,179	54·49	8·80	29·97	6·74
1849	1,097,482	52·98	10·37	34·15	2·50
1855	1,039,475	55·68	10·47	30·33	3·52
1856	1,024,382	56·96	10·55	28·82	3·67
1857	1,030,956	56·34	10·25	27·80	5·61
1858	1,020,656	55·70	9·74	28·96	5·60

The sum of 36,709*l.* was expended in "improvements" in the year 1858, being 3,785*l.* less than in the preceding year.

The "salaries" in 1858 were reduced 200*l.* when compared with the year 1857. The "law charges" amounted to 19,019*l.*, being 6,054*l.* less than in the preceding year. These charges vary in amount in proportion to the number of applications to Parliament for the renewal of Local Acts, but in this item are also included the charges for parliamentary opposition to railway and other bills affecting the Trusts, as well as the expenses of proceedings before Justices to obtain orders for portions of the Highway Rates.

The sum of 171,345*l.* was paid for "interest of debt" in the year 1858, being a further reduction of 4,505*l.* since 1857, and a reduction of 120,381*l.* since the year 1837. This item diminishes annually in proportion as the principal becomes reduced, and as the rates of interest upon several of the Trusts become lowered. Assuming that the average rate of interest payable upon the whole amount of debt in 1858 was about 3*l.* 16*s.* 3*d.* per cent., while the sum of 171,345*l.* was actually paid in that year,—say on the average debt for the year 5,048,719*l.*,—it follows that the payment was equal to an interest of nearly 3*l.* 8*s.* per cent. The deficiency in the amount of interest was confined principally to certain Trusts upon which either no interest, or less than the full amount, was paid in the year 1858.

A larger sum than usual, 124,295*l.*, was applied towards paying off the bonded or mortgage debt, being 13,541*l.* more than was applied in 1857. The following is a statement of the "debts paid off" in each of the last six years :—

Date.	Amount applied to the payment of Debts.	Equal to Per-centage on the Toll Income.	Equal to Per-centage on the Debt of the previous Year.
1853	142,076	13 5 10 per cent.	2 8 11 per cent.
1854	136,462	12 17 3 „	2 8 2 „
1855	116,981	11 5 1 „	2 2 6 „
1856	113,905	11 2 5 „	2 2 5 „
1857	110,754	10 14 10 „	2 2 3 „
1858	124,295	12 3 7 „	2 8 7 „

The "other payments" in 1858 were 41,479*l.*, being 2,048*l.* less than in the previous year. The notes appended to the annual returns show that these incidental expenses include, upon some Trusts, the expenses for lighting and watering the roads; the amounts lost by the insolvency of officers; and payments from one Trust to another.

The "total expenditure" in 1858 was 1,070,838*l.*, or 17,029*l.* less than in 1857, and 12,572*l.* less than the "total income" in 1858.

The "bonded or mortgage debt" at the end of the year 1858 amounted to 4,980,130*l.*, being a reduction of 137,178*l.* compared with the debt on the 31st of December 1857, as under,—

The bonded debt on the 31st of December 1857, was - - -	5,117,308
And on the 31st of December 1858 - - - - -	4,980,130

While the sum borrowed in 1858, was - - - - -	7,735
Showing a reduction of debt equal to - - - - -	£ 116,560

The difference between these sums of 137,178*l.* and 116,560*l.* is 20,618*l.*, which sum appears to have been struck off the debt beyond the amount paid. More than this sum, however, above 21,100*l.*, shows the saving effected by means of compositions offered for bonded debts, in lieu of full payment, under the provisions of General or Local Turnpike Acts, authorizing such mode of paying off turnpike debts. The other variations in the amount of the bonded debt in 1858 compared with 1857 arise from the omission of unclaimed debts, or the addition of debts not previously included, interest added, or the amount of debt having been more correctly ascertained.

The savings effected by the adoption of the provisions of the 12 & 13 Vict. cap. 87., section 3, as extended by subsequent Acts, or as embodied in recent Local Turnpike Acts, may be thus stated:—

Amount of cash applied to the payment of the bonded debts - - - - - -	136,462	116,981	113,905	110,754	124,295
Savings effected by the creditors accepting compositions, say, at least - - -	8,000	10,600	15,000	15,600	21,100
Amount of debt paid off and cancelled - -	144,462	127,581	128,905	126,354	145,395

The above statement shows, that by the working of this plan the Trust funds are economized, while the creditors generally much prefer accepting a composition in lieu of having their debts paid off rateably in small portions.

The "unpaid interest" shows a further increase of 16,309*l.* in 1858, compared with 1857, which arises from the full interest not having been paid upon some of the Trusts, and no interest whatever having been paid in a few cases.

The full result of the arrangements which have been effected for relieving the Turnpike Trusts in England and North Wales from their bonded or mortgage debt is as follows:—

In 1837 the total bonded or mortgage debt was stated at - -	7,011,989
In 1858 the total debt had been reduced to - - - -	4,980,130
Showing a reduction in the 21 years of - - -	£2,031,859

Without making any allowance for the debts which were not included in the Trust accounts for 1837.

In former general reports, attention was called to the variations in the amounts of the Toll revenue, and of the cost of repairing the roads in the several counties, compared with the amounts of the preceding year. The statement inserted on page 5, shows these particulars for 1858 compared with 1857, and the amount of increase or decrease in each county. From such statement it appears that in 1858 the Toll income in 22 counties increased 10,881*l.*, while in 23 counties the toll income decreased 21,181*l.*, making the net decrease in that year 10,300*l.* In 15 counties an increased sum of 4,979*l.* was expended in repairing the roads, while in 31 counties the cost of repairs was reduced 18,820*l.*, making the net decrease in 1858, 13,841*l.*, exclusive of the value of Statute duty performed. It thus appears that the cost of repairing the roads in 1858 was 3,541*l.* less than the reduction in the toll income for that year. As observed in former reports, these statements show considerable variety, both as to the amount of the toll receipts, and the expenditure for repairs of road in the several counties.

The statement inserted on page 6 shows in each county the amount of the Toll receipts, the cost of repairing the roads (exclusive of statute duty performed), and the amount of the bonded debt in each of the years 1837 and 1858. This statement shows the total reductions effected in twenty-one years. The toll income has been reduced, more or less, in each county except Cornwall, Carnarvon, Merioneth, and Montgomery. The reduction in Hertfordshire exceeds two-thirds, and in Bedford, Bucks, Essex, and Rutland is more than one-half. The total reduction is above half a million, or 510,431*l.* The cost of repairing the roads has been increased in two counties only, Merioneth and Montgomery; while in Hertfordshire the cost has been reduced above two-thirds, and in several counties upwards of one-half. The total reduction is 341,425*l*. The bonded or mortgage debts have increased in Dorset, Carnarvon, and Montgomery; but in all the other counties the debts have been reduced, in some cases to a considerable extent, as in Essex (from 29,600*l*. to 2,350*l*.), Herts, Middlesex, Rutland, Surrey, Worcester, and Anglesey. The total reduction of debt has been 2,255,538*l*.; namely from 7,235,668*l*. to 4,980,130*l*. It may be observed that in this statement the amounts inserted for 1837 have been corrected so as to include certain Trusts which omitted to send their Returns for that year. The general result of the arrangements made from 1837 to 1858 is as under:—

Date.	Toll Receipts.	Repairs of Road (exclusive of Statute labour).	Bonded Debt.
In 1837 (corrected sums)	1,531,087	935,691	7,235,668
In 1858 - - - -	1,020,656	594,266	4,980,130

The following statement shows the number of Trusts which had bonded debts at the end of each of the last five years, and the amount of the Toll Income upon which the debts were secured; also, the number of Trusts without bonded debt, and the Toll Income which was received thereon.

1858	961	822,386	4,980,130	144	198,270

The statement on page 8 shows the particulars, in each county, of the Trusts in debt, and without debt, for the year 1858; from which it appears that out of the Toll Income arising from the 961 Trusts in debt, about 52·61 per cent., was applied towards the repair of the road, and about 35·47 per cent. was applied towards the payment of the debt and interest. The remaining debt of 4,980,130*l*. was secured upon a Toll Income of 822,386*l*., such income being equal to about 16½ per cent. of the bonded debt. It will be observed that the number of Trusts in debt had decreased 9, and the Toll Income had diminished 30,797*l*. in 1858,—some large Trusts having become free from debt during that year, On the other hand, the same statement shows that on the 144 Trusts out of debt the Toll Income was 198,270*l*., being an increase of 20,497*l*. in the year 1858, and that upon these Trusts 161,620*l*. or about 81·52 per cent. of the Toll Income was applied to the repair of the roads.

Since the passing of the Act of the 7th and 8th of Victoria, Cap. 91., for the consolidation and management of the turnpike roads in South Wales, the annual returns for such roads have been kept distinct from the returns for England and North Wales. The following abstract shows the receipts and expenditure for ten years:—

The above account shows that the Toll Income in 1858 was 1,991*l.* more than in the previous year; the County road rates, &c. were increased 27*l.*; the "Other Receipts" were larger than in 1857; and the total Receipts were 2,116*l.* more than in the previous year. In regard to the items of expenditure in 1858 compared with 1857, the expense of repairing the roads was increased 766*l.* (making a larger sum under this head than in any former year); the "Improvements" were increased 118*l.*; the annuities were 2,011*l.* less than in 1857 (when some arrears were paid); and the "Other Payments" were reduced 279*l.* The total expenditure was 1,458*l.* less than in the previous year, and 378*l.*, less than the total Income in 1858. The following statement shows the variation in the amount of Toll Receipts, and the cost of repairing the roads, in each county for the years 1857 and 1858:—

* Exclusive of the Value of Statute Duty performed.

The foregoing account shows that in five counties the Toll Income in 1858 increased 2,348*l.*, while in Brecon there was a decrease of 357*l.* During the same year the costs of repairing the roads increased in five counties 1,181*l.*, while in the county of Carmarthen they were reduced 422*l.*

The total sum advanced under the South Wales Turnpike Roads Act was 218,220*l.* in respect to which an annuity of 11,393*l.* 12*s.* is payable to the Public Works Loan Commissioners, and the sum of 91*l.* 4*s.* 10*d.* for "redemption and interest" of the loan of 1,200*l.* advanced to the county roads board of Brecon in 1853. The following statement shows the particulars of the debt due to the Public Works Loan Commissioners on the 1st day of January 1859:—

From this statement it appears that the debt has been reduced 70,481*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.*, and by a continuance of the payment of the full annuities, the amount of principal repaid annually will be larger as the current interest diminishes. By the payments in 1858 the original loans from the Public Works Loan Commissioners were reduced from 217,020*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.* to 146,538*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.*

In the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act of 1859 (the 22nd and 23rd of Victoria, cap. 51.) sixteen Local Acts were excepted in the Schedule,—whereby their terms were limited to the 1st day of November 1860, unless in the meantime continued by Parliament.

Following the practice of late years, the Home Secretary instituted inquiries into the affairs of the several Turnpike Trusts which applied to Parliament in 1860, as well as of other Trusts which were brought under revision and regulation, without incurring the expenses of obtaining renewals of their Local Acts. In 1860 four reports under the powers of the 3rd and 4th of William IV. cap. 80. were presented to both Houses of Parliament upon 12 Turnpike Road Bills, for which Local Acts were obtained. Of these Trusts nine were voluntary applications, under the circumstances set forth in the Reports on Roads:—No. 2. the "Manchester and Buxton Roads;" No. 3. "Chesterfield and Worksop Road;" No. 4. "King's Ferry Roads;" No. 5. "Wem and Bronygarth Roads;" No. 6. "Blandford and Wimborne Road;" No. 9. Bolton and St. Helen's Road;" No. 10. "Egleston Roads;" No. 11. "Doncaster and Tadcaster Road;" and No. 12. "Cilgwrgan, Bettws, and Tregynon Road" (new).

Of the 16 Local Acts excepted in the Schedule of the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act of 1859, only three were separately renewed; seven were continued by the General Act as heretofore, under arrangements which were made with the sanction of the Home Secretary; five Local Acts were continued one year further, by placing them in the Schedule of the Continuance Act of 1860, to afford time for completing arrangements with the creditors or other parties interested; and one Act for the "Haworth and Two Laws Road" was excepted in section 1 of the Continuance Act of 1860 (the 23 & 24 Vict. cap. 73.), to prevent its continuance beyond the 1st of November 1860, when its term expired, and the road was thrown open to the public.

The Local Turnpike Bills of the session of 1860 were referred to Two Select Committees of the House of Commons (Group B. and C.); and the Committees appear to have acted upon the same general principles as in former years, by providing as far as practicable for the payment of the Trust debts within a reasonable period. The financial arrangements as to the reduction of interest, &c. upon nine of the Trusts, with their branches, are set forth in the tabular statement on page 12.

Since the last general Report was prepared, the Home Secretary has granted eight Provisional Orders under the Act of the 14th and 15th of Victoria, cap. 38. These Orders have been published in the London Gazette, and in one or more of the local newspapers, but have not yet been confirmed by an Act of Parliament. Some of these Orders could not have been granted had not the Arrangement Act been extended by the 3rd section of the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act of 1860 (the 23rd and 24th of Victoria, cap. 73.) to Trusts of which the Acts were continued by such Act, although the revenues thereof were not insufficient for the payment of the interest in full.

No particulars having been reported to Parliament of the arrangements which have been made upon certain Trusts, under the sanction of the Home Secretary, without separate applications to Parliament, it appears proper to refer briefly to the circumstances of each case, in addition to the information contained in the abstract on page 13 of this Report, respecting the Trusts marked by the letters A. to I. The arrangements were as under:—

(A.) Kennet and Amesbury Road.—The Local Act for this road will not expire until the end of the Session after March 1871. The bonded debt upon this road was 5,900*l.*, bearing interest at 5 per cent., with arrears of interest amounting to 5,248*l.* The Toll Income in 1859 was 471*l.* 17*s.* On the 19th of October 1860 the Trustees applied for a Provisional Order to reduce the rate of interest to 3 per cent., and to extinguish the arrears of interest; and upon these terms an Order was granted by Sir George Lewis on the 26th of October last.

(B.) Kingston and Leatherhead Road.—The Local Act for this road was excepted in the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act, 1860. In the year 1852 a Provisional Order was granted to reduce the rate of interest to 2*l.* 10*s.* per cent., except upon 380*l.*, on which the interest was reduced to 3*l.* per cent., and to extinguish large arrears of interest. The funds, however, have since proved insufficient to pay the interest and provide a sinking fund, and on the 6th of November last the Trustees applied for a Provisional Order to reduce the interest to the uniform rate of 1*l.* 10*s.* per cent., and such Order was accordingly granted on the 16th of November 1860. Some questions having since arisen as to the rates of Toll which could legally be collected upon this road, the Trustees have applied for a renewal of the Local Act in the present session.

(C.) Alfreton, Higham, and Tibshelf Road.—The accounts for this road in 1859 showed a Toll Income of 199*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, with a debt of 3,050*l.* at 5 per cent., and arrears of interest amounting to 5,490*l.* The Local Act having been excepted in the Continuance Act for 1860, the Trustees applied for a Provisional Order on the 27th of November 1860, to reduce the rate of interest to 3 per cent., and to extinguish the arrears of interest to the 1st of November 1861. Upon these terms an Order was granted on the 30th of November last, although a doubt was expressed whether the terms of reduction would be sufficient for the payment of the debt unless the parishes would voluntarily aid in repairing the road.

(D.) Bury and Stratton Road.—The debt upon this road amounted to 6,530*l.* at 5 per cent., but some time since all the creditors, except one, consented to accept 3*l.* 10*s.* per cent. On the extension of the Arrangement Act to Trusts which were able to pay the annual interest, the Trustees applied for a Provisional Order to reduce the rate of interest to 3½ per cent., and on the 26th of December last an Order was granted accordingly by Sir George Lewis.

(E.) Leeds, Woodhouse Carr, and Meanwoodside Road.—The total debt upon this road amounted to 5,427*l.* 17*s.* 9*d.*, bearing interest at 5 per cent. After some communications with the Trustees it was arranged to reduce the interest to 3 per cent. on the preference debt of 2,000*l.*, and to 2 per cent. on the remaining debt of 3,427*l.* 17*s.* 9*d.*, with the hope that the townships would aid in repairing the road, to allow for a surplus fund for the discharge of the principal debt. Upon these terms a Provisional Order was granted on the 31st of December last.

(F.) Montgomeryshire Roads, 3rd District.—Upon these roads the bonded debt amounted to 11,237*l.*, bearing interest at 5 per cent. The Local Act will not expire until the end of the session after June 1865. On the 7th of September last the Trustees applied for a Provisional Order to reduce the rate of interest to 4 per cent., and on the 31st of December 1860 such Order was granted upon the terms proposed.

(G.) Kippings Cross and Flimwell Road.—Upon this road the debt amounted to 7,400*l.*, at 5 per cent. interest, while the toll income in 1859 was 391*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.* only. On the 11th of January last the Trustees applied for a Provisional Order to reduce the rate of interest to 2 per cent. from Michaelmas 1859, and on the 18th of January last an Order was granted upon these terms, there being special provisions in the Local Act authorizing a sinking fund for paying off the principal debt.

(H.) Brandbridges Road.—Upon this road the Toll Income in 1860 was 536*l.* 19*s.* 7*d.*; the total debts 7,351*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*, at 4 and 5 per cent. interest; and the arrears of interest 3,109*l.* On the 15th of March last the Trustees applied for a Provisional Order to reduce the interest to the uniform rate of 3*l.* 10*s.*, and to extinguish the arrears of interest, upon which terms an Order was granted on the 19th of March last.

(I.) Windsor Forest Roads.—Upon these roads the debt was 1,450*l.*, bearing interest at 5 per cent. In order to facilitate the payment of the principal, the creditors consented to reduce the rate of interest to 4 per cent., and the Trustees agreed to lessen the expenses of management. Under these arrangements the Local Act was continued as heretofore by the Turnpike Continuance Act.

The abstract (on pages 12 and 13) shows the reduction in the rates of interest which have been made upon the Trusts regulated by nine new Local Acts obtained during the last session, and upon the nine Trusts previously mentioned under the letters (A.) to (I.) It appears that upon these Trusts the annual interest has been reduced from 8,581*l.* 5*s.* 5*d.* to 4,724*l.* 11*s.* 0*d.*, whereby a liability of 3,856*l.* 14*s.* 5*d.* per annum for interest will be extinguished; while arrears of interest amounting to 59,419*l.* have also been extinguished.

The alterations made in the rates of interest payable upon these Trusts are shown in the following statement:—

The interest chargeable upon the above debt of £180,296. 3*s.* was at an average rate of about £4. 15*s.* 2*d.* per cent. per annum.		The interest chargeable upon the above debt of £179,496. 3*s.* will be at an average rate of about £2. 12*s.* 8*d.* per cent. per annum.

In the last general Report a statement of the alterations made in the debts of 324 Turnpike Trusts was shown, to which is now added the summary of the abstract on pages 12 and 13 as under:—

Date.	No. of Trusts.	Debt Extinguished.	Arrears of Interest Extinguished.	Former annual Interest.	Future annual Interest.	Annual Saving in Interest.

The above reductions have not yet fully appeared in the annual accounts, but each year the bonded debt and the rates of interest are reduced in amount. It is still to be regretted that upon many insolvent Trusts the Trustees and Creditors cannot be prevailed upon to enter into voluntary arrangements, but prefer to allow the affairs of such Trusts to remain without revision until the expiration of the terms of the several Local Acts.

In the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act, 1860, (the 23rd and 24th Victoria, cap. 73.,) 22 Local Acts were placed in the exceptional Schedule, limiting their terms to the 1st day of November 1861, unless in the meantime continued by Parliament, in order that the several Turnpike Trusts regulated by such Acts might be brought under revision. In section 1. of the before-named Continuance Act, the Staines and Hampton Road Act (the 54th Geo. III. cap. 59.), and the Haworth and Two Laws' Road Act (the 4th Geo. IV. cap. 48.) were excepted, to prevent their further continuance. The Staines and Hampton Road Act will therefore expire with the present Session of Parliament, but the collection of toll ceased in October 1859. The Haworth and Two Laws Road Act expired on the 1st of November 1860, at which date the Toll Gates were removed, and the road became free from toll.

No. 1.—EDENFIELD CHAPEL AND LITTLE BOLTON ROAD.

The local Act for this road (the 2nd and 3rd of Victoria, Cap. 47.,) repealed the previous Act of the 11th of George IV. Cap. 31., and granted a term of 21 years, which would have expired at the end of the Session next after July 1860, but it has been extended by the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act until the 1st day of November 1861.

The length of the road belonging to this Trust is about 16 miles; namely, main line nearly 9 miles; branch road from Booth Pits to Bury Bridge, 3 miles 1 furlong; and branch road from Bulls Head to Crostons, 4 miles. The whole of the road is repaired by the respective townships through which it passes. On the main road there are 6 toll-gates and 1 chain; on the Booth Pits branch, 2 gates; and on the Bull's Head branch, 4 gates. The clerk states that the Barwood Lee and the Stubbins toll-gates (near Ramsbottom) were erected to take those parties who constantly travelled on the road and paid no toll. As allowed by the present Act, 3 tolls are collected on the main line, one toll on the Booth Pits branch, and 2 tolls on the Bull's Head branch. But on the main line the first toll-gate from either end of the road is made to clear the last. The full rates of toll allowed by the local Act are levied.

The total debt upon this road in the year 1846 amounted to 25,065*l.* 9*s.* 4*d.*, which included the sum of 3,616*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.* added in that year for arrears of interest. The total amount of interest converted into principal was stated in a Parliamentary Return to the House of Commons in 1850 at 8,467*l.* 9*s.*; but such conversions of interest into principal are authorized by sections 22 and 23 of the existing local Act. The only statement made of these additions to the principal debt shows that the debts mentioned in the branch road schedule consist of, principal 4,561*l.* 5*s.*, interest added, 2,598*l.* 0*s.* 5¾*d.*; making the total 7,159*l.* 5*s.* 5¾*d.*, upon which sum interest at 5 per cent. has been paid since July 1845. The debt was reduced to 20,040*l.* 10*s.* 5*d.* at the end of the year 1859, by several payments on account, including the sum of 1,900*l.* paid in 1858 and 1859, as compositions for debts of 2,624*l.* 18*s.* 11*d.* The clerk states that the debt has been further reduced 1,597*l.* 9*s.* 8*d.* in 1860, leaving the debt 18,443*l.* 0*s.* 9*d.*

The accounts show some variations in the amounts of toll income, but since 1855 the revenue has slightly increased. The parishes have granted aid towards repairing the roads, but of late years the amount has been very small. The funds have been expended, in repairing the road, until recently; in salaries (formerly 145*l.*, but in later years 125*l.* per annum); law charges, of large amounts in 1839, 1842, 1851, and four years following; interest of debt; improvements, until 1842; and portions of the principal since 1846. The clerk has explained that the sums paid as "law charges" in 1851 and four following years were for obtaining the two last Acts in 1830 and 1839. No explanation has been given why the funds have been applied in paying off portions of the principal debt in lieu of repairing the roads.

In the early part of last year a memorial (with 272 signatures) was presented to Secretary Sir George Lewis, from "inhabitants of Ramsbottom and the neighbourhood "within the townships of Tottington Higher and Lower End." The principal statements in such memorial were as follows:—

"That by the 2nd and 3rd Victoria, Cap. 47., (which is still in force, but expires in 1860,) after reciting the last-mentioned Act (11 Geo. 4 Cap. 31.), and that the powers thereof had been put into execution (except the making of two branch roads, which had been found to be unnecessary), repeals the last-mentioned Act, and grants other powers for the more effectually repairing the said road 'leading from or near Edenfield Chapel to Turner Bridge in Little Bolton,' and the said Act (section 14.) provides that not more than three full tolls shall be taken 'on the said road leading from Edenfield Chapel to Little Bolton,' and three other tolls upon the branch roads; this Act also being silent as to the number and localities of the toll-gates.

"That since the passing of this last Act two additional toll-gates have been placed upon the main line of the said road, namely, 'Barwood Lee Gate,' erected about 1852, and the 'Stubbins New Gate,' erected about November 1857, together also with a 'chain or catch-bar.'

"That at a place called 'Nimble Nook,' about half a mile distant from Edenfield Chapel, the road in question joins the Bury and Haslingden turnpike road, upon which last-mentioned road and between Nimble Nook and Edenfield Chapel there is a toll-gate belonging to the Bury and Haslingden Trust, through which it is necessary to pass in travelling from Edenfield Chapel to Little Bolton, and a person so travelling is therefore required to pay four full tolls, namely, the Edenfield Bar on the Bury and Haslingden Trust, and three full tolls on the Edenfield Chapel and Little Bolton Road, the remainder of the gates on the last-mentioned road being cleared by ticket given at the 'Booth Pits Gate,' and vice versâ.

"That a person who travels from Stubbins to Booth Pits, or from Booth Pits to Stubbins, a distance of about two and a half miles, pays the three full tolls authorized to be levied by the Act of Parliament. The whole length of the road from Edenfield to Little Bolton being about nine miles, which a person can travel for the same toll.

"That when a person travels from Ramsbottom towards Edenfield, and passes through the 'chain or catch-bar,' a distance of about half a mile, he is subjected to a toll of eightpence, and to reach Edenfield, a distance of little more than a mile in the whole, he has to submit to two tolls, and in the other direction, travelling towards Bolton, he must pay toll at the first three gates, which are within a distance of about 5 miles, the first at Barwood Lee being about a quarter of a mile from Ramsbottom, and a person first passing through the 'Barwood Lee Gate' and the 'chain or catch-bar' (say to a mill situate between the chain and Stubbins New Gate), and vice versâ, is charged toll at both places, though they are not more than 800 yards apart, and a person whose place of business is between the Stubbins New Gate and the chain, or between the Stubbins New Gate and the Stubbins Old Gate, is compelled to pay toll, whether he goes to the right or left, so soon as he may have travelled his prescribed one hundred yards, being caught by the one or the other.

"That the townships of Tottington Lower and Higher End contain upwards of eighteen thousand inhabitants.

"That the expense of repairing that portion of the said road which lies within the said townships is paid out of a rate levied upon the inhabitants, called the highway rate.

"That the distances between the following places have been ascertained by actual measurement, namely, from the Stubbins Old Gate to the New Gate about 543 yards, from the Stubbins New Gate to the chain or catch-bar about 291 yards, from the chain to Barwood Lee Gate about 810 yards.

"Your memorialists feel keenly the course which the Turnpike Trustees have adopted with regard to the erection of the toll-gates and the mode of levying tolls, and it is a matter which presses the more heavily on account of the various manufacturing, printing, and other works, and cottages extending along the line of the road to a very considerable distance, and it affects as well the poor man as the rich, inasmuch as by the erection of the chain and new bar at Stubbins all the coals supplied to the neighbourhood must pass through one or other of them, and so pay toll. This chain and bar also lie between the goods station of the East Lancashire Railway and several large manufacturing and printing establishments, the proprietors of which duly pay toll upon their goods traffic, and, what is to these persons a still greater burden, the whole of the repairs are (as before stated) now made at the expense of the several townships through which it passes. Your memorialists also wish to state, that no other portion of this road is so taxed as the short distance about Ramsbottom.

"Your memorialists therefore humbly pray, that you will be pleased to take into your consideration the grievances under which they at present labour, and further, that you may be induced to adopt such measures as will secure to your memorialists a more equitable mode of levying the tolls upon the said road than that which is at present pursued by the Trustees."

In September last the clerk to the Trustees reported, "that the matters of complaint "as to the toll-gates at Ramsbottom, since the alteration of the tolls, have been "satisfactorily disposed of." On the 1st of October the clerk was requested to state which of the toll-gates had been removed, or at which of the gates the rates of toll had been reduced, and the estimated annual loss of toll arising from such alterations. It was also stated to him that, "in case the arrangements relating to the tolls are "satisfactory, it will be necessary for the Trustees to propose some terms as to the "future repairs of the road and the payment of the principal debt. As it appears "that a large sum has been added to the principal for arrears of interest, upon which "interest has been paid for many years, it will be necessary to reduce the present high "rate of interest very considerably, or Sir George Lewis must leave the Trustees to "submit the affairs of the Trust to the revision of Parliament."

On the 18th of October last the clerk stated in reply, "that the alteration of the "tolls at Ramsbottom is, that the Barwood Lee Gate clears Stubbins Lane Gate and

" chain, and vice versâ. Previously parties paid at both gates. The tolls on the whole " road have been let in one hand. The Trustees cannot say what the loss of toll has " been in consequence of the alteration, but it is understood from the toll-collector that " there has been about 90*l.* a year less toll received since the alteration. The Trustees " have heard no complaints. The Trustees have not been in the habit of repairing the " roads, the respective townships through which the roads run having hitherto repaired " them. The Trustees are not aware that they can make any proposition as to the " future repair of the roads. With regard to the payment of the debt, the Trustees beg " to propose the principle of a sinking fund, and are most anxious to avoid the expenses " of an application to Parliament, and hope that it may be accomplished by some " amicable arrangement under the provisions of the Continuation Act, 1860; and if any " plan can be arrived at between the Trustees and the Right Honourable Secretary of " State, they would submit it to the creditors, but as at present informed the creditors " will hope to obtain the full payment of their principal and interest."

The clerk has since stated, that " no proposal has been made to the mortgagees to " reduce the rate of interest."

Messrs. T. and R. C. Radcliffe, on behalf of the memorialists, have transmitted the following statement:—

" The only alteration recently made in the toll payments is, that on paying toll at " Stubbins New Gate a ticket is given to the passenger which franks him through the " Barwood Lee Gate, and vice versâ. These gates are about 800 yards distant from each " other, and Ramsbottom is situate midway between the two gates. It is not considered " that this alteration benefits the people of Ramsbottom, nor is it at all satisfactory to " them. Through one or other of these gates the tradesmen are compelled to travel to " various places of business. We are assured that this alteration will not affect the " revenue of the Trustees more than 5*l.* annually, and it is considered merely a nominal " alteration, and not at all a substantial one.

" At a meeting of our clients held a few days ago, at which the greatest interests in " the neighbourhood were represented, the whole subject was thoroughly discussed, " and a resolution was unanimously passed that the only course which would be satis- " factory to the public of Ramsbottom was the removal of Barwood Lee Gate, Stubbins " New Gate, and the chain or catch bar. This would leave the road precisely in the " same position as in the year 1851. We are also directed respectfully to suggest to " you, that if the debt upon the Trust was reduced to what it was at the passing of " the present Act of Parliament (1839) the toll payments might safely be reduced to " about one-third of the present rate. The tolls have been let during this present year " at 2,000*l.*"

In the present application to Parliament, it is proposed to repeal the existing Act, and to obtain further powers for the term of 21 years.

It is proposed by Clause 4 to continue all bonds, &c. in force, " except so far as the " same are varied, altered, or otherwise provided for by this Act." The debts and engagements of the Trustees are also continued in force by Clause 6, " except in so " far as those debts and engagements are by this Act varied, extinguished, or dis- " charged."

Clause 11 appoints the first meeting of the Trustees on " the 29th of October next " after the passing of this Act," on the day when the present Act is repealed by Clause 1, " or as soon after as conveniently may be." By this Clause the future meetings of the Trustees are to be held at such places as they shall think proper,—without the words " in the neighbourhood of the said roads," as in Section 5 of the present Act.

Clause 13 continues the existing rates of toll until November 1st, 1861; but by Clause 15 the rates of toll therein specified may be taken on and after the 29th of October 1861. The tolls, however, are copied from Section 6 of the present Act, and are charged upon each carriage according to the number of horses drawing, but appear to be unequal; for instance, three or any less number of horses drawing a six-inch wheel waggon are charged two shillings, while any waggon with wheels less than six inches in width, drawn by four or any greater or less number of horses, is charged three shillings and ninepence. The tolls on oxen, &c. are 1*s.* per score, and on sheep, &c. 6*d.* per score, instead of the usual and easily-divided tolls of 10*d.* and 5*d.* per score. The Trustees by this Clause are allowed to take " such sum or sums, not exceeding the respective

" sums or tolls herein-after mentioned, as the Trustees at any of their meetings, from " time to time, shall think proper."

Clauses 16 to 27 inclusive, appear to be copied, with some slight alterations, from the present Act.

Clause 28, " for weighing timber and other such carriages;" Clause 29, " wheels con- " structed so as to evade tolls;" and Clause 30, " no exemption from toll for overweight in " respect of carts laden with manure, unless the wheels actually press six inches in " breadth, nor for road materials, except roads comprised in this Act;" are not contained in the existing Act. (The clerk states that there is only one weighing machine on the road—at the Oaks Gate.)

It is proposed by Clause 31 to apply the funds of the Trust as under :—

1st. In paying the expenses of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In repairing toll-houses, gates, &c.; in paying the salaries and other costs of management, not exceeding one hundred and fifty pounds per annum, exclusive of the wages of toll collectors, costs of erecting new toll-houses, law expenses, &c.

3rd. In paying interest on the debt of 18,443*l.* 0*s.* 10¾*d.* at the rate of five pounds per cent., " subject to this proviso, that no interest shall accrue on such debt during " such time as the expenses of this Act shall remain unpaid." (No reduction in the rate of interest is hereby proposed, although a large part of the debt consists of interest converted into principal.)

4th. In repairing the road, not exceeding 300*l.* during any one year.

5th. In paying off (as regulated by Clause 34) the principal debt.

This Clause differs from Section 22 of the present Act, by providing for the payment of the principal debt, after allowing 300*l.* a year towards the repair of such part of the road as is not exempted by Clause 26.

Clause 32 allows no mortgagee to take possession of the toll-gates if the interest be duly paid within three months. (But this Clause does not extend to the regulation of mortgagees in possession, &c., as usual.)

Clause 33 allows no further money to be borrowed on mortgage of the tolls.

Clause 36 relates to trusts affecting any sums owing.

Clause 38 allows a term of 21 years from the 29th of October next, with provisions (1) to discontinue the tolls, and convert the road into a public highway, on the payment of the Trust debt, and (2) to allow the toll-houses, if they do not encroach upon the road, to be sold standing to the proprietor of the adjoining land.

The Schedule to the Bill shows the names of the creditors and the debt due to each, on the main road and on the branch road. The debts do not, however, exactly amount to the sum stated in the preamble and in Clause 31. The clerk has explained that there is no preference of one part of the debt over another; and that the debts specified in the second part of the Schedule are secured on the whole length of road.

There is no Clause in the Bill to prevent the collection of tolls in towns, &c., nor to prevent money from being expended therein. Upon this subject the clerk states that Clause 25 of the present Act was omitted from the Bill, it being thought unnecessary. There is also no clause to fix the distance within which a second toll cannot be taken.

The principal subjects for consideration in this case are :—The rates of toll, the number of payments, and the distance within which a second toll cannot be taken; the rate of interest to be allowed in future, and whether it is to be paid upon the large arrears of interest which have been converted into principal; and the general appropriation of the funds for management, repair of roads, and the payment of interest and principal.

No. 2.—BIDDENDEN AND STOCKERSHEAD ROADS.

There are two distinct local Acts for these roads. For the Biddenden Road, the Act of the 10th of George IV. cap. 22 repealed the previous Acts in 1829, when a new term was granted for 31 years, which term was extended by the General Turnpike Act of the last session to the 1st of November 1861. The local Act for the Stockershead Road of the 10th of George IV. cap. 23 repealed the previous Act of the 49th of George III., and granted a term of 31 years, which will not expire until the end of the session next after the 28th of May next.

As these Trusts have been separately managed, it appears desirable to refer to the circumstances of each.

1.—The Biddenden to Boundgate Road.

This road is 14 miles, 5 furlongs, and 15 poles in length, no portion of which is in a town or a district under an Improvement Act. There are four toll-gates; namely, the Biddenden Gate, about half a mile from the commencement of the road; the Maltman's-hill Gate, distant 4½ miles; the Pluckley Gate, about 2¼ miles from thence; and the Charing Gate and side-bar, distant about 3 miles from Pluckley Gate, and about 4 miles from the end of the Trust road, on which portion there is very little traffic. The Charing Gate clears the side-bar only, four tolls being collected at the full rates allowed by the local Act.

The total debt upon this Trust, including the value of land, was 2,813*l.* 5*s.*, but the sum of 200*l.* was deducted in the year 1847 for an unclaimed debt. The rate of interest was 5*l.* per cent., which was greatly in arrear in 1841 and 1842, but the whole arrears have since been paid off. In 1849 the clerk informed the Secretary of State, that the bond for 200*l.* and 315*l.* 8*s.* 5*d.* for interest were deducted from the accounts in consequence of no claim having been substantiated for such bond, which was secured on a mortgage granted in March 1767 to Henry Cooper, or for the interest thereon since 1st May 1824, when a year's interest, due 16th June 1814, was paid. The clerk has recently forwarded a copy of the following minute upon this subject, dated 12th February 1847; namely,—

" Mr. Reece having this day applied on behalf of the personal representatives of the " late Mr. John Holah, for payment of a long arrear of interest on a sum of 200*l.* " secured on a mortgage of the tolls of this road originally granted to Robert Spencer, " and the Trustees having been advised by their clerk that the Statute of Limitations " precluded the representatives of the late John Holah from establishing their claim " either to the principal money or the interest thereof, and that the Trustees would not, " therefore, be justified, without the general consent of all the creditors of the road, in " paying to such representatives the interest so claimed. The clerk was directed to " inform Mr. Reece that they would be guided in their conduct as to the payment or " non-payment of the arrear of interest by the opinion to be taken on a case to be " prepared by Mr. Reece on behalf of the representatives, and approved of by the clerk " to the Trustees on their behalf, setting forth all the facts of the case, and to be laid " before such counsel as Mr. Reece and their clerk should ultimately agree on." Mr. Reece, however, did not fall into this proposal, and the debt and interest thereon were excluded from their accounts.

The accounts show, that the toll-income has gradually fallen off, but that the parishes have aided for about twenty years to the extent of about 88*l.* per annum, the statute duty having been 160*l.* a year. The clerk states that the parishes contributed voluntarily until 1859, when Biddenden parish refused to pay without an order of the justices, as the arrears of interest were paid off, and in April last the justices granted an order for the amount previously paid. The funds have been expended, in repairing the road (with parish aid); in paying salaries (increased from 35*l.* 10*s.* to 45*l.* 10*s.* in 1857); law charges; interest of debt, including large arrears; and some small amounts for improvements. The clerk has explained, that a salary of 10*l.* was paid to the treasurer since 1856, in consequence of the balance in his hands being reduced by the payment of arrears of interest, and not compensating him for his trouble in receiving the monthly rents of the tolls and the parish contributions, and assisting the clerk in making out the accounts, and there being no banking firm within 6 miles of the place where the meetings are held.

N.B.—Rate of Interest, 2 per cent.

Note.—The "Total Income" and "Total Expenditure" include Incidentals.

* The Rate of Interest reduced from 5 to 2 per cent., and large arrears of interest extinguished.

In March 1860 the Home Secretary suggested for the consideration of the Trustees, whether it would not be desirable to reduce the rate of interest, and to take steps for the union of this Trust with the Stockershead Trust, upon some equitable terms as to the rates of interest, so as to reduce the expenses of management, and secure a sinking fund for the payment of the debts. In June last the clerk reported, that an arrangement had been made with the creditors to reduce the rate of interest to 4*l.* per cent.; that the Trustees could not see how a union of the two Trusts could take place on equitable terms; but that every exertion would be made to reduce the expenses of management; and that a sinking fund would at once be formed.

On the 27th of June last the clerk transmitted a statement of the probable receipts and expenditure (allowing 4*l.* per cent. interest), showing a surplus of 74*l.* 5*s.* 2*d.*, and stating that "no portion of the road is repaired by the parishes, nor is it intended to release the "parishes from any contributions." In reply the clerk was informed, that the Home Secretary regretted to find that it was proposed to continue to obtain parish aid equal to nearly half the cost of repairing the road, to make no reductions in the costs of management, and to allow 4*l.* per cent. interest on the bonded debt, being a higher rate than is usually allowed in cases where the parishes contribute to the Trust funds.

At a meeting of the Trustees held the 19th of September last, to which the creditors were invited, the creditors who were present unanimously approved of an application to Parliament, as they considered that if the Act were continued by the Annual Continuance Act questions would constantly arise with the surveyors of the different parishes through which the road passed, as to the liability of the parishes to contribute towards the repairs; and that a reduction in the rate of interest to 3½ per cent. under a renewed Act would render their securities more valuable. At a meeting of the Trustees and bondholders of both the above roads, held on the 10th of December last, it was resolved to apply for an Act to amalgamate this Trust with the Stockershead and Bagham's Cross Road Trust; to assimilate the tolls on both roads; and that the costs of the Act be apportioned between the two Trusts.

2.—Stockershead to Bagham's Cross Road.

This road is 7 miles, 5 furlongs, 17 poles in length, no part of which is in towns, nor repaired by parishes. There are two toll-gates, the Challock and the Chilham Gates, about 5 miles apart, and the former is about three-quarters of a mile from the end of the Trust road. The full rates of toll are levied at each of the gates. The parishes have contributed voluntarily about 53*l.* a year, which has been nearly equal to the entire expenses incurred by the Trustees in repairing the road and for tradesmen's bills.

The debts upon this Trust were borrowed in 1809 and 1811, and amounted to 2,075*l.*, which sum still remains due. The rate of interest was 5*l.* per cent. until September 1855, when a Provisional Order was granted by Secretary Sir George Grey to reduce the rate of interest to 2*l.* per cent. from the 31st of December 1853, and to extinguish the large arrears of interest (except 15*l.*) at the same date.

The accounts show that the toll-income was reduced in the year 1846, and has since been further reduced, until the whole toll receipts scarcely exceed 1*l.* 10*s.* per week, after paying the costs of collection. The parishes have contributed aid to the Trust equal to about three-fifths of the toll receipts. The funds have been expended,—in repairing the road (by the parish contributions); in salaries (increased from 20*l.* 10*s.* to 23*l* 10*s.* in 1857); law charges; and interest of debt, so far as the funds would allow. The clerk explains, that the small salary was paid to the treasurer since 1856 in consequence of the balance in hand being very small, and not compensating him for the trouble in keeping the accounts.

At a meeting of the Trustees on the 19th of September last, the creditors who were present agreed to a union of this Trust with the Biddenden and Boundgate Trust; and at a joint meeting of the Trustees and creditors of the two Trusts on the 10th of December the resolution to apply for a new Act, previously referred to, was adopted. The clerk has further explained, that the few creditors who replied to the circular of the Trustees were willing to leave the matter in the Trustees' hands; and that the greater part of the creditors were executors and trustees, and were desirous of being placed in a condition to sell the securities. He has also stated, that as the revenues were still insufficient to pay the interest at 2 per cent. and form a reserve fund, and as none of the creditors opposed the application, it was deemed expedient by the Trustees, by uniting with the Biddenden and Boundgate Trust, to lessen the expenditure, and form a reserve fund.

In the present application to Parliament it is proposed that the management of all the roads comprised in the Biddenden Act and the Stockershead Act should be united in one body of Trustees; that such Acts be repealed; and that further and more effectual powers be taken in lieu thereof for the term of 21 years.

Clause 9 describes as separate divisions (1) the Biddenden Road and (2) the Stockershead Road.

Clause 10 continues the present rates of toll on the above roads respectively until and inclusive of the 30th of September next.

Clause 11 specifies the rates of toll which may be collected on the roads upon and after the 1st of October next. The tolls proposed in this clause and the tolls at present allowed and collected under the local Acts are as under:—

Description of Traffic.	New Bill, Clause 11.	Biddenden Road Act, Section 6.	Stockershead Road Act, Section 6.
For every horse or other beast drawing any coach, chaise, &c.	4 pence	4 pence	4½ pence.
For every horse or other beast drawing any waggon, cart, &c. with wheels 6 inches in width	(2 pence for asses)	4 pence	6 pence.
Ditto, with wheels 4½ inches and less than 6 inches in width		5 pence	(1½*d.* for asses).
Ditto, with wheels less than 4½ inches in width		6 pence
For every horse not drawing	1 penny	1 penny	1½ penny.
For every ass not drawing	1 penny	1 half-penny	1½ penny.

The clerk explains, with reference to this clause, that "no provision is made for "increased tolls upon waggons, &c. with narrow wheels, as the increased tolls are payable "under the General Turnpike Act, 3 Geo. IV. c. 126. s. 7., and it was thought best "to make the Act as short as possible, and that the same clause should rule on both "sides." It will be seen above that it is proposed to double the toll on asses, not drawing, on the Biddenden Road, while on the Stockershead Road nearly all the tolls are proposed to be reduced. The tolls proposed on oxen, sheep, &c. are of the same amounts as are now collected on both roads; but the double toll on trees or timber, described in the new clause as "either whole or in planks," is not contained in the Stockershead Road Act. An additional toll is also proposed in this clause on carriages moved by steam or machinery of one shilling for each wheel.

Clause 12 continues the toll on chalk and lime as now charged by the Biddenden Road Act, section 11, but is not now payable upon the Stockershead Road.

Clause 13, limiting the exemption of road materials from toll during winter to the toll-gates in parishes where the materials are obtained and are to be used, is not contained in either of the existing Acts.

Clause 15 limits the number of tolls to four on the Biddenden Road, and two on the Stockershead Road, as are at present collected (but no restriction is made as to the distance between the places of payment).

Clause 16 allows a person for one toll payment to pass toll-free at the same gate, &c. "at all times during the same day;" but by the Biddenden Act, section 7, the traffic is allowed to "return or repass once."

Clause 20 directs that separate accounts are to be kept for the two roads; from which it appears that the funds are not intended to be amalgamated.

It is proposed by clause 21 to apply the funds of the Biddenden Road as under:—

1st. In discharging three-fourth parts of the expenses of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In defraying three-fourth parts of the expenses of management, including salaries, repairs of toll houses, &c.; the total amount (query—for both roads) not to exceed 65*l.*, exclusive of the salaries of of toll-collectors, legal expenses, &c.

3rd. In paying interest at the rate of 3*l.* 10*s.* per cent.

4th. In repairing the road, not exceeding in any one year the sum of 110*l.*

5th. In paying off the debts, as regulated by clause 27.

Lastly. In further repairing and improving the road.

It is proposed by clause 22 to apply the funds of the Stochershead Road as under:—

1st. In paying one-fourth part of the costs of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In defraying one-fourth part of the expenses of management (without limiting the amount.)

3rd. In paying the interest at 1*l.* per cent.

4th. In repairing the road, not exceeding in any one year the sum of 25*l.*

5th. In paying off the debts, as regulated by clause 27.

Lastly. In further repairing and improving the road.

Clause 23 allows new mortgages to be granted for any of the debts, when required by, and at the expense of any of the mortgagees.

Clause 24 allows no further money to be borrowed, unless at a lower rate of interest, to pay off any mortgage.

Clause 25 allows no interest to be paid (although it may accrue) upon any of the debts, until the costs of the Act have been defrayed.

Clause 27 regulates the mode of paying off the debts,—after ten days notice.

Clause 28 relates to the roads in towns. The clerk states that no portion of the road will be excluded from either Trust, nor will any toll-gates or bars be removed by the operation of this clause.

The principal questions to be determined in this case are:—The rates of toll, the number of payments, and the distance within which a second toll cannot be taken? The rate of interest to be allowed on the debt of each of the roads? In what proportions the funds are to be applied,—to the repair of the road, and the payment of the principal? Whether, as the Trustees propose to extinguish in the new Bill the debt of 200*l.* and interest thereon, excluded from the accounts in 1847, it is sufficient to omit such debt from the schedule? And whether the funds and debts of these Trusts should be consolidated, or the management only, as proposed by the Bill?

The following statement shows the separate and united income and expenditure of these Trusts for the year 1859:—

No. 3.—BERWICK, NORHAM, AND ISLANDSHIRES ROADS.

The present Act for these roads, of the 10th of George IV. Cap. 59., repealed the previous Act of the 59th of George III., and granted a new term, which would have expired at the end of the present session, but it has been extended by the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act until the 1st day of November 1861.

The roads belonging to this Trust are 64 miles in length, namely, the post road from London to Edinburgh by Berwick-upon-Tweed, 15 miles 5 furlongs, and the other roads 48 miles 3 furlongs. The roads in towns are of the following lengths: (1.) In Tweedmouth about 800 yards, kept in repair by the Trustees. (2.) The road over Berwick Bridge, 300 yards, repaired by the corporation of Berwick, aided by a Government grant. And (3.) Bridge End, Bridge Street, Hide Hill, High Street, and Castlegate in Berwick-upon-Tweed, about 1,250 yards in length, repaired by the Berwick Local Board of Health.

The number of toll-gates, bars, and chains are shown in the following statement:—

By the local Act only one toll is payable within six miles on each road. Previously to May 1854 a sixth part of the revenue from the tolls allowed by section 9. of the present Act was carried to the "South Entrance Improvement Fund," but at that date the fund was discontinued, and the tolls were reduced to the same rates as those in section 10, which rates, with those specified in sections 11, 12, and 13 are now levied.

The total debt upon this Trust was originally 31,383*l.*, but it appears that 100*l.* was paid off in 1828, 1,000*l.* in 1831, and 500*l.* in 1840 (the last two amounts being entered in the accounts as paid in 1843). The sum of 1,600*l.*, the Berwick South Entrance Improvement debt, was paid off in 1853, making the total sum paid off 3,200*l.*, leaving the present debt 28,183*l.*, bearing interest at 5*l.* per cent. The accounts show an increase of 1,000*l.* in the amount of bonded debt in 1848. The clerk states that he cannot trace the cause of this difference, but he adds, "there is no doubt whatever "that the total bonded debt is now as stated in the Schedule No. 1.—28,183*l.*"

The accounts show, that the toll income became considerably reduced between the years 1848 and 1851, which was owing to the reduction in traffic by the formation of railways from Newcastle to Berwick, Berwick to Kelso, and Berwick to Edinburgh.

Very little aid was obtained from the parishes after the abolition of statute duty, but some large sums were brought into the accounts from the Berwick South Entrance Improvement Separate Fund in 1843, 1844, 1847, 1848, and 1855. An abstract of the accounts for such fund from 1837 furnished by the clerk is as under:—

The treasurer kept the "Separate Fund" balance in the bank of which he was a partner. The bank failed in 1841, and dividends were received as entered in the following account of the present Treasurer:—

The funds of the Trust have been expended, in repairing the roads (at lower costs since 1848); in salaries (215*l.* per annum); law charges; interest of debt; improvements; and part of the principal. The clerk has explained that the treasurer's salary was increased in 1847, in consequence of the Trustees requiring him from that date to examine and superintend the accounts of the surveyor; and that the law charges in 1845 and four years following were incurred in proceedings instituted against the North Eastern Railway Company in respect of claims for compensation, and of two actions carried on against this Company and the North British Railway Company.

It appears that in April last "the Standing Committee" of the Trustees reported at a general meeting of the Trustees in favour of obtaining a renewal of the local Act for the purpose of reducing the rate of interest, and providing for the payment of the principal. The Committee recommended the interest to be reduced to 3*l.* per cent., and some slight increase in certain classes of tolls, and intimated that the cost of the Act would probably not exceed 450*l.* In August last the Trustees, by resolution, confirmed their opinion that a new Act should be obtained, and expressed their belief that the creditors would not voluntarily accept a reduced rate of interest. On the 31st of August the Home Secretary suggested to the Trustees whether a Provisional Order to reduce the rate of interest might not be obtained, with the view of avoiding the expenses of renewing the Act.

On the 9th of October last a letter was addressed to Sir George Lewis on behalf of some of the mortgagees, containing the following observations:—"I am trustee for a lady, "now far advanced in years, and whose sole means of livelihood is the interest on the sum "of 2,000*l.* invested on the bonds of these Turnpikes. I am likewise engaged on behalf "of two other bondholders, whose united debt is 6,000*l.*, on which they have borrowed "4,000*l.* or thereabouts at 5 per cent. If, therefore, a large reduction is made in the "rate of interest, these persons will in effect lose their property entirely, while in the "first-mentioned case the lady will be reduced to comparative penury from a position "of some little respectability and comfort. I therefore very respectfully beg to inquire "whether any inflexible rule exists applicable to all Turnpike Trusts whose Acts "approach expiry, and in particular whether any regulation prescribes the amount of "reduction to be made in the rate of interest payable by solvent Trusts before a con-

† Mis-stated in former returns.

" tinuance of the local Act will be permitted, either by a separate Act, or by the " General Continuance Act." The writer added, that he believed the creditors would consent to a reduction of interest to 4 per cent., but, unless under compulsion, he could not anticipate that the proposition of the Trustees (3 per cent.) would be adopted. In reply to this application, the Home Secretary stated, after referring to the suggestions made to the Trustees,—" It is usually left to the Trustees and the creditors to propose " some terms for the approval of the Secretary of State, the object being to secure the " payment of the debt within a reasonable period, say about 21 years. In this case " Sir George Lewis fears that he could not consent to the payment of a higher rate of " interest than that named by the Trustees, unless some savings could be effected in the " annual expenditure for repairing the roads, management, &c." It was also added, that in case no arrangement could be effected to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State, it would be necessary to obtain a new local Act " upon such terms as Parliament may " determine."

On the 20th of October the clerk reported that the Trustees had taken the preliminary steps to endeavour to obtain a Provisional Order to reduce the rate of interest to 3*l.* per cent.; but that only five persons, owning debts amounting to 890*l.*, had given their consents. He also reported that at a meeting of creditors at which were present or represented the owners of bonds amounting to 15,355*l.* it was resolved that sufficient grounds had not been shown for reducing the interest to 3 per cent.; that no reduction in the rate of interest should be acceded to " unless a permanently binding provision is " made, as well for the gradual liquidation of the principal sums owing on the " security of the said turnpikes, as for the regular payment of the reduced rate of " interest;" that they were not averse to a moderate reduction of the rate of interest, by which, aided by retrenchment in the annual expenditure upon salaries, and by a more economical yet improved management, the debt might be extinguished; and that to give effect to these views they would appoint a committee to confer with the Trustees, and join them in obtaining a Provisional Order, or applying for a new Act, or in taking other steps for protecting the interests of the creditors. The clerk also added, " it " appeared to the Trustees, from calculations laid before them, that a higher rate of " interest than 3 per cent. would extend the repayment of the principal debt over a too- " lengthened period, inasmuch as with interest at 3 per cent. it will take at least 30 years " to pay off the debt," and assuming that the creditors owning or representing 15,355*l.* of debt would join with the creditors for 890*l.* who had consented to accept 3 per cent., yet these sums would not amount to two-thirds of the debt to enable the Trustees to apply for a Provisional Order. Under these circumstances, the Trustees conceived they had no other alternative than to proceed for a new Act.

In the present application to Parliament it is proposed to repeal the existing Act, and to obtain in lieu thereof further and more effectual powers for the term of thirty-one years.

Clause 4 continues the existing bonds, agreements, &c., " subject to the provisions " of this Act."

Clause 6 continues the liabilities of the Trust—" except in so far as those debts and " engagements are by this Act varied, extinguished, or discharged."

Clause 10 relates to the " Qualification of Trustees," and is not usually inserted in Turnpike Bills. See General Turnpike Act, 3rd of George IV. cap. 126, section 62, and the 5th and 6th of William IV. cap. 62, section 10. Clause 11 relates to Justices for English counties, as in the present Act, section 5, but see the General Act of 4th of George IV. cap. 95, section 34. Clause 12, relating to " penalty for Trustees " acting without having made declaration," is not contained in the present Act, and differs from the General Turnpike Acts. (These clauses, 10, 11, and 12, may probably be required in consequence of the roads of this Trust extending into Scotland.)

Clause 13 allows five additional Trustees to be appointed, with a proviso requiring notice of elections, not contained in the present Act.

Clause 14 regulates the first and subsequent meetings of the Trustees, and the mode of calling special meetings by requisition of three members; but the meetings are not required to be held " in the neighbourhood of the Trust roads."

Clause 16 describes the roads and bridges to which the Act applies, and which, except in a few particulars, are described as in section 2 of the present Act.

Clause 17 specifies the rates of toll which may be taken, from the passing of this Act —(but the Trustees are not to meet, and the present Act is not to be repealed until the third Monday afterwards).

The tolls proposed at all the toll-gates, except those in the parish of Berwick-upon-Tweed and at Union Bridge, are the same as are allowed by section 10 of the present Act, but by such section the exception from these tolls extends to the gates "within " two miles from the town of Berwick."

At the toll-gates within Berwick-upon-Tweed the same tolls are proposed as those allowed by section 11 of the present Act.

In these toll-clauses the words " with two wheels," in describing the waggons, carts, &c., appear to be of doubtful meaning; even when taken in connection with clause 18, imposing an additional toll of one-half in respect to horses, &c. drawing waggons, &c. with four narrow wheels, as in section 12 of the existing Act.

Clause 19 specifies the tolls to be taken on Union Bridge, from the passing of the Act, at the same rates as are now allowed by section 13, with the same additional tolls on narrow-wheel waggons.

Clause 20 imposes a toll of one shilling per wheel at the toll-gates on the roads or bridge on all carriages moved by steam or machinery.

Clause 22 allows persons to return toll-free after one payment, as in section 15 of the present Act, but it is now also proposed to charge the toll on the third time of passing, " but not oftener," on the same day.

Clause 23 is copied from section 16 of the existing Act.

Clause 24 is copied from section 17 of the present Act, but the words are added " for more than one person " in respect to goods carried for hire or reward.

Clause 25 continues the powers of section 14 respecting ferries and bye-roads.

It is proposed by Clause 26 to apply the funds of the Trust as under :—

1st. In paying the expenses of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In repairing and altering toll-houses and gates, in paying the salaries, and the costs and incidental expenses of management, not exceeding 370*l.* per annum (the present salaries amount to 215*l.*), exclusive of the wages of toll-collectors; the cost of new toll-houses; and expenses of legal proceedings, or before justices, or for indictments, or disputes with railway companies.

3rd. In repairing and maintaining Union Bridge,—without limiting the amount.

4th. In paying interest at 3*l.* 10*s.* per cent. (The Trustees at first proposed 3*l.* per cent.)

5th. In applying the surplus as follows:— One-third in paying off the debt (as regulated by Clause 27), and two-thirds in repairing the roads, bridges, &c.; but if " such two-thirds so remaining to be applied as aforesaid shall exceed the sum " of 1,100*l.*," such excess is to be added to and applied with the one-third in discharge of the principal debt.

In respect to the rate of interest proposed in this clause, the clerk explains, that a committee of creditors representing the debt of 15,355*l.* expressed their willingness to assent to this rate of interest, provided the Bill in other respects met their views. He adds, that " some important suggestions have been made by this Committee respecting " the Bill, which are now under consideration."

Clause 27 regulates the payment of debt, by applying annually the one-third part of the surplus and so much as the Trustees shall think fit " of the surplus revenue (if any) " after all the before-mentioned purposes have been complied with." But if no offers of composition are made, it is proposed, at the end of the clause, to allow the Trustees to apply the sum set apart and the surplus revenue " in discharge of such portion of the " debt and in such manner as they may deem most advantageous to the interest of " the Trust."

Clause 28 restricts the Trustees from borrowing any more money on the credit of the tolls, unless at a lower rate of interest to pay off a debt bearing a higher rate of interest.

Clause 29 extinguishes the debts mentioned in Schedule No. 2, and all interest due thereon. These debts amount to 300*l.*, and interest is due thereon from the 12th of November 1822 at 5*l.* per cent. It is also proposed in this clause to convert the sum of

565*l.*, arrears of interest, into principal, to be added to the four debts named in Schedule No. 3. (The clerk has thus explained this proposal:—"The arrears of interest amount "to a large sum, and the Trustees are not in a position, if at any one time arrears "should be claimed, to pay them, without prejudicing the interests of the other creditors; "at the same time they would wish to make some provision to secure the claimants "of interest from loss, and have thought it best done in the manner proposed" by this clause.)

Clause 31 relates to furiously riding or driving, and extends the provision of the present Act, section 28.

Clause 32 is altered from section 29 of the existing Act,—omitting the words "so as "to obstruct the free passage of the said roads, or any part thereof," but Clause 33 is not contained in the present Act.

Clause 34 is new, for the recovery and application of penalties.

Clause 35 is altered from section 30 of the present Act.

Clause 37 allows a term of thirty-one years (instead of 21) from the commencement of the Act, "except as herein provided," on the third Monday next after the passing of the Act; but it is provided that so soon as the debt is paid off the Trustees shall cease to collect tolls, and within six months shall pull down and sell the toll-houses, &c., and the roads be repaired as public highways The toll-houses may, however, be sold standing, if the proprietor of the adjoining land is willing to purchase the same, provided such houses do not encroach upon the general width of the road.

The Schedules annexed to the new Bill contain:—No. 1. A list of the mortgage creditors; No. 2. The particulars of debts proposed to be extinguished; and, No. 3. The particulars of arrears of interest proposed to be converted into principal.

There are no clauses in the new Bill (1) to prevent a mortgagee from seizing the toll-gates so long as the interest allowed by the Act is paid within a fixed date, nor (2) to restrict the Trustees from collecting or expending any money in Berwick-upon-Tweed and other towns, or districts under Boards of Health. The following sections of the present Act are not proposed to be continued by the new Bill:—section 18, relating to "sheep or lambs exempted from toll," and section 31, "Right of the corporation "of Berwick to the tolls of Berwick Bridge reserved."

The principal questions in this case relate to:—The rates of toll and the number of payments; the rate of interest to be paid in future; the unclaimed debts in Schedule No. 2; the arrears of interest in Schedule No. 3 proposed to be converted into principal; the appropriation of the funds after paying the reduced interest; the insertion of provisions to prevent the toll-gates being seized so long as the interest is paid; the repair of roads in towns and the collection of toll therein; and the term to be granted for the new Act.

No. 4.—ELTON AND BLACKBURN ROADS.

The local Act for these roads, of the 10th of George IV. cap. 3, repealed the previous Act of the 50th of George III. cap. 137, so far as the same related to the road therein described as the first district of road. The present Act would have expired at the end of the session next after the 18th of July 1860, but it has been extended by the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act until the 1st day of November 1861.

The lengths of road belonging to this Trust are,—the main line from Elton to Blackburn, 12 miles 1,584 yards, (of which 1 mile and 287 yards of road is within the limits of the Blackburn Improvement Act,) and the branch road from Holden Hall to Haslingden, 1,402 yards. There are six toll-gates and three side-bars on the main line, and one gate on the branch road; but the number of toll payments is limited by section 9 of the local Act to four on the main line and two on the branch. It is stated, however, that payment of toll at the Dearden Toll-gate on the branch road clears Holden Hall Gates on the main line. The full rates of toll allowed by the local Act are collected, but no part of the road is repaired by the Trustees.

The total bonded or mortgage debt upon this road is stated at 22,545*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.*, comprising the following sums:—

Preference debt, at 5 per cent. - -	2,000	0	0
Ditto at 4½ per cent. - -	3,600	0	0
Bonded debt, at 5 per cent. - -	9,230	0	0	Arrears of Interest. 12,635
Interest on ditto, converted into principal at various times, from the year 1816 to 1838 - - - - -	7,715	17	5
	£22,545	17	5

The clerk states that no mortgages have been granted for part of this sum,—1,554*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.*,—which amount is omitted from the bonded debt in the proposed Bill. No authority was given in the local Acts for this road for converting the arrears of interest into principal debt, or for paying interest thereon.

The accounts show some variations in the amount of the toll revenue previously to 1850. The expenditure has been principally for interest of debt, tradesmen's bills, and the salaries of the officers of the Trust. The income has, however, been insufficient to pay the annual interest on the debts; and the arrears of interest since 1838, when 1,540*l.* 10*s.* 8*d.* was added to the principal, have gradually increased to the sum of 12,635*l.* 6*s.* 1*d.*

At a meeting of the Trustees, on the 20th of September last, it was resolved, to propose to the creditors to reduce the rates of interest, and to extinguish "the entire arrear "of interest." It was also resolved, to request the opinion of Secretary Sir George Lewis on the following difficulty, which had been suggested to the meeting, namely:— "That in the event of there being a surplus of income, after payment of interest and "expenses of management, such surplus would probably, on the correct construction of "the application clause in the local Act, become applicable, not to the discharge of the "principal debt, but to the repairs of the road, which is at present repaired at the entire "expense of the districts through which it passes." In reply, it was suggested that under the local Act, in addition to an arrangement with the creditors, it would be necessary to arrange for the townships to repair the road, either wholly or in part, as might be agreed upon, it being greatly for the interest of the townships that the Trust debt should be paid off as soon as possible.

In answer to inquiries the clerk stated, on the 8th of October last, that the surveyor estimated the cost of repairing the road at from 250*l.* to 300*l.* per annum, and that the road was entirely repaired by the townships and by individuals liable to repair certain portions ratione tenuræ. (The estimate for 1860, however, set the cost of repairs at 645*l.*) It was also determined to propose to the creditors to reduce the rates of interest to 3*l.* per cent. on the preference debt of 5,600*l.*, and to 1½ per cent. on the debt of 16,945*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.*; and to extinguish the arrears of interest exclusive of the amount consolidated with principal.

N.B.—Rates of Interest, 4½ and 5 per cent. Note.—The "Total Income" and "Total Expenditure" include Incidentals. * Including 1,540*l.* 10*s.* 8*d.* Interest added to Principal.

The clerk was informed, on the 15th of October, that the Home Secretary thought that the payment of the rates of interest proposed would allow a very insufficient surplus for the discharge of the heavy debts. He therefore suggested, for the consideration of the Trustees and the creditors, whether all interest on the ordinary debt should not be relinquished, or at least until the preference debt at a very low rate of interest should be paid off. On the 29th of October last, the Trustees proposed to reduce the rate of interest on the preference debt to 3*l.* per cent., and to reduce the rate of interest on the ordinary debt to 1*l.* per cent., and to extinguish the arrears of interest on the last-mentioned debt. The following minute was also agreed upon:—"This meeting desires, "however, to intimate, that by reason of the very limited income of the Trust, which "amounts at present to 575*l.* per annum only, nothing can be contributed towards the "repair of the road, but that it will be necessary that the several townships through "which the road passes, and the several individuals liable to repair certain portions of "the road ratione tenuræ, shall continue to bear, as for many years past they have done, "the entire cost of reparation." It was also resolved, "That the foregoing resolutions be "printed, and a copy sent to the Secretary of State, to each acting Trustee, to each "creditor, and to the surveyors of highways, and parties liable ratione tenuræ to repair "the road."

It was reported at a meeting of the Trustees, on the 26th of November last, that a sufficient number of creditors had not consented to the terms of arrangement proposed to enable an application to be made for a Provisional Order. It appears that none of the preference creditors assented, but other creditors owning debts amounting to 6,197*l.* 7*s.* 7*d.* had assented to the terms proposed.

In the present application to Parliament it is proposed to repeal the existing Act, and to obtain further powers for the term of thirty-one (in lieu of twenty-one) years.

Clause 1 repeals the present Act "upon the commencement of this Act,"—on the passing thereof, see Clause 33.

Clause 4 transfers the property of the Trust to the new Trustees, and continues its liabilities, "except as by this Act otherwise specially provided." Clause 5 continues existing bonds, contracts, &c., "except so far as the same are varied, altered, or otherwise provided for by this Act."

Clause 9 appoints the first meeting of the Trustees on the second Thursday after the commencement of the Act, and allows adjourned meetings to be held "at such times and "places as they (the Trustees) shall think proper,"—but omits the words "in the neighbourhood of the said roads."

Clause 10 describes the roads of the Trust, but in line 20 the words "George the "Fourth" are inserted, instead of "George the Third."

Clause 12 is not contained in the present Act. This clause is to enable the Trustees to sell any toll-house standing, with the ground on which it stands;—but no restriction is made in the case of any house, land, &c. encroaching upon the road.

Clause 13 continues the present tolls until the 19th of August 1861, "when the term "of the existing contract of letting the said tolls will expire."

Clause 14 allows the same rates of toll as are at present collected under Section 6 of the local Act, with an additional toll of 1*s.* per wheel on carriages moved by steam, machinery, &c.

The number of toll payments are regulated by Clauses 15 and 16 as at present.

Clause 19 allows one-horse carts to be weighed; but the clerk states that "there is no "weighing machine on the road." Is this Clause, therefore, necessary?

Clauses 20, 21, and 22 are not contained in the present Act. They restrict the general exemption from tolls in respect to road materials, &c., if conveyed on carriages with narrow wheels, or to be used for repairing highways, bridges, &c. in distant townships, and give power to weigh such carriages &c.

It is proposed by Clause 23 to apply the funds of the Trust as under:—

1st. In paying the expenses of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In erecting and repairing toll-houses, &c. and weighing machines; paying the salaries of officers, and costs of management," except the expenses of repairing

" the said roads," not exceeding 75*l.* in any one year, exclusive of the wages of toll-collectors, law charges, &c.

3rd. In paying interest at three pounds per cent. on the preference debt of 5,600*l.* (the rates of interest at present are 4½ and 5 per cent.)

4th. In paying interest at one pound per cent. on the other mortgage debts of 15,391*l.* 7*s.* 11*d.* (This amount is stated in the returns at 16,945*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.*, but the clerk explains that no mortgages have been granted for the sum of 1,554*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.*, which probably forms part of the sum of 7,715*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.* added for arrears of interest to the sum of 9,230*l.* borrowed. The present nominal rate of interest is 5*l.* per cent., but large arrears are unpaid.)

5th. In paying off the preference debt of 5,600*l.*

6th. In paying off the debt of 15,391*l.* 7*s.* 11*d.*

Lastly. " In repairing and keeping in repair the said roads."

This clause differs from the present Act, Section 13, by postponing the repair of the road until all the Trust debts are paid off. By this clause the payments proposed are:—for salaries and management 75*l.*; for interest on preference debt 168*l.*; for interest on other debts 154*l.* Total 397*l.* (after the expenses of obtaining the Act are paid), leaving less than 200*l.* towards the payment of the Trust debt, assuming that the toll-income will remain as at present, and no part of the funds be applied in repairing the road.

Clause 24 extinguishes all arrears of interest on the debt of 15,391*l.* 7*s.* 11*d.* (but part of such sum consists of arrears of interest, which has been, without authority, added to the principal.)

Clause 25 directs the funds for paying off the debts to be applied in sums of 100*l.*, —which is a very small amount compared with the total debts.

Clauses 27 and 29 are not contained in the present Act.

Clause 28 relates to the repair of the branch road, and to paving or repairing any highway or street in Haslingden (but by Clause 23 no money is to be expended in repairing the roads until the debts are paid. In Section 15 of the present Act the road in Blackburn is exempted, the same as Haslingden; but the clerk explains that " the " Blackburn Improvement Act already provides that no money shall be laid out on the " roads within the limits of such Improvement Act, and that no toll shall be collected " therein.")

Clause 31 relates to the roads in towns, &c. The clerk states that no part of the road will be excluded from the Trust, nor any toll-gates be removed by the operation of this Clause.

Clause 33 provides that the Act shall commence upon the passing thereof, and shall continue in force for the term of thirty-one years, in lieu of the usual term of twenty-one years.

The clerk states that the roads mentioned in Section 17 of the present Act were never made, and that no agreement under such section was ever entered into.

The principal questions to be determined in this case are:—The rates of toll, the number of toll payments, and whether any second toll shall be collected at any gate within a specified distance? The rates of interest to be allowed in future on the preference and the ordinary debts, and whether the interest which has been converted into principal shall be extinguished or otherwise? Whether the road is to be entirely repaired by the townships; and if not, in what proportions the costs are to be divided? Whether any interest shall be allowed to accrue before the expenses of obtaining the new Act have been defrayed? And for what term the new Act shall be granted?

No. 5.—LEEDS AND EALAND ROAD.

The local Act of the 7th and 8th of George IV. cap. 69. repealed four previous Acts relating to this road, and granted a new term, which would have expired at the end of the session next after May 1848, but it has been extended by the several Turnpike Acts Continuance Acts until the 1st day of November 1861.

The road belonging to this Trust is 15 miles and 620 yards in length, including nearly 2½ miles of road in the parish and borough of Leeds, in the following townships:—Holbeck 966 yards, Hunslet 1,022 yards, and Beeston 2,347 yards. Since the year 1845 the entire length of the road has been repaired by the Trustees. There are eight toll-bars and chains; none are situated in the town of Leeds, but three of them are within the borough, namely, Meadow Lane Bar, 530 yards from the Leeds' terminus of the road, Holbeck Moor Chain, at a further distance of 833 yards, and Churwell Bar, at a further distance of 1 mile 1,040 yards. One toll payment clears those three bars. There are also two weighing machines; one near Meadow Lane Bar, and the other near Churwell Bar. A second toll is payable at Bruntcliff Bar, distant 2 miles 610 yards from Churwell Bar. Tolls are again payable at Spen Bar, at a further distance of 3 miles 1,400 yards, and at Clifton Bar, 2 miles 1,517 yards further, which latter payment clears Rastrick Bridge Bar, 1 mile 180 yards distant, and Rastrick Chain Bar, 310 yards further. A person travelling the whole length of the road would pay three full tolls, although the local Act authorizes four. The full tolls, however, are not collected, but the scales following:—

Description of Carriage, &c.	Tolls collected		Rates by present local Act, section 14.
	At First Bar.	At Second Bar.
Each horse drawing stage coach	5*d.*	5*d.*	6*d.*
Each horse drawing any other coach, gig, &c.	6*d.*	3*d.*	6*d.*
Each horse drawing waggons, &c. (not coals) with 6-inch wheels	4*d.*	2*d.*	4*d.*
Each horse drawing waggons, &c. (not coals) with 4½-inch wheels	5*d.*	2½*d.*	5*d.*
Each horse drawing waggons, &c. (not coals) with wheels less than 4½ inch	6*d.*	3*d.*	6*d.*
Each horse drawing waggons, &c. (with coals) on wheels 6 inches in width	3*d.*	1*d.*	3*d.*
Each horse drawing waggons, &c. (with coals) on wheels 4½ inches in width	4*d.*	1*d.*	4*d.*
Each horse drawing waggons, &c. on wheels less than 4½ inches in width	4½*d.*	1*d.*	4½*d.*

Oxen, per score	10*d.*	5*d.*	10*d.*
Sheep, calves, &c. per score	5*d.*	2½*d.*	6*d.*

No authority appears in the local Act for taking the above reduced tolls "at the second bar."

The debt upon this Trust in 1837 and until 1845 amounted to 14,094*l.*, bearing interest at 5 per cent. In 1846, and each year following except 1853, part of the debt was paid off, and the sum which remained due on the 31st of December 1859 was 5,300*l.*

The accounts show that the toll income fell off in the year 1846, and again in 1848 and 1849, but it has since increased. No aid has been received from the parishes since 1840. The clerks explain that the tolls were collected by the Trustees from the 30th of June 1845, (in consequence of no offer being made on the previous letting,) to the 30th of June 1853. That the reduced income was caused by the opening of railways; and the increase in 1851 and 1854 partially by the opening of collieries. The funds have been expended,—in repairing the roads; in salaries (now reduced to 60*l.* per annum from 1854); law charges, occasionally; interest of debt; improvements; and portions of the principal since 1845.

On the 6th of July last a memorial of the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses of the borough of Leeds, under their common seal, was transmitted to Secretary Sir George Lewis, requesting that provision might be made in the Turnpike Acts Continuance Bill for compelling the Trustees of this road to apply to Parliament for a renewal of the term of their local Act, and by such means to enable the memorialists to adduce evidence confirmatory of the allegations set forth by them, and to obtain from Parliament the relief sought for. The following statements were set forth in the memorial:—

N.B.—Rate of Interest, 5 per cent. Note.—The "Total Income" and "Total Expenditure" include Incidentals. * Including 325*l.* 4*s.* "Incidental Receipts."

" First. The funds of the Trustees have been to a large extent misapplied upon the " construction of several miles of causeway unauthorized by the recited Act, and the " roads have not been kept in proper repair.

" Second. The road, to the extent of nearly three miles, is situate within the borough " of Leeds, and there are two toll-gates and several side-bars placed upon that portion " of the road, and the imposition of tolls within the borough is injurious to trade, and " obnoxious to the ratepayers, and inconsistent with all modern turnpike legislation, the " tendency of which has been to prevent the imposition of turnpike tolls within borough " limits and the limits of Improvement Acts, and to throw the onus of the repairs of " roads within those limits upon the ratepayers themselves, and which they would " willingly adopt in preference to the present system.

" Third. The rate of interest (five per cent.) paid upon the mortgage debt is unduly " high, and ought to be largely reduced, so as to admit of the formation of a sinking " fund, applicable to the extinction of the debt within a limited and early period, and " the circumstances of the case generally are such as to render the revision thereof " by Parliament on the earliest possible opportunity most expedient for the public " interests."

In acknowledging the receipt of this memorial, it was suggested to the town clerk that the proposals of the corporation should be communicated to the Trustees of the road, in the hope that some amicable arrangements might be made, without the necessity of incurring Parliamentary expenses. The local Act was, however, excepted in the Turnpike Continuance Act of the last session, and suggestions were made to the Trustees to consider as to a reduction of the rate of interest, in conjunction with a settlement of the question raised by the corporation of Leeds as to the removal of the toll-gates from that borough. On the 23rd of August the Trustees passed the following resolution:— " That inasmuch as the mortgage debt upon this road in the year 1845 was 14,094*l.*, and " the Trustees have gradually reduced the same to the sum of 5,300*l.* on the 31st of " December 1859, and also kept the road in repair, they cannot see that the present " mortgagees can be asked to accept a less rate of interest than 5*l.* per cent., or to have " their principal repaid to them."

In answer to inquiries, the clerks stated, in October last, that the estimated cost of repairing that part of the Trust road which is in the borough of Leeds was 1,000*l.* for 1859, and that the estimated amount of toll received at the gates within the borough was 1,800*l.* They also stated that the tolls were let for three years from the 31st of July 1859, at the annual rent of 2,800*l.*, and at the same time the repairs of the road were let to the takers of the tolls for the same period, at the annual sum of 2,000*l.*, from which it appeared that not only the greater part of the income was received within the borough, but that the cost of the portion of road in the borough was half the expense of repairing the entire 15 miles of road. The clerks added, that in a few years the Trust would have been able to pay off the whole debt, and keep the road in repair, without doing injustice to the mortgagees, or bringing any charge upon the three townships of Holbeck, Hunslet, and Beeston, which must be very serious if the toll-gates are removed.

The clerks have since stated, that " the corporation of Leeds have made no application " to the Trustees, directly or indirectly, relative to the removal of toll-gates." They have also stated, that " some of the Trustees are mortgagees, and they thought that " as the income is sufficient to pay 5*l.* per cent. and repair the road, besides paying " annually part of the principal, it would be useless to apply to the creditors to reduce " the rate of interest."

In the present application to Parliament it is proposed to repeal the existing Act, and to obtain other and more effectual powers in lieu thereof, for the term of 21 years.

Clause 4 contains special interpretations of the words " lands," " carriage," " cart " (including steam-engines,) and " flat-wheel."

Clause 5 contains the names of five Trustees only, in addition to the Justices; but the clerks state that these are the names of the Trustees who signed the petition annexed to the Bill, and that a list of names will be inserted in Committee.

Clause 9 describes the road belonging to the Trust. The clerks explain that since the passing of the present Act the turnpike road to Dewsbury, which commences in Meadow

Lane, has been made, and the description in this clause is thought to be better than that in section 2 of the present Act; "but they are identical."

It is proposed by clause 10 to continue the present rates of toll until the 31st of July 1862, after which date the tolls specified in this clause are to be collected. The proposed scale differs considerably both from the scale allowed by the present Act and the tolls now collected. The toll upon each horse, &c. drawing any "cart," if with wheels of less width than 4½ inches, is to be raised to eight pence. The toll proposed on carriages or carts moved by steam or machinery is to be 8*d.* per wheel if flat, and 1*s.* 4*d.* if the wheels be of any other sort. The toll on calves, sheep, &c. are to be 6*d.* per score, instead of 5*d.*, as now collected. The tolls on horses, &c. drawing coal or cinder carts are to be increased, if the wheels are less than 4½ inches in width, to six pence. The toll on coal or cinder carts is to be payable every time of passing and repassing; the other tolls are only payable once a day for passing any time or times,—but omitting the words "except as herein-after mentioned."

Clause 12 allows the tolls to be taken on every change of carriage, whether laden or not. This clause is not contained in the present Act.

Clause 16 allows four full tolls to be taken, as allowed by the present Act; but only three tolls are now collected on the road, and at lower rates at some gates than at others.

Clause 17 is not contained in the present Act. It allows single horse carts to be weighed; and imposes additional tolls if the cart and lading exceed 35 cwt.

Clause 18, allowing half-tolls to be taken in respect to certain articles conveyed in winter, differs from section 18 of the present Act, by altering the 1st of November to the 1st of October.

Clause 19, limiting certain general exemptions from toll, and clause 20, allowing no exemption from toll in respect to any agricultural implement or machine let on hire, are not contained in the present Act.

It is proposed by clause 21 to apply the funds of the Trust as under:—

1st. In paying the expenses of obtaining the Act.

2d. In erecting, providing, and keeping in repair the toll-gates, weighing machines, &c., in paying the salaries "and compensations to be made to officers and "other persons employed by the Trustees," and the costs of management, not exceeding 150*l.* per annum, exclusive of the wages of toll-collectors, law expenses, &c. (The present salaries are 60*l.*)

3rd. In paying the interest at five pounds per cent.,—without proposing any reduction.

4th. In repairing the road, not exceeding in any one year the sum of 2,200*l.* (The repairs have cost less than 2,000*l.* since 1845).

5th. In paying off the mortgage debt, as regulated by clause 22.

Lastly. In paying the expenses of further maintaining, improving, and keeping in repair the road.

Clause 22 regulates the mode of paying off the debt, in sums of 300*l.*

Clause 24, empowering the Trustees to make or repair burr-walls on the sides of the road, and clause 25, for the repair of fences, are not contained in the present Act.

Clause 28 restricts the Trustees from laying out any money in repairing the road or street in any market town,—but such restriction does not extend to prevent the collection of tolls. Section 20 of the present Act refers to the "Town of Leeds" only.

Clause 31 allows the usual term of twenty-one years.

The principal questions to be determined in the case of this Trust are:—The rates of toll, and whether they are to be increased as proposed; the number of toll payments, also whether a second toll should be allowed within a limited distance; the rate of interest to be paid in future on the bonded debt; and the general appropriation of the funds to the repair of the road and the payment of the debt.

No. 6.—KINGSTON AND LEATHERHEAD ROAD.

The local Act for this road, of the 6th of George IV. cap. 46, would have expired with the session of 1847, but its term has been extended by the several Turnpike Acts Continuance Acts until the 1st day of November 1861.

On the 24th of April 1852 a Provisional Order was granted by the Secretary of State to reduce the rate of interest upon this Trust to 3*l.* per cent. on a debt of 380*l.*, and to 2*l.* 10*s.* per cent. on the remaining debt, and to extinguish the whole of the arrears of interest upon such debts. Notwithstanding this reduction in the rate of interest, and the extinguishment of about 14,000*l.* arrears of interest, the funds of the Trust have not been sufficient for paying off any part of the principal debt. In consequence of new arrangements being required for the payment of the Trust debt, and for a settlement of a question as to the tolls collected at a new gate near Leatherhead, the local Act was excepted in the schedule of the Turnpike Continuance Act of the last session, and steps were taken to effect amicable arrangements between all the parties interested, but which the Trustees believe cannot be accomplished without the present application to Parliament.

The road of this Trust is about 7 miles 2 furlongs 127 yards in length, of which the portion in Leatherhead parish is 2 miles 2 furlongs 39 yards, and the portion in Kingston is 2 miles 3 furlongs 6 yards, in length. No portion of the road is repaired by the parishes. There are three toll-bars, the Barnett Wood Bar, about 300 yards from the Woodbridge Gate, which clear each other; and the Southborough Gate, about 5 miles from Woodbridge Gate. The two tolls paid on the road are at the full rates allowed by the local Act, but the Trustees have resolved to reduce the tolls, from the 25th of February 1861, on horses drawing coaches, chaises, &c., from 4½*d.* to 3*d.* each.

The debt upon this road amounts to 10,301*l.* 5*s.*, which now bears interest at 1*l.* 10*s.* per cent. under a second Provisional Order granted on the 16th of November last.

The accounts show that the toll receipts have varied in amount, and have of late years been reduced. No aid has been received from the parishes since the abolition of statute duty. The funds have been expended—in repairing the road; in salary to the surveyor; law charges, which includes allowance to the clerk; and interest of debt. The reduction in the toll-income for 1859 is thus explained by the clerk,—a lessee took the tolls at 45*l.* 10*s.* 8*d.* per month, but finding the tolls did not pay him, refused to complete his contract and to obtain sureties. The Trustees thereupon, finding he was in insolvent circumstances, resumed possession of the tolls, on his paying 5*l.* towards the expenses of letting, and re-let the tolls at 33*l.* 15*s.* per month.

In March 1860 a memorial was presented to Secretary Sir George Lewis, from the inhabitants of Leatherhead and its neighbourhood respecting this road, and having been referred to the Trustees to consider whether any relief might be afforded, either in the manner proposed in the memorial or by any other arrangement, the Trustees returned a few marginal remarks to such memorial as under:—

> "To the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for the Home Department.
> "The humble petition of the undersigned owners or occupiers of property or residents in the parish of Leatherhead, or the neighbourhood thereof, in the county of Surrey,
> "SHOWETH,

> "That your petitioners are respectively owners or occupiers of property, or residents in Leatherhead or the neighbourhood thereof, and have been accustomed to pass and repass along the turnpike road called the "Leatherhead and Kingston Turnpike," from the village of Leatherhead to the town of Kingston, between which places were two turnpike gates, the one a mile from the Swan Inn at Leatherhead, and the other about two miles from the town of Kingston, and that the gate at present one mile from Leatherhead had been removed from its original position of two miles distance.
> "That your petitioners have now to complain of a great injustice inflicted on them by the Trustees of the said road having

The Swan is in the centre of the village.

The Kingston Gate is only half a mile from the town of Kingston as now constituted.

The removal took place thirty years ago.

recently erected a new toll-gate in the village of Leatherhead within half a mile of the centre thereof, at which new gate a full toll of fourpence halfpenny for every horse and carriage is levied for passing on this short distance of road, thus not only obstructing the necessary intercourse of the inhabitants on each side of the gate, but shutting out the residents on both sides thereof from the free use and enjoyment of the London, Brighton, and South Coast and Pimlico Railway, and the London and South Western Railway.

A new gate but no additional toll; this distance is 5 furlongs.

Houses beyond are very few and very small.

The same argument might be used by every person traversing the turnpike road to a railway station and having to pay tolls.

The toll is only confined to those persons who ride or drive the short distance between the village of Leatherhead and the station.

5 furlongs.

"That your petitioners consider they ought to be exempt from the annoyance of a turnpike gate placed within so short a distance of the centre of the village, and that they ought not to be called upon to pay for keeping in repair the whole length of road (which the imposition of this new gate virtually causes) when there is only two miles of road in the parish, and they use only half a mile of it in going to the Leatherhead Railway Station.

"That your petitioners would further beg your attention to the fact that an offer has been made by the parish of Leatherhead to the Trustees to take the repairs of the road in their own hands if they would remove the gate to the boundary of the parish, but they refused to entertain it.

"Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that measures may be immediately taken to remove the new and objectionable gate.

"And your petitioners will ever pray, &c."

At the same date, March 16th, 1860, the clerk transmitted a statement, from which the following observations are extracted:—

"From various causes, but principally (a year ago) from the opening of the Leather-
"head Railway, the diminution of traffic on that part of the road on which the toll-
"gates were placed was so considerable and consequently the revenue was so far "diminished as to be inadequate to the maintenance of the road and the payment of the "reduced rate of interest, to say nothing of that most desirable object, the gradual "reduction of the mortgage debt itself, as provided for by the Acts 13 & 14 Vict.
"c. 79. and 12 & 13 Vict. c. 87.

"To add to the difficulties of the Trust, the very greatly increased traffic on the "two thirds of a mile of road between the Swan Inn at Leatherhead and the station "has caused a proportionate increase of wear and tear, seriously affecting the state of "the road, but no addition whatsoever to the receipts, as the entrance to the station,
"though immediately adjoining the toll-gate, was so constructed as to free the carriages,
"&c. frequenting it from any payment of toll whatever. Under these circumstances
"the Trustees (as empowered by the Act) decided upon moving the toll-gate about "200 yards nearer to the town of Leatherhead, so as to include those who go to the "station in vehicles of any description or on horseback; by which means the Trustees "expect to be enabled to pay the reduced interest of 2½ per cent. in full, as well as to "continue properly to maintain the road, as also progressively to reduce the mortgage "debt.

"Doubtless the altered position of the toll-gate is an 'annoyance' to such of the "memorialists as employ vehicles of any description to take them to or from the station
"(many of whom, as the Trustees imagine, are inhabitants of other parishes) as well as "to the owners of omnibuses, but it seemed to be a question between bankruptcy and "moving the gate, and the Trustees have therefore felt obliged, in justice to the bond"holders, to adopt the latter mode of proceeding.

"The inhabitants of Leatherhead itself, with the exception of a few individuals, are "(the Trustees imagine) very little affected by it, nor have the residents of neigh"bouring parishes much ground of complaint, since the toll in question is only one-half "of the entire toll levied between Leatherhead and Kingston. It is true that the new "gate prevents persons escaping a toll-gate on the Horsham Trust (as some were in the "habit of doing by passing along a back lane adjoining it), but surely this cannot be "made a matter of complaint. No doubt, indeed, a good road having been made "through the parish of Leatherhead (a distance of nearly three miles), at the cost of "the mortgagees, the parish would now be very willing to agree to keep it up, if freed

" from all toll (supposing indeed there existed any binding power enabling them to do " so); but as this would involve an entire abandonment of the mortgage debt, the " Trustees have not felt authorized to entertain it."

He also states that at the last meeting of the Trustees a memorial was presented to them (signed by 56 persons), representing "that the road from Leatherhead to the " Leatherhead railway station is greatly out of repair, and is in wet weather covered " with mud, and frequently in parts by water; and that a footpath along the same road " is much needed, both for the safety and for the convenience of foot-passengers. The " undersigned therefore beg the Trustees to take such means within their power for " effectuating the repairs and constructing the path required, as to them shall seem " meet." The clerk however intimated that this memorial appeared to be somewhat inconsistent with the memorial addressed to the Home Secretary complaining of the tolls, which are the only means by which the Trustees can effect the object of the memorialists.

At a meeting of the Trustees on the 28th of August last a deputation of the inhabitants of Leatherhead attended, and a proposal was suggested, whether, if the Trustees removed the toll-gate from between the town of Leatherhead and the railway the parishioners would take upon themselves the repairs of the road between those points, or whether if the tolls were reduced to 3*d.* and so on, at all the gates, and the interest further reduced, the inhabitants would be satisfied. This proposal was considered at a Vestry meeting on the 13th of September, when it was resolved:—" That while the " Vestry could not take upon itself simply the repair of the road between the town and " the railway, if the Trustees removed the intervening gates, it was nevertheless willing " to undertake the repairs of the whole of the road lying within the limits of the " parish provided that no toll-gates be maintained within these limits. As to the " reduction of the tolls upon the gates, the Vestry is of opinion that nothing less than " the actual removal will be satisfactory to the parishioners and the neighbourhood."

On the 25th of September last the Trustees resolved to take steps to obtain the creditors' assents to reduce the rates of interest to 1*l.* 10*s.* per cent., and to reduce the rates of toll from 4*d.* and 4½*d.* to 3*d.*

On the 6th of November last, the Trustees having received the required consents of the creditors, applied for a Provisional Order to reduce the rate of interest to 1*l.* 10*s.* per cent., and resolved to reduce the tolls under the following order:—" That the tolls " granted by the said Act shall, from and after twelve o'clock at noon on the 1st day of " January 1861, be lessened and reduced in the following manner; that is to say, for " every horse or beast of draught drawing any coach, chariot, chaise, berlin, landau, " calash, hearse, caravan, or pleasure carriage, from the sum of 4½*d.* to be reduced to the " sum of 3*d.*; for every horse or other beast of draught drawing any cart or any such " like carriage, with wheels of the breadth of from four inches and an half to nine inches " and upwards in the fellies thereof, from the sum of 4*d.* to be reduced to the sum of " 3*d.*; for every horse or beast of draught drawing any waggon, wain, or other such like " carriage, with wheels of less breadth than four inches and an half in the fellies thereof, " from the sum of 4½*d.* to the sum of 3*d.*"

The clerk at the same time explained that to the end of the year 1859 the sum of 138*l.* 10*s.* 5*d.*, unpaid interest, was unclaimed; but added that the Trustees had lately made strenuous efforts to ascertain the representatives of deceased mortgagees and induce them to register their securities, and they hoped within a short time to have all the mortgage titles registered and the unclaimed interest paid.

As these arrangements appeared reasonable to Secretary Sir George Lewis, both in considering the interests of the creditors and the public, he granted a Provisional Order on the 16th of November last to reduce the rates of interest, and consented to propose a continuance of the local Act by the Government Bill of the next session, and thereby prevent the costs of an application for a renewal of the local Act.

Notwithstanding these arrangements the Trustees proceeded with their application for a new Act, and at a meeting on the 15th of January last, it was resolved, in reply to the Home Secretary's inquiries on this subject:—" That the clerk do state in reply to such " letter that, notwithstanding the various consents of the mortgagees which had been " obtained, not only for a reduction of interest but likewise of the tolls, it was " extremely doubtful whether such arrangement as was contemplated could be effec- " tually carried out, by reason that the Trustees had no power under the present Acts to

"levy tolls at the reduced rate and they might involve themselves in serious legal proceedings." In forwarding this resolution the clerk states, that "the Trustees were "most anxious to have fully carried out the arrangements made by them for the reduction of the tolls, and thereby meet the wishes (if possible) of all parties; however, "when the necessary steps were completed for such reduction, it was intimated to the "Trustees that the order made by the Trustees on the 6th November 1860 was bad, "inasmuch as they had no power under their local Act, or the 3 Geo. 4. c. 126, to "reduce the tolls, and fearing from the feeling of some parties that proceedings might "be taken against them if the tolls were levied on the reduced scale under the said "order, and thereby the Trust put to a great and useless expense, they determined to "take the opinion of counsel on the subject." A copy of this opinion has since been forwarded as follows:—

"I cannot recommend the Trustees to attempt to levy reduced tolls, as proposed. "There is no power in their local Act to reduce the tolls, and that power to do so must "depend upon the 43rd and 44th sections of the general Highway (Turnpike) Act, "3 George IV. cap. 126. Now, by the 44th section, all reductions of toll are void which "are not made according to the provisions of that section, which provides that reduction "shall be proportionate according to the breadth of the fellies of the wheels, beginning "with the breadth of six inches, and increasing or diminishing the tolls according as the "fellies are more or less than six inches in breadth. Now, by the local Act there is not, "like in the general Act, any difference of toll between fellies of more than four and a "half inches and less than six inches, and fellies above six inches, so that the provisions "of the 44th section do not literally apply to the case in question, and it is very doubtful "whether such a liberal construction could be given to the section as to make it embrace "this case at all. Under the circumstances it would be too hazardous for the Trustees "to attempt to levy reduced tolls in the absence of express legal decision on the point.

"G. Jessel,
"Lincoln's Inn, 14th January 1861."

It appears that the full tolls were, however, continued from the 1st of January last; and at a meeting held on the 19th of February the Trustees ordered, "that the tolls granted "by the said Act shall from and after the hour of one o'clock in the morning of the "25th day of February instant be lessened and reduced in the following manner, that is "to say, for every horse or beast of draught drawing any coach, chariot, chaise, berlin, "landau, calash, hearse, caravan, or pleasure carriage, from the sum of 4½*d.* to be "reduced to the sum of 3*d.*" Such reduction in the rate of tolls on one class of traffic only is, however, very unusual. The clerk was also requested to state, "whether the "objections made to the reductions in the rate of tolls by order of the Trustees on "the 6th of November last would have applied if an order had been made to reduce the "tolls upon all horses, &c. to two-thirds the full amount allowed by the Act?" In reply, the clerk enclosed a copy of the opinion of counsel given above.

In the present application to Parliament it is proposed to repeal the existing Act, and to obtain other provisions in lieu thereof for a term of 21 years.

In clause 2 the words "cart and waggon" are to include "steam engines," and the word "passing" is to mean also "re-passing."

Clause 12 continues the Trust debts, &c.—without the usual exception for such debts or liabilities as may be reduced, altered, or extinguished by this Act.

Clause 15 appoints the first meeting of the Trustees "on the fifth Tuesday after the "commencement of this Act."

Clause 18 continues the present tolls until the end of the year 1861; and on and after the 1st of January 1862 the "ordinary tolls" specified in clause 19 are proposed. These tolls are:—For every horse drawing any carriage 3*d.* instead of 4½*d.*; for every horse drawing any cart or waggon 3*d.* or 3½*d.* instead of 4*d.* or 4½*d.* The tolls on horses not drawing, of 1½*d.*, and on oxen, sheep, &c. are not proposed to be reduced. New tolls are added, "for every wheel of any steam carriage, one shilling;" and "for every carriage, "cart, or waggon drawn or propelled by any steam carriage, one shilling." (Is it necessary to continue the present tolls—reduced only on horses drawing coaches, chaises, &c. —until the end of the present year?)

Clause 21 allows in certain cases the tolls to be taken more than once a day,—including carriages changed, steam carriage, or cart, &c. drawn or propelled by a steam carriage, &c.

Clause 23 disallows exemption from toll in respect to horses drawing carts, &c. laden with manufactured manure, or drawing any agricultural machine or implement let on hire, or steam carriages used for conveying manure, &c.

It is proposed by clause 25 to apply the funds of this Trust as under :—

1st. In paying the expenses of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In paying salaries, expenses of repairing, altering, and lighting toll-gates, and the costs of management, not exceeding 100*l.* a year, exclusive of payments to toll collectors, costs of removing and erecting toll-gates, law charges, &c.

3rd. In paying interest at 1*l.* 10*s.* per cent. on the debt of 10,301*l.* 5*s.* (as at present fixed by a Provisional Order, dated 16th November 1860).

4th. In paying off the principal debt,—as regulated by clause 29.

5th. In repairing and improving the road.

By this clause it is proposed to allow no part of the Trust funds to be applied in repairing the road until after the payment of the bonded debt; but at present the road is repaired by the Trustees without parish aid. Respecting this clause the clerk states: —"It appears to the Trustees to be their obvious duty to apply under clause 25 for "such a financial arrangement as may to some extent protect the mortgage creditors "from the loss of their principal, in addition to the serious reduction in interest already "assented to; but on this point the Trustees are willing to place themselves in the hands "of the Committee."

The schedule to the new Bill contains a list of the mortgage debts, some of which are unclaimed; and in answer to an inquiry, why provision is not made in the Bill to extinguish or otherwise deal with the unclaimed debts and the interest thereon? the clerk states, that "the Trustees did not conceive it within their province to introduce into a "Bill promoted by themselves any provision the effect of which would be to confiscate "legitimate though unclaimed charges upon the Trust, and hence the omission to "which the question refers." It appears from a statement made last year that debts amounting to 809*l.* 5*s.* were unclaimed; that in the case of J. Dewdney, executor of J. Dewdney, 100*l.*, M. Mills' executors 100*l.*, and J. Dewdney's executors 100*l.* (not named in the schedule), no interest had been paid since the Provisional Order in 1852, but a claim had been made for the debts standing in the name of J. Dewdney, which was under consideration; that interest had not been paid or claimed beyond December 1854 on a debt of 74*l.* 5*s.* in the name of Vardon, and on 135*l.* in the name of George Moss' executors; and that claims had been made, and were under consideration, in respect to the interest due from December 1854 on the sum of 200*l.* in the name of J. W. Bolton, and on 100*l.* in the name of executors of Lord Rothes.

There are no clauses in the new Bill to extinguish the present arrears of interest; to prevent the interest from accruing until the costs of the Act are defrayed; to restrict the Trustees from collecting tolls or expending the Trust funds in towns; and to prevent a second toll payment within a limited distance.

The principal points to be determined in this case are:—as to the continuance or removal of the toll-gate near Leatherhead;—the rates of toll to be allowed, and under what regulations;—the rate of interest in future;—and the general apportionment of the Trust funds,—in management, repair of road, and reduction of the principal debt.

No. 7.—GAINSBURGH AND RETFORD ROADS.

The local Act for this road, of the 11th of George IV. cap. 25, was passed in the year 1830, for a term which will not expire until the end of the session next after April 1861.

The road belonging to this Trust is 13 miles and 109 yards in length. From the west end of Gainsburgh Bridge to Beckingham Toll-bar is 2 miles. At this point the road divides, and the distance from Beckingham Bar to Gringley is about 3 miles, and in another direction to Retford the distance is about 8 miles. No portion of the road is in a town, properly so called, but an extent of about two miles lies in various villages and hamlets or collection of houses. The several parishes contribute to the road repairs from the highway rates to the total amount of about 95*l.* yearly. (The accounts show much larger sums contributed by the parishes each year previously to 1859.)

At Beckingham Toll-bar, where the road to Gringley branches off, there is a side-gate. There are also on the Retford Road the Moorgate Bar and Welham Bar, one mile apart, and the Welham Side-bar, which is half a mile from the Welham Gate, and 6½ miles from the Beckingham Gates, which are not cleared by payments of toll at any other gate. The full rates of toll are collected at the several gates, three tolls being allowed by section 8 of the local Act.

The debt upon this Trust in 1844 amounted to 10,800*l.*, but in 1853 (five payments having been made in reduction) to 9,333*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* The rate of interest was originally 5 per cent., until 1856, when the creditors reduced it to 4 per cent. In 1858, and two following years, the debt was reduced 500*l.* by the payment of compositions of 452*l.* 10*s.*, and the debt now due is 8,833*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, as mentioned in the new Bill.

The accounts show that the toll-income has fallen off, especially since the year 1851, but very considerable aid has been received from the parishes under orders from the justices. The funds have been expended, in repairing the roads; in salaries (20*l.* to the clerks only, of late years); small sums for law charges; interest of debt; small sums for improvements; and portions of the principal. Upon this Trust the repairs of the road are let by contract to the lessee of the tolls at the rate of 15*l.* per mile. This plan has been adopted since the year 1848, the leases being for terms of three years, and this has been deemed by the Trustees a most economical and beneficial arrangement, and one which they feel most desirous to continue. When the Trustees commenced this system of contract in 1848, they sold the plant and working materials and tools, which realized 238*l.* 19*s.* 2*d.*, and increased the "incidental receipts" in that year. Respecting the reduction in the toll-income the clerks state, that in 1849 the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Railway Company made a line of railway almost parallel with the road. In 1852, the line between Retford and Gainsburgh was in full working operation, and the through traffic on the road almost entirely ceased. The tolls have in consequence gradually decreased, but no further diminution is expected.

The Trustees of this road resolved, on the 3rd of December last, to apply for a new local Act; and on the 10th of December, in answer to inquiries, the clerks transmitted to the Home Secretary a statement to the following effect:—That the rate of interest on the debt was originally 5 per cent., and previously to the passing of the present Act the interest was in arrear, but by a more rigid economy the arrears were paid off, and a small portion of the principal; that about the year 1849 the income of the Trust fell off, in consequence of the opening of the railway between Retford and Gainsburgh, and after repeated applications to the creditors, and much difficulty, the rate of interest was reduced to 4*l.* per cent., and portions of the debt were paid off; that the debt is now reduced to 8,833*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*; the toll-income is 540*l.*; the parishes contribute 90*l.*, and the excess of income over expenditure is about 100*l.* a year; that many of the mortgagees are persons of limited incomes, and only two hold any large number of mortgages, and they have generally refused to consent to any further reduction in the rate of interest; that the Trustees, in regard to the interests of all parties and of the public, apply for a renewal of the Act, to preserve the rights of the mortgagees, and at the same time, by reducing the rate of interest, to increase the available funds for the reduction of the debt; that the Trustees propose to discontinue the payment of 24*l.* a year to Lord Middleton for rent of land, which is nearly unproductive to the Trust, and that the land should revert to Lord Middleton, which would not be an injustice to his lordship, considering the large amount which has been paid (1,000*l.* or upwards), and the great benefit his estate has derived from the road which passes through it; that the Trustees wish to continue to contract for the repair of the road for a term of years; and they hope, if the application to Parliament be successful, to be able to set apart 200*l.* a year towards the reduction of the Trust debts.

In reply to this statement the Home Secretary suggested that the creditors should be consulted on the subject of an application to Parliament, or with the view of obtaining a Provisional Order to reduce the rate of interest; at the same time some further information was requested respecting the payments made to Lord Middleton.

On the 17th of December last the clerks stated, that many of the mortgagees attended a meeting of the Trustees, and expressed their views in favour of an application for renewing the Act. It was, however, understood, that unless a reduction in the rate of interest was considered necessary on applying for the Act, the creditors, were not disposed to consent voluntarily to any abatement. The explanation of the payment to Lord Middleton was as follows:—

" A portion of the road leading from Beckingham Toll-bar to Gainsbro', which passes " through his Lordship's estate, in the parish of Saundby, has been formed by means of " an embankment, extending perhaps fully a mile. The earth to form such embank- " ment, it is believed, was obtained in great measure from the adjoining land of Lord " Middleton's; and by means of the excavation of such earth a deep cutting or delph " was made, running parallel with the raised portion of the road, which for many years " afterwards continued filled with water; but by reason of improved drainage and other " causes it has for the most part for some years been left dry, so that in fact the land " has become covered with herbage, and is useful as pasture land to some extent, and is " so used. For these reasons, and considering how large a sum Lord Middleton has " received from the Trust during a period extending over a great number of years, and " also considering the great benefit his estate has derived from the road, it is thought by " some of the Trustees that the payment in future may fairly be discontinued, and the " land allowed to revert. There is no evidence of the original agreement between Lord " Middleton and the Trustees when the road was formed, nor is there now in existence " any trace of such."

In the present application to Parliament it is proposed to repeal the existing local Act, and to obtain other and more effectual powers in lieu thereof, for the term of 21 years.

Clause 1 repeals the present Act " upon the fourth Wednesday next after the passing " of this Act."

Clause 5 transfers the Trust property to the new Trustees, and continues the Trust liabilities, " except such of them as are by this Act extinguished," omitting the usual words,—altered or varied.

Clause 9 continues the present rates of toll until the 31st of December 1861.

Clause 10 specifies the tolls which may be taken on and after the last-mentioned date by the Trustees, or their collectors or lessees, " or any present or future mortgagee or " mortgagees, when in actual possession." The rates of toll proposed in this clause are the same as those named in the present Act, section 6; except that on carriages moved by steam or machinery a toll is to be charged of 1*s.* per wheel, instead of 2*s.* 6*d.* for each carriage.

Clause 13 allows three full tolls to be taken, as at present authorized by section 8. (No restriction is, however, placed as to the distance within which a second toll cannot be taken.)

Clause 17, imposing tolls to be taken on every change of waggon, &c. if laden, is not contained in the present Act.

It is proposed by clause 19 to apply the funds of the Trust as under:—

1st. In paying the expenses of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In defraying the expenses of management, including repairs of toll-houses, &c., salaries, and incidental expenses, not exceeding 50*l.* a year, exclusive of the wages of toll collectors, law charges, &c.

3rd. In paying interest at the rate of three pounds per cent. (The present rate is 4*l.* per cent.)

4th. In repairing the roads; but not to exceed in any one year the sum of 100*l.*
5th. In paying off the principal debt, as regulated by clause 21.

This clause differs from the 15th section of the present Act, by limiting the expenses of repairing the road to 100*l.* a year, and allowing no further sum after the payment of the whole debt. As this clause stands there would be but a small surplus for paying off the mortgage debt.

Clause 20 allows a mortgagee to seize the toll-gates, if the interest is not paid within one month after it shall become due.

Clause 21 regulates the mode of paying off the debts,—in sums of 100*l.*, which amount is small compared with the whole bonded debt.

Clause 23 appears to be copied from the present Act; but the clerks state that "no "separate tolls are collected on the branch road (to Gringley), nor is any separate debt "secured upon it, the whole road being treated as one, and known as the 'Retford and "Gainsburgh Turnpike Road.'"

Section 13 of the present Act, restricting the Trustees from collecting or expending any of the tolls within the towns of East Retford and Gainsburgh, is omitted from the new Bill; and the clerk explains, that "this section was struck out on settling the draft new "Bill as superfluous, inasmuch as no part of the road is in either of the towns of East "Retford or Gainsburgh, the boundaries of the road being the respective entrances to "those towns."

There are no clauses in the new Bill (1) to prevent the interest from accruing until the costs of the new Act are defrayed; (2) to prevent a second toll payment within a limited number of miles; and (3) to abolish or otherwise arrange the payments to Lord Middleton.

The principal subjects for consideration in this case are,—the rates of toll, and the number of payments; the rate of interest to be paid in future; and the general apportionment of the funds to the repair of the road and the payment of the principal.

RELATING TO THE

Whitehall, 4*th March* 1861.

No. 8.—TIVERTON ROADS.

The local Act for these roads, of the 11th of George IV. cap. 97, repealed the previous Acts of the 51st and 53rd of George III., and granted a term of 31 years, which will not expire until the end of the session next after June 1861.

The principal objects of this application to Parliament are set forth in the resolution passed unanimously at a meeting of the Trustees on the 4th of September last, as follows:—

"That inasmuch as the revenues of this Trust are not sufficient to pay the interest "on the mortgage debt of this Trust and keep the roads in repair, and seeing the "difficulties in which the Trust is placed by reason of the inadequacy of its funds, and "that a reduction of such interest which the Trustees apprehend a new Act would "provide for, should be settled as soon as possible, and to set at rest a question which "has been raised as to the construction of the application clause of the existing Act of "this Trust, and inasmuch also as the term of the existing Act will expire at the end "of the session of Parliament after 1861, it is expedient that application should be "made to Parliament for an Act to repeal the present Act, and extend or renew the "term, and to settle the affairs and financial arrangements of the Trust, and place them "on a satisfactory footing."

The roads belonging to this Trust are nearly 88 miles in length, and comprise the following lines, as described in clause 9 of the new Bill:—

Lines of Road.	Miles.	Furlongs.	Poles.
1. From Lowman Bridge, Tiverton, to the Workhouse in Silverton	6	3	6
2. From Lowman Bridge, Tiverton, to Sampford Arundell	11	1	5
3. From the Way-post in Leonard Moor to Cullompton	4	7	3

16. From Penny Park to Noman's Land	8	0	0
Total length of road	87	7	14

No portions of the above roads are in a town; but the road No. 15 appears to be at a few miles distant from the other roads of the Trust. On the several lines of road the number of toll-gates or bars and the number of toll-payments are as under:—

On No. 1. Two gates, but only one toll-payment.
2. Three gates, and two payments,—10 miles apart.
3. Only one gate.
4. Two gates, but only one payment.
5. There is no toll gate or bar on this road.
6. Three gates and two payments,—9 miles apart.
7. Two gates, but only one payment.
8. Only one gate.
9. Two gates, but only one payment.
10. Only one gate.
11. Three gates, but only one payment, which frees gates on No. 9.
12. Only the Duvale bars, which free the gates on No. 9 and No. 11.
13. Only one gate.
14. There is no gate upon this road.
15. Only one gate, which frees no other gate or bar.
16. Three gates and a chain, but only one payment.

"And, generally, the gates and bars on the road No. 1, and the Horsden gate on No. 2, "and the gates and bars on the roads Nos. 3 and 4, and the Ashley Gate on No. 6, and "the gates and bars on the several roads Nos. 7, 8, 9, 10, and 13, free each other." The rates of tolls collected are those allowed by the local Act, sections 6 and 7, except as follows:—The toll in section 7 on horses, &c. more than three drawing any waggon, &c. (except a timber carriage) are reduced from 6*d.*, 7½*d.*, and 9*d.*, to 4*d.*, 5*d.*, and 6*d.*; a similar reduction is made on horses, &c., if more than three, drawing any cart, &c. with two wheels (except timber carriage); the toll on horses, &c., if more than three, drawing any timber carriage upon three or four wheels, are reduced from 8*d.*, 9½*d.*, and 11*d.* to 6*d.*, 7*d.*, and 8*d.*; and a similar reduction is made on horses, &c. if more than three, drawing any timber carriage with two wheels.

The accounts show that the toll-income was greatly reduced on the main roads in 1844 and subsequent years, and on the new line from 1845; and the clerk explains, that these reductions were caused by the opening of the Bristol and Exeter Railway; that the line monopolised a great portion of the traffic; from 16 to 18 stage coaches passed over the Trust roads through Tiverton daily, but since its opening every coach has ceased to run; the use of private carriages, especially from Tiverton to Exeter, has also greatly diminished. The funds have been aided by parish contributions since the year 1847 on the main line, and in 1859 on the new line. These sums are not paid voluntarily, but are received under orders of justices. The clerk says, "the applications "in the last year were in fact contested by the parishes on the ground that the "estimated receipts and expenditure for the year included an amount for arrears of "interest; and in one division the parish surveyors succeeded in getting the justices to "refuse the orders." The funds of the Trust have been expended on the main lines, in repairing the roads, with parish aid; salaries, of reduced amounts since 1848; law charges; and interest of debt. On the new line of road the funds have been expended, in repairing the road; salary of surveyor; law charges; and interest of debt; and improvements (for a new toll-house, &c.) in 1844. The large law charges in both accounts include the costs of preparing deeds-poll, &c.

It will be observed that in the accounts for the year 1846 the sum of 903*l.* was transferred from the main road to the new road, under the following circumstances, as explained by the clerk:—"For 6 or 7 years after the new road was made the tolls "arising therefrom had been let with certain of the tolls on the old roads, and in "making up the Trust accounts for such years the rent was apportioned and carried "to the credit of the respective accounts, but doubts having at length arisen as to "whether the amount so carried to the credit of the new road account was a fair "proportion in regard to that road, a committee was appointed to investigate the "matter, and report thereon. The committee so appointed accordingly fully investi- "gated the Trust accounts, and found that the amount from time to time carried to "the credit of the new road account was considerably less than it ought to have been, "and finally reported as to the total sum which ought therefore to be carried to the "credit of the new Western Road; and at a meeting of the Trustees held at the "Guildhall in Tiverton, on the 14th September 1846, it was ordered that such amount "should be paid by the old Trust to the new Trust."

In the accounts inserted in this report the amount of the Tiverton paving tolls collected in or around Tiverton, rented by the Trustees, and paid over to the town Commissioners, is altogether omitted.

The clerk states that creditors owning the sum of 29,150*l.* of debt on the main road, and of 5,444*l.* of debt on the new road—total amount 34,594*l.*—have assented to the resolution of the 4th of September last for an application to obtain a new local Act.

In the present application to Parliament it is proposed to repeal the existing Act, and to make further and more effectual provision for the management of these roads for a term of thirty-one (in lieu of 21) years.

The preamble of the new Bill sets forth that it is expedient to charge the debts (now separately secured) on the tolls of the whole of the roads, and to amalgamate the revenues of the said roads.

The roads of this Trust are described in clause 9, of which the length of each has already been stated. The clerk states that no portion of the road was intended to be omitted from the new Bill, but in its preparation some confusion arose in consequence of the variation in old and modern names and descriptions, and therefore some slight alterations will have to be made as to the termini, &c. in Committee. (It may also be a question whether some portions of road, especially the double lines, No. 13 and 14, may not with advantage be excluded from the Trust.)

N.B.—Rate of Interest, 5 per cent.
* Including 903*l.* received from main trust.

Note.—The "Total Income" and "Total Expenditure" include Incidentals.
† For new toll-house, and interest on the cost.
‡ Including additions for land and other debts.

Clause 10 continues the present rates of toll until the end of the year 1861, after which date the tolls specified in clause 11 may be taken. By this clause uniform tolls are proposed on all the roads, and generally of the same or lower amounts than are at present collected; with a toll of 1*s.* per wheel on every carriage drawn or propelled by steam or machinery, instead of the present tolls chargeable according to the weight of carriage and loading.

Clause 13 allows two full tolls on three of the roads, and one toll upon all the other roads. But the two tolls, as at present allowed by section 11, "on the road from Tiverton to the "one mile post from the city of Exeter, near Mary Pole Head," refer to one of the roads leading from the town of Tiverton and the detached road (No. 15). (The payment of certain tolls allowed to clear certain other tolls under section 12 of the present Act appears to be discontinued.)

Clause 18 allows tolls to be taken upon lime for the improvement of land,—without the limitation allowed by section 9 of the present Act.

Clause 20 charges the whole mortgage debt upon the whole tolls of the Trust, in lieu of the present arrangement, by which the mortgages in regard to the old and the new roads are distinct.

Clause 21 extinguishes the existing arrears of interest on the old and the new roads.

It is proposed by clause 22 to apply the funds of the amalgamated Trust as under:—

1st. In paying the expenses of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In paying the salaries of officers, &c., repairs of toll-houses, and costs of management, not exceeding the sum of 360*l.* in any one year, exclusive of payments to toll-collectors, law charges, &c., and "the expenses of new mortgages to be made "as herein-after provided."

3rd. In paying interest at the rate of three pounds per cent. (By the present Act section 17, interest at 2*l.* is allowed on the debt of the new road, previously to the repair of such road.)

4th. In setting aside, for paying off the mortgage debt, a sum equal to 15*l.* per cent. on the tolls.

Lastly. In repairing and improving the roads.

By the above application of the funds, would 15 per cent. on the tolls be a sufficient sum for the discharge of the mortgage debt, and would the surplus be more than sufficient for repairing the roads? If so, in what manner would it be appropriated under this clause?

Clause 23 allows new mortgages to be granted in lieu of the present mortgages,—at the expense of the Trust. Have not large sums been expended under this head in former years; and is it not usual for mortgagees who may require new bonds to be charged with the expenses?

Clause 25 allows only one month for the payment of interest, after it becomes due, before the toll-gates can be seized.

Clause 27 continues to authorize the Trustees to arrange with the Tiverton Improvement Commissioners for farming the town tolls.

Clause 28 continues the power to arrange with the Trustees of the Exeter Roads.

Clause 29 continues the provisions of section 27 of the present Act.

Clause 30 relates to towns—but differs from section 21 of the existing Act, wherein several towns are named.

Clause 32 allows a new term of thirty-one years, instead of the usual term of 21 years.

There is no schedule of the debts annexed to the Bill. Neither are any clauses inserted to prevent the interest from accruing until the costs of the Act are paid, nor to prevent a second toll being taken at any gate on any line of the roads within a specified distance. The clerk states that the only unclaimed debt is the sum of 100*l.*, for which a deeds poll was originally granted to the late Lord Rolle, upon which no interest has been paid for 25 years,—but no provision is made respecting this debt.

In this case the chief questions to be determined are:—The rates of toll, and the number of payments?—the rate of interest, and shall it be of equal amount on the debts of the old and new road? Shall the debts and revenues of the two roads be consolidated, as proposed? And in what proportions shall the funds be applied,—to the costs of management, the payment of interest, the repair of the roads, and the payment of the mortgage debt?

No. 9.—OLDHAM AND RIPPONDEN ROADS.

The local Act for these roads, of the 10th of George IV. cap. 89., repealed the previous Act of the 52nd of George III. cap. 59. and granted a new term, which would have expired at the end of the session next after the 22nd of May 1860, but it has been extended by the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act until the 1st of November 1861.

The roads belonging to this Trust are of the following lengths:—

	Miles.	Furlongs.	Yards.
The main line from Oldham to Ripponden - -	12	0	21
Branch line from Denshaw to Dobcross - -	3	1	168
Branch line from Grains to Delph - - -	1	5	37
Total length - Miles	16	7	6

All the above roads, except the county-bridge lengths, which are included, are repaired by the respective parishes or townships. On the main line there are four toll-gates, at the following distances from each other: (1) Watersheadings Gate; (2) Grains Gate, distant 1 mile 7 furlongs; (3) Darby Gate, distant 6 miles 6 furlongs; and (4) Slitheroe Gate, distant 2 miles 1 furlong 74 yards. On the Denshaw to Dobcross Branch Road, two gates, 6 furlongs 121 yards apart; and on the Delph Branch a gate near the Grains Gate, which it frees, but no other gates free each other. The local Act allows six tolls to be taken, but nearly 7 miles of road therein authorized were not made, and are referred to in the preamble of the new Bill, which recites that "it is expedient "that the power to make the same should be relinquished." The full rates of toll allowed by the local Act are levied. About 2 miles and 764 yards of road are within the borough of Oldham, and the Watersheadings Gate is within the Borough, at 1 mile 3 furlongs and 155 yards distant from the Town Hall; the Grains Gate is about 200 yards beyond the borough boundary.

The debt upon this Trust in 1837 was 16,021*l.*, but portions were paid off in 1841 and in subsequent years, but mostly in very small sums, leaving the debt in 1857 and at the present time, 14,444*l.* 8*s.*, bearing interest at 5*l.* per cent. The clerk states that so far as he can make out about 2,000*l.* for interest in arrear was included in the bonds granted in or about the year 1800.

The accounts show that the toll income fell off considerably in the years 1840 and 1841, which was occasioned by the opening of the Manchester and Leeds Railway. The funds have been applied:—in repairing the road until 1841, from which date very little, if any, allowance has been made to the townships except in 1855; in paying salaries (about 70*l.* a year); law charges, occasionally; interest of debt; improvements in 1837; and portions of the principal. The clerk states that he is not aware why portions of the bonded debt were paid off in lieu of repairing the road, except for the obvious reason of reducing the debt. A portion of the arrears of interest appears to have been unclaimed for several years.

In May 1860 the town clerk of Oldham, on behalf of the Committee who manage the highways in that borough, requested that the local Act should not be renewed unless the roads in the borough were excluded from the Trust, as the corporation had for a long period repaired the road, and had scarcely any assistance from the Trust, although 5 per cent. was paid upon the debt. It was therefore suggested to the Trustees to endeavour to arrange with the creditors, and the several townships, in addition to the corporation of Oldham, as to a reduction in the rate of interest, the repayment of the principal, and the repair of the road.

Note.—The "Total Income" and "Total Expenditure" include Incidentals

* Including allowance to townships.

Application was made to the Home Secretary to allow the Act to be continued another year to afford time for making arrangements; but as this course did not appear to be desirable, the Trustees resolved, on the 19th of July last, to apply for a renewal of the local Act. The clerk also reported, on the 6th of October last, that such course had the entire approval of the mortgage creditors who had conferred with the Trustees on the subject, and who were of opinion that Parliament would be able to hear all the parties interested, and would, without doubt, make an equitable settlement of the mortgagees' claims, no less than a binding and permanent one.

The clerk has also stated that no arrangement has been made between the Trustees and the corporation of Oldham. And, as to the reduced rate of interest proposed in the Bill, he states that "the mortgagees, after discussing the question of the rate of "interest with the Trustees at meetings jointly held in reference to this Bill, "ultimately agreed to leave it to the Trustees to suggest the rate of interest, in full "confidence that the latter would propose what was just and reasonable under the "circumstances."

In the present application to Parliament it is proposed to repeal the existing Act, and to obtain further and more effectual powers in lieu thereof for the term of 21 years.

With reference to the preamble the clerk states, that "the length of the branch line "from Spaw Bridge on Booth Dean to Rochdale, authorized to be made under the "present Act is 6 miles 4 furlongs; and the branch line from Plumb House to Fir "Grove 3 furlongs 5 chains," which lines were never made.

Clause 9 appoints the first meeting of the Trustees on the second Thursday after the commencement of the new Act.

Clause 10 describes the existing roads of the Trust,—omitting the lines which were not made.

Clause 13 specifies the tolls which may be taken "from the commencement of this "Act." These tolls are similar to the rates now authorized by the local Act, and collected on the roads—with an additional toll of 1*s.* per wheel on all carriages moved by steam or machinery.

Clause 16 allows six tolls to be collected on the roads, as allowed by the present Act, section 8;—but the existing roads are nearly 7 miles less in length than the roads upon which such number of toll payments was granted.

Clause 19 is not contained in the present Act; it allows tolls to be taken on horses, &c. drawing different waggons, &c.,—whether laden or not.

It is proposed by clause 20 to apply the funds as under:—

1st. In paying the expenses of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In erecting and repairing toll-houses, weighing machines, &c., the salaries of officers, and other costs and expenses of management, not exceeding 120*l.* in any one year, exclusive of payments to toll collectors, or expenses in conveyancing, or proceedings at law, or in equity, or arbitration, before justices, &c.

3rd. In paying interest at three pounds per cent. from the 24th of June 1860. (The present rate is 5*l.* per cent.)

4th. In paying off the principal debt,—as regulated by clause 22.

Lastly. In repairing and improving the roads.

By this clause it is proposed to apply no part of the Trust funds to the repair of the roads until after the payment of the whole bonded debt. But under "Thirdly," the interest at 3*l.* per cent. is proposed to be paid from June 1860. After the payment of the costs of the Act the yearly expenditure authorized by this clause would be—management 120*l.*, interest 433*l.*, total 553*l.*, leaving the surplus (less any law or other exceptional charges) for the payment of the principal debt.

Clause 21 is partly copied from section 12 of the present Act,—but by clause 20 it is not proposed to repair any of the roads until after the payment of the debt.

Clause 22 regulates the mode of paying off the principal debt, in sums of 100*l.*, —which amount is very small compared with the debt upon this Trust.

Clause 26 allows the usual term of 21 years.

The schedule of debts includes some amounts upon which interest has been unclaimed for 5, 12, 13, or nearly 20 years, on some of which small instalments of principal ordered to be paid off more than ten years since have not been claimed. No provision is inserted in the Bill respecting these unclaimed debts and the interest due thereon, and the clerk explains that the Trustees did not consider it was their duty to introduce any clause with regard to them.

There are no clauses in the new Bill,—to restrict the Trustees from collecting or expending any money in towns; to extinguish the arrears of interest, or to prevent any interest from accruing until the costs of the Act are defrayed; nor to prevent a second toll payment at any gate within a specified distance.

In the case of this Trust, the principal questions relate to—The rates of toll, and the number of payments upon less than 17 miles of road; the rate of interest to be paid in future; whether any part of the road is to be excluded from the Trust; and in what proportions the funds are to be applied, in the expenses of management, payment of interest, repairs of road, and payment of the principal debt.

(Signed) GEO. CLIVE.

Whitehall, 12*th March* 1861.

No. 10.—MANCHESTER AND WILMSLOW ROAD.

The local Act for this road, of the 11th of George IV. c. 23, repealed the previous Act of the 58th of George III, and granted a term which will not expire until the end of the session next after the 8th of April 1861.

The length of the Trust road, from the boundary of the city of Manchester to the corn mills at Wilmslow, is about 10¼ miles. This includes 1 mile 4 furlongs and 38 yards of road within the district of the Rusholme Board of Health, which adjoins the boundary of the city of Manchester. By an arrangement between the Trustees and the Rusholme Board of Health the first toll-gate out of Manchester was removed out of the district, and the Board of Health undertook to repair the road within the then district, except 120 yards. Since that period the Rusholme district has been extended. There are three toll-gates and five side-bars on the road. The Fallowfield gate and side-bar are within the Rusholme district, payment at either of which clears the Fog-lane and Parrswood side-bars. The School's Hill gate and side-bar are about four miles distant from the Fallowfield gate; and the Hurlbote gate and side-bar about 2 miles 1 furlong further. But one payment clears the School's Hill and Hurlbote gates. Two tolls only appear to be payable on the whole line of road. Only one-half toll is, however, payable to or from Manchester at the Fallowfield side-bar. The clerks state that "one-half only of the "full toll authorized by the Act is now levied. The full toll was reduced one-third "on the 1st of March 1856, and a further reduction of one-fourth was made on the "13th of September 1857."

The debt upon this Trust was stated at 8,820*l.* in 1836, but the whole, except an unclaimed sum of 100*l.*, was paid off previously to the year 1858.

The accounts show that the toll income increased in 1852 and two following years, and decreased in the year 1856 owing to the reduction of one-third in the rates of toll. No aid appears to have been obtained from the parishes since the year 1837. The funds have been expended,—in repairing the roads; in paying salaries (increased to 165*l.* a year since 1844); law charges, occasionally of large amount; interest of debt; improvements; and payment of the bonded debt.

In explanation of the accounts the clerks state, that the large amount of "incidental "receipts" in 1852 and four years following included,—the sum of 350*l.* from the county of Chester towards the expense of raising a portion of the road near the river Mersey; about 284*l.* from the corporation of Manchester for reinstating and keeping in repair portions of the road under which gas and water pipes had been laid; and other receipts arising from sale of land, and from sale of stone to the Rusholme Board of Health when they undertook the repair of the road within their district. The increase in the surveyor's salary arose from the appointment of Mr. M'Connell to that office. The former surveyor, notwithstanding a large expenditure, kept the road in a very bad and unsatisfactory state; but under the new arrangement, in a comparatively short time, and at a very considerable saving, the road was placed in a good condition,—being one of the best in the kingdom,—and the Trustees were enabled gradually to reduce their debt. The "improvements" in 1852 and 1853 consisted of the raising of the road from the bridge over the river Mersey, across the meadows to where the road begins to ascend near Cheadle. This part of the road was subject in winter to floods, by the overflow of the river Mersey, occasioning serious accidents, and frequently placing horses, carriages, and passengers on the road in great danger, besides causing much expense to repair the damage done. The county contributed 350*l.* towards the cost of this improvement, which has answered its objects in protecting the public, and in preventing great expense which periodically became necessary on account of the floods. The "law "charges" in 1855 and 1856 were incurred in defending an indictment laid against the Trustees to effect a removal of the first toll-gate out of Manchester as being "within "a town or street," and in proceedings necessary for an altered arrangement of the position of the toll-bars.

The accounts for 1840 show that the sums of 616*l.* 10*s.* 2*d.*, and 1,150*l.* (added to the bonded debt,) were lost to the Trust by the defalcations of a former clerk, who acted also as treasurer; and the dividends which have been received from his estate amounted to 109*l.* 8*s.* 11*d.* only.

In November last the Trustees resolved to apply to Parliament for a renewal of the local Act for this road, to effect the following special objects:—To make a new branch road, which will be of great public convenience, by affording an access into Manchester over the river Mersey to a large district, whose only convenient means of crossing that river to Manchester is over two bridges about six miles apart. The land for this road, with some small exceptions, will be given by the landowners, who will also advance the greater portion of the funds for making the road. Also to widen and improve the road at Cheadle Bulkeley, which is narrow, and turns at a right angle, and where accidents often occur. Also to give up to the Local Board of Health the road within the Rusholme district, to relieve the Trustees from the repair of such road, and to remove a toll-gate now in such district. And also to deal with the unclaimed debt of 100*l.*

After the new Bill had been printed, a statement was forwarded to the Home Secretary on behalf of the Local Board of Health for the district of Rusholme, containing observations on the Bill, of which the following are the more important:—

"As some reason for the necessity of such application to Parliament, a clause is inserted in such Bill for making a new branch road from the main line, namely, from Withington to Northen, a distance of about 2¼ miles, and it is therein alleged that the main line requires widening. Now, as respects the widening or improvement of the existing road, it has hitherto been done in many places without the Trustees going to Parliament for the purpose; and in 1852 they spent 729*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.* and in 1853 2,035*l.* 17*s.* 9*d.* in such improvements.

"And in regard to the branch road from Withington to Northen, it is no doubt intended (as the Trustees have now, and have had for several years past, considerable funds in hand,) that this branch line shall be made and maintained out of such funds, and out of the future receipts from the main line, on which there is a great traffic, and the receipts of which now yield upwards of 2,000*l.* a year, with no chance of any railway interfering with them.

"Mr. John Rawson Lingard, a solicitor at Stockport, is the owner of some land at Northen, and acting on behalf of himself and two large landed proprietors as his clients, he and his partners, under the style or firm of Vaughan, Lingard, Vaughan, and Lingard, have also deposited in the Private Bill Office a Bill for making and maintaining a turnpike road from Withington to Northen, being the same road which is in the Bill lastly referred to called the New Branch Road.

"And, again, the promoters of a proposed railway from Stockport through Northen to Timperley, acting through the same solicitors; and such promoters being espoused by the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Railway Company, have introduced a clause in a Bill deposited in the Private Bill Office for making the same branch line 'as an access' to their proposed railway at Northen. The idea of a railway company making a road 2¼ miles in length for an access to a railway in a small village like Northen is romantic. Besides access, if an access to the railway should be wanting, for the traffic from Withington, would be much better obtained at the point where the railway is proposed to pass the main line of the turnpike road. In such last-mentioned Railway Bill it is is further proposed, 'that, by agreement with any persons at any time authorized 'to maintain that road (meaning the branch line), the maintenance, repair, and improve-'ment thereof may be undertaken by them.' It is likely there is some tacit understanding between the promoters of the two Bills lastly referred to and the Trustees of the main line. But the proper policy of the Trustees of the Manchester and Wilmslow road would be, not to enter into any conflict, apparent or real, with the railway company, or the other promoters of the proposed branch road, but to leave them to expend their money as they desire. It has been represented by the promoters of the last-mentioned Bill, that the landowners intended to make a present of the requisite land, but no such intention is manifested in any of the three Bills; on the contrary, the very opposite intention is shown.

"Now if the new branch yield only 300*l.* a year, it is barely sufficient to pay the interest on the 7,000*l.* set down as the cost of making it, leaving nothing wherewith to pay the repairs and other ordinary expenses of the road, which may be calculated at the rate of 200*l.* a mile, regard being had to the statistics of the revenue and expenditure of the main road, which show that the latter has yielded for the last five years about 300*l.* a mile, while its expenditure has been above 200*l.* per mile. But the traffic on the branch line would not be one-fourth of that on the main line.

"The Local Board of Health for the district of Rusholme have no objection to the making of the branch road, the actual length of which is, according to all the three plans deposited, 2 miles, 1 furlong, 4 chains, and 70 links, the surveyor for the three sets of promoters being one and the same person, provided it be made to bear and pay all the expenses attending the making and maintaining of it, and of obtaining the Act. But the Board submit for your consideration whether the road from Manchester to Wilmslow, which for about a mile and a half passes through their district, ought or ought not any longer to continue a turnpike road, bearing in mind that the ratepayers represented by the Rusholme Board are now, and have been for five years past and upwards, taxed for keeping in repair above a mile of the same road, at an expense of upwards of 500*l.* a year, not for their benefit alone, but for the benefit of all persons dwelling south of their district, and who now give no corresponding advantage to Rusholme.

"The Bill of the Trustees proposes further to tax the ratepayers of Rusholme by throwing on them the burthen of repairing about an additional or extra half mile, which will increase the 500*l.* to about 700*l.* a year.

"If the road is not henceforth to be a common highway, and if the Trustees were to pay over a portion of their receipts to the Board, or if the ratepayers of Rusholme were made exempt from toll on it, or a part of it, there would be a proper principle of reciprocity. At all events, under any circumstances, the Rusholme Local Board of Health object to the placing of any toll-bar within 1,000 yards at the very least of the limits of their district.

"In 1855, owing to an indictment tried at the Assizes under the 20th section of the Act of 1850, the Rusholme toll-bar was taken down by the Trustees, and removed to Fallowfield. Since then the receipts of the Trustees have declined; without, however, a corresponding reduction in their expenditure. This want of reduction is perhaps to be accounted for from the fact of the Trustees having always had of late years, a considerable sum in hand, as the excess of receipts over expenditure. It would seem that their duty should have consisted in reducing the tolls.

"The length of the existing turnpike road when the bar at Fallowfield (which is in the district of the Rusholme Board) has been taken down, as proposed by the Trustees' Bill, will not be 8 miles; from which, however, has to be taken for 5 bridges 1,000 yards, so that the entire length may be taken at less than 7½ miles. The expenses of clerk, surveyor, and collectors may be taken at 350*l.* a year.

"The money in the hands of the Trustees might, if the road is to become a common highway, be ordered to be apportioned, in an equitable manner, among the surveyors of the different townships through which the road passes, including the Rusholme Board as surveyors of their district.

"The portion of the road within the district of Rusholme has more traffic upon it than the rest. Omnibuses ply between Manchester and Cheadle, a distance of about 7 miles; but in addition to them the road in the district of Rusholme has eight omnibuses upon it every hour from 8 in the morning till 10 at night."

In the present application to Parliament it is proposed to repeal the existing Act, and to take new powers in lieu thereof for the term of 21 years.

Clause 3 gives special interpretations of the words "lands," "van," "cart and waggon," (to include steam-engines,) and "carriage;" and the word "passing" is to mean also re-passing.

Clause 4 describes the road as in the present Act, "except that part of the road, the "maintenance of which is by this Act transferred to the Local Board of Health for the "district of Rusholme,"—as if it were not intended entirely to exclude such portion of road from the Trust; but see clause 17. The proposed new branch road is also described in this clause.

Clause 11, respecting debts, &c., does not contain the usual exception for such liabilities or debts as may be altered or extinguished by this Act.

Clause 15 appoints the first meeting of the new Trustees on the Monday next after the commencement of the Act.

Clause 17 excludes from the Trust the road of which "the whole width" is within the district of the Rusholme Board of Health. Respecting this clause the clerks state, that 1 mile 4 furlongs and 38 yards of road will be excluded from the Trust, and one toll-gate and one side-bar will be removed; that a copy of the Bill had been sent to the Board of Health, but no communication had been received from them on the subject; and that, adverting to the arrangement which had been made by the Board of Health, and to the desire expressed by persons residing within the extended district to have the toll-gates removed, the Trustees do not see how any reasonable ground of objection can be raised by the Board against such arrangement.

Clause 20 specifies the new works which the Trustees are authorized to execute. The estimate for the alteration at Cheadle Bulkeley is 1,000*l.*, which alteration the Trustees believe they will be able to effect with the funds they have in hand. The new line of road it is estimated will cost 7,000*l.*; and the estimated toll receipt thereon is 300*l.* per annum, "and no doubt is entertained of a considerable progressive increase." The alteration at Cheadle Bulkeley consists of the removal of the Crown Inn, so as to ease a turn in the road which is now nearly at a right angle. The new line of road as proposed in this clause is to be nearly straight, with very favourable levels, the steepest inclination being 1 in 171. (This line of road is the same as is proposed in the Withington and Northenden Road Bill, see Report No. 11.)

Clauses 26 and 27 allow three years for the compulsory purchase of land, and the completion of the works.

Clauses 28, 29, and 30 relate to the entrances to fields, &c.

Clause 32 continues the present tolls until the end of the year 1861; and the new "ordinary tolls" to be allowed on and after 1st January 1862 are specified in clause 33. This scale of tolls is longer than usual, but is less inconvenient and cumbersome than that allowed by section 6 of the present Act. The tolls are generally reduced in various proportions, but in many cases one-half. Some of the rates are, however, peculiar:—On horses drawing waggons, &c. the rates are different if the width of wheels is $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches and less than 6 inches, or less than $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches; but on carts no distinction is made in respect to wheels under 6 inches in width. The toll on a van with two horses is fixed at one shilling, but with three horses 9*d.* or four horses 1*s.*, as the clause is worded. An additional toll of 1*s.* per wheel is proposed on steam carriages or carts, &c. drawn or propelled thereby.

Clause 34 allows no toll to be taken on the branch road until it is completed and opened throughout for public traffic.

Clause 37 allows tolls to be taken on every change of carriage,—whether laden or not.

Clause 39 allows two full tolls to be taken, as at present, on the existing road, and one full toll on the proposed branch road.

Clause 40 allows the Trustees to take not less than half-toll at any of the side-gates, as allowed by section 14 of the present Act.

Clause 42 continues the provisions of section 15 to take double toll, and extends the same to steam-carriages, and vans, carts, &c. drawn thereby.

Clause 43 continues the limitation of exemptions, contained in section 17; and allows toll to be taken on all animals "drawing any cart or waggon laden with materials for "making or repairing any road not included in this Act;"—and on steam carriages, or carts, &c. drawn or propelled thereby.

Clause 44 allows ten thousand pounds to be borrowed to defray the costs of the Act and the works authorized by clause 20 (but the greater part of the land was to be given, the cost of the new road was estimated at 7,000*l.*, and the other works were intended to be paid for out of the balance in hand).

Clause 45 applies the borrowed money as under:—

1st. In paying the costs of the Act.

2nd. In defraying the expenses of improving a portion of the road (which were to be paid out of the Trust funds in hand,) and making the new branch road.

It is proposed by clause 46 to apply the funds of the Trust (except money borrowed) as under:—

1st. In maintaining, improving, and repairing the roads (see "fourthly"), erecting and repairing toll-gates and weighing machines—(without limiting the amount).

2nd. In paying the salaries of officers and expenses of management—not exceeding 170*l.* a year, exclusive of payments to toll-collectors, law expenses, &c. (the costs of repairing toll-gates, &c. are usually included with the management charges.)

3rd. In paying the interest not exceeding five pounds per cent.

4th. In maintaining and repairing the roads (mentioned also "firstly"), not exceeding 900*l.* a year.

5th. In paying off the borrowed money,—as regulated by clause 52.

6th. In paying the further expenses of managing, repairing, &c. the roads.

Provided that when the debt is paid off the Trustees shall reduce the tolls as they shall think proper.

No mention is made in this clause of the 5 per cent. sinking fund required to be set apart upon all new debts under the 12th and 13th Victoria, cap. 87, section 3. The repair of the road is however mentioned, 1stly, 4thly, and 6thly.

Clause 47, restricting the collection and expenditure of money in towns, differs from the 20th section of the present Act.

Clause 48 empowers the Trustees to extinguish the debt of 100*l.* and the interest due thereon, in respect to which no claim has been made since 1821.

There is no clause in the new Bill to allow reduced tolls in respect to milk carts, as in section 9 of the present Act; nor to continue the provision as to wheels constructed to evade tolls, section 16.

The clerks have stated, in answer to inquiries, that "the proposed Bill deposited for "making the Withington and Northenden Road is intended to apply to the same "branch road mentioned in our Bill. This new branch road is one of great importance "to the neighbourhood through which it is intended to pass, as it contemplates crossing "the river Mersey between the only two bridges (except a private wooden foot toll-"bridge) across that river within a distance of $8\frac{1}{4}$ miles by the course of the river, "and of 6 miles by the road on the Manchester side, and of 7 miles by the road on the "Cheadle side of the river. The landowners, with one or two exceptions of trifling "extent where there are Trustees and persons under legal disability, give the land over "which it is to pass, and consent to provide a portion of the money necessary for the "construction of the bridge and road; and impressed with its great local importance "and necessity, they have, in order to provide for any accident in the carrying of "our Bill, deposited plans and a Bill of their own."

The principal subjects for consideration in this case are,—whether the proposed new branch road and the improvements at Cheadle Bulkeley should be authorized; and if so, should the funds for the branch road and the present road be consolidated; and what amount should be borrowed (assuming that nearly all the land will be given)? Should the road within the Rusholme District Board of Health be transferred to such Board? what scale of tolls should be allowed, and what number of toll payments? Is it intended to make the bridge a county bridge? And what regulations should be made as to the rate of interest, the amount of sinking fund, and the repairs of the road?

(See also No. 11 Report,—on the Withington and Northenden Road.)

No. 11.—WITHINGTON AND NORTHENDEN ROAD.

This is an application to make a new line of road from Withington to Northen or Northenden, and the preamble recites that it "would be of great public advantage." This application relates to the same new line of road to make which power is sought in the Manchester and Wilmslow Road Bill. See Report No. 10.

Clause 7 appoints the first meeting of the Trustees, and if a quorum is not present, another meeting is to be held on the fourteenth day thereafter, and so on every fourteenth day until a meeting is constituted.

Clause 8 empowers the Trustees to appoint a committee to examine the annual account, and to execute any of the purposes of the Act; but such committee is not required by this clause to report, &c. to the Trustees.

Clause 10 empowers the Trustees to make the new line of road, &c. according to the deposited plans. The plans and sections show that the new line will be 2 miles 1 furlong 103 yards in length, including a bridge over the River Mersey. The line of road is proposed to be nearly straight, and the levels are very favourable, the steepest inclination being 1 in 171.

Clause 16 allows the Trustees to pull down and use materials of old bridges, &c. without paying for the same.

Clause 17 allows three years for completing the works; and clause 18 allows two years for the compulsory purchase of lands.

The tolls proposed to be taken are specified in clause 19. An uniform toll is named in this clause of six-pence on each horse, &c. drawing any sort of carriage, or cart, waggon, &c., without any distinction in respect to the width of wheels. A toll of two-pence is proposed on horses not drawing, 10*d.* per score on oxen, &c., and 5*d.* per score on sheep, &c., and 1*s.* per wheel on carriages moved by steam or machinery. (These tolls are generally higher than those proposed on this road by the Manchester and Wilmslow Road Bill.)

Clause 23 allows the Trustees to diminish the tolls in respect to carriages with broad wheels drawn by horses or by other than animal power.

Clause 24 allows the sum of ten thousand pounds to be borrowed on security of the tolls; and clause 25 allows money to be borrowed at a lower rate of interest to pay off such debt.

Clause 26 empowers the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Railway Company and the Great Northern Railway Company to advance money on this Trust, on obtaining the sanction of at least three-fifths of the votes of the shareholders on each of such companies.

The borrowed money is directed by clause 27 to be applied—

1st. In paying the expenses of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In making the proposed road, and in erecting toll-houses, toll-gates, and bridges.

It is proposed by clause 28 to apply the funds of the Trust arising from tolls as under:—

1st. In defraying the expenses of management, including salaries of officers and collectors, repair of toll-houses, &c., not exceeding 50*l.* per annum, exclusive of salaries of toll collectors, law charges, &c.

2nd. In paying interest not exceeding 4*l.* 10*s.* per cent. on the principal debt.

3rd. In setting apart 5*l.* per cent. per annum on the debt, as a sinking fund.

4th. In improving and repairing the road (without limiting the amount).

Lastly. In paying off the bonded debt.

With a proviso that the sum directed to be set apart is to be in lieu of the sinking fund required by the Act 12th and 13th of Victoria, cap. 87.

Clause 29 allows no interest to be paid (not accrue) until the expenses of the Act have been discharged. But the interest is not allowed to be paid out of the borrowed money which is applicable to the payment of the costs of the Act, and interest may accrue before any toll income is received; and by clause 31 a mortgagee is allowed to seize the toll-gates if the interest is not paid within one month after it becomes due.

Clause 30 regulates the mode of paying off the debt—in sums of 100*l.*, which is a small amount compared with the total debt, and only equal to a part of the annual sinking fund required by clause 28.

Clause 33 allows the usual term of 21 years.

There are no clauses in this Bill,—to restrict the Trustees from collecting or expending any money in towns, &c.; nor to provide for the repairs of the proposed bridge.

The principal questions in this case are,—as to the desirableness of making the proposed road; and, if made, whether so short a line should be constituted a separate Trust, or be united to a neighbouring Trust? Is it intended to make the bridge over the Mersey a county bridge? What rates of toll should be allowed? What rate of interest? And will the toll income be sufficient to provide for the payment of interest, the sinking fund, and the repair of the road?

[See also No. 10 Report,—on the Manchester and Wilmslow Road.]

No. 12.—GREAT DOVER STREET ROAD.

The local Act for this road, of the 10th of George IV. cap. 113., repealed the previous Acts of the 49th and 51st of George III. and granted a new term, which would have expired at the end of the present session but it has been extended by the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act until the 1st day of November 1861.

It appeared to be the intention of Parliament, when the existing Act was obtained in 1829, that this Trust should cease in the present year; for by section 86 it was enacted, that when and so soon as the subscribed debt shall have been repaid, "all tolls on the said "road shall cease," the toll-gates, &c. be removed, the powers of the Trustees cease and determine, "and this Act and every part thereof shall thereupon become wholly "void and of no effect, as if the same had been wholly repealed: provided always, that in "case the said sum of 34,648*l.* 12*s.* 4*d.* shall not be wholly and fully repaid, then and "in such case this Act shall continue in force for the term of thirty-one years, and "from thence until the end of the then next session of Parliament, and no longer."

The local Act for this road, in common with other expiring Turnpike Acts, would have been continued, unless specially mentioned, by the Turnpike Acts Continuance Act of the last session, until the end of the session next after the 1st of October 1861, but it was inserted in the Schedule to such Act and its term limited to a fixed day—the 1st of November next, when it will expire, unless further continued by Parliament. On the 13th of August last the attention of the Trustees was called to this subject, and the Home Secretary requested to be informed whether they intended to take the necessary steps for pulling down and removing the toll-house, gates, &c. from the road, previously to the 1st of November next; or whether, in conjunction with the shareholders, the Trustees would apply in the next session for a renewal of the Act.

On the 13th of November last, the clerk to the Trustees stated as under:—

"It is now my duty to inform you that the Trustees have resolved to apply to Parliament in the ensuing session for the prolongation of the Trust for such further term, not exceeding 21 years, as the Legislature may see fit to grant.

"The grounds upon which they consider themselves fairly entitled to a renewal are shortly these:—the capital of 35,000*l.* was expended in making the road, which has proved of great public benefit, and owing to the introduction of steamboats and railways, no part of the capital has yet been paid off, the returns, or tolls, never having proved adequate even to pay a moiety of the interest or dividends allowed to the shareholders by the Act, and there is consequently a large arrear of interest, as well as the whole of the capital, still remaining due to the proprietors.

"Many of the shareholders are executors who hold the same in trust for minors, others are maiden ladies, who can ill afford to lose the income which they have been accustomed to receive from the tolls, although it has been much reduced of late years from the causes stated.

"If the Trust were now to cease the shareholders would sustain the total loss of their capital, as well as interest, without compensation, which would inflict a grievous injury upon them.

"As Parliament has thought fit by sanctioning railways and other enterprises whereby the traffic on the road has been diverted, without any fault of the shareholders, it would only be just to give them the chance of recovering a portion of the capital sunk, by renewing the Trust for 21 years, and they would be content to relinquish the same for the public benefit at the end of that time."

The length of the road or street belonging to this Trust is about 900 yards, and is situated in the parishes of St. George the Martyr, Southwark, and St. Mary, Newington. There is only one toll-gate, at which the full rates of toll allowed by the Act are not levied, but proportions of one-half in most cases, and not more than two-thirds in any case are collected; and the tolls are let to the expiration of the present Act.

The debt upon this road is stated in the local Act at 34,648*l.* 12*s.* 4*d.*, but in the proposed Bill it is stated at 34,649*l.* 2*s.*, or 492 shares at 70*l.* 8*s.* 6*d.* each. Interest was payable at 5 per cent., but the funds have been insufficient to pay more than from 1½ to 2 per cent. There are large arrears of interest, but the amount is not stated.

The accounts (some of which have been only recently transmitted) show that the toll income has varied in amount from upwards of 800*l.* to less than 400*l.* per annum, and has frequently exceeded 600*l.* The funds have been expended, principally,—in paying the clerk's salary (reduced from 100*l.* to 50*l.*), interest of debt, and incidental expenses. In 1837 the law charges amounted to 198*l.* 10*s.* 8*d.* The road has been repaired by the parishes for many years.

In answer to inquiries the clerk states, with reference to section 12 of the present Act, requiring the accounts to be audited annually by the justices for the county of Surrey, that "the Trustees have duly transmitted the accounts yearly to the clerk "of the peace, but they are not aware whether he has transmitted them to the justices "for audit or not. Two of the Trustees have gone through and audited the accounts "half-yearly."

In the present application to Parliament it is proposed to repeal the existing Act, and to obtain other and more effectual powers in lieu thereof for the term of 21 years.

Clause 6 appoints only eight Trustees by name, and does not appoint the justices for the county of Surrey.

Clause 9, for regulating meetings on emergencies, allows seven days notice instead of fourteen days, as in section 7 of the present Act.

Clause 14 continues the present tolls until the end of the year 1861.

The new tolls allowed by clauses 17 and 18 are at the same rates as are allowed by sections 18 and 19 of the present Act, instead of the reduced rates collected on the road. An additional toll is proposed in clause 17 of "any sum which the Trustees may from "time to time direct, not exceeding 1*s.* for each wheel" of carriages moved by steam or machinery.

Clause 20 continues the full tolls on hackney coaches, &c.

Clause 23 is altered from section 23 of the present Act.

Clause 24 allows tolls to be taken on every change of carriage.

Clause 25 relates to tolls on post chaises, but see clause 19 of the new Bill.

Clause 26 refers to tolls on stage coaches, &c., but see clause 18 on the same subject.

Clause 28 continues the powers of section 34 of the present Act, but the proviso at the end is unnecessary, as the weighing machines were abolished many years since.

Clauses 29 and 30 are unnecessary, there being no weighing machines.

It is proposed by clause 31 to apply the funds of the Trust as under:—

1st. In paying the costs of obtaining the Act.

2nd. In defraying the expenses of erecting and lighting the toll-gates, &c., "and in "paying the salaries and allowances to the several clerks, collectors, and other "officers and servants to be employed under this Act," not exceeding 200*l.* a year. (This amount greatly exceeds the present charges.)

3rd. In paying the interest on the debt at four pounds per cent. (But the whole toll income is equal to less than 2*l.* per cent.)

4th. In paying off the principal (as regulated by clause 32) to the persons named in the schedule, except as herein-after mentioned, "until the whole shall be fully discharged."

Lastly. In repairing and improving the road.

As this clause stands the funds would be insufficient to pay off any part of the principal under the heading "fourthly."

Clause 33 relates to the application of unclaimed interest or dividends, which money, after notice, is to be applied as directed "by the twenty-ninth section of this Act,—but the 31st clause is no doubt intended. The clerk has explained that 339*l.* 11*s.* of unpaid or uncalled-for interest was in hand; and he states that "the interest or dividend account "connected with this Trust is kept separately at the bankers, and is treated as paid "to the shareholders, cheques being drawn for the entire amount, and these may be "cashed at any time by the shareholders in whose favour they are drawn, and the "unpaid dividends could not therefore be considered as a balance in the hands of the "Trustees."

Clause 34 relating to the Commissioners of the West Division of the Borough Pavements is copied from section 83 of the present Act;—but is not the management of such pavements now regulated by the Metropolis Local Management Act?

Clause 36 allows a new term of 21 years—without the words contained in the present Act, "and no longer."

The "second schedule" is unnecessary.

There are no clauses in the proposed Bill—to extinguish the arrears of interest; to prevent the shareholders from seizing the toll-gates; nor to prevent interest from accruing until the costs of the new Act have been defrayed.

In this case the principal question will be—Shall the local Act be allowed to expire, the tolls be abolished, and the debt be extinguished? If not, what further term should be granted, and upon what conditions, as to the rates of toll, the costs of management, and the rate of interest, if any?

THE TENTH REPORT

Of the COMMISSIONER in charge of the LAND REVENUES of the CROWN in England, under the Warrant of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, dated the 31st March 1855.

IN obedience to the directions contained in the Acts 10 Geo. 4, c. 50, 2 Will. 4, c. 1, and 14 & 15 Vict. c. 42, I have now to report to Her Majesty, and to the Houses of Parliament, what has been done in the year ended on the 31st of March 1861, in the management of the property under my charge.

LEASES granted under Acts 10 Geo. 4, c. 50, 2 Will. 4, c. 1, 14 & 15 Vict. c. 42, and 19 & 20 Vict. c. 100.

During this period there have been granted 89 Leases of Land, or Houses, belonging to the Crown, situated in different Counties in England, and not being within the boundaries of any of the Royal Forests; and also of Coals and other Minerals under the Sea, adjacent to the English Coast.

Appendix, No. 1.

The particulars of these Leases, which have been granted under the provisions of the above-mentioned Acts, are inserted in Appendix, No. 1, and the property demised may be divided into five classes; viz.—

1st. Farms or Land for agricultural purposes.
2d. Houses.
3d. Land for building purposes.
4th. Mines, Minerals, and other Substrata.
5th. Miscellaneous Property, and Interests of uncertain value.

The total number of Leases of the 1st class amounts to 34. The lands comprised in these leases are situated in the Counties of Bucks, Cambridge, Essex, Kent, Lincoln, Sussex, Wilts, and York, and contain about 4,237 A. 3 R. 9 P. The rents reserved by the leases amount to £. 7,380. 18. 8., subject, in several cases, to future increase, in consideration of buildings to be erected, or of improvements in drainage to be made, at the cost of the Crown.

Of the 2d class, 13 leases have been granted of 15 houses and cottages in London, and at Greenwich, Eltham, and Windsor, at rents amounting in the whole to £. 1,262. 19. 6., and upon payment, in one case, of a fine of £. 280. 10.

Of the 3d class, 22 leases have been granted of sites for 33 houses in London and the suburbs; six of sites for three houses at Windsor, and for nine houses at Hastings; and five of sites for five houses and cottages situated respectively at Eton, Portland, Barking, Dover, and Richmond. In all these cases, the several lessees have erected, or have covenanted to erect within a moderate period, and at their own cost, substantial buildings upon the plots let to them.

The ground rents reserved under the leases in this class, 33 in number, amount to £. 639. 5.

Of the 4th class, one lease has been granted of coal and other minerals under the bed of the sea near Whitehaven, in the County of Cumberland, and one lease of brick earth at Eltham, in the County of Kent, at a royalty in the former case upon the minerals raised, and in the latter case, upon the brick earth manufactured.

Of the 5th class, three leases have been granted of several pieces of foreshore and of land reclaimed from the flow of the tidal waters adjacent to the Counties of Essex, Sussex, and York; one of a ferry between East and West Cowes; one of a small piece of accommodation land at West Cowes; and one of the tolls of the Haymarket in the Regent's Park; and one license to the Submarine Telegraph Company to lay down eight telegraphic cables on different parts of the Coast of England.

The rents reserved by the leases in this class, seven in number, amount to £. 543. in addition to a tonnage royalty, in one case, upon the minerals, &c. carried over or shipped from the land demised.

The following are the principal Estates, of which, or of portions of which, leases have been granted within the year ended upon the 31st March last.

ELTHAM ESTATE, IN THE COUNTY OF KENT.

THIS Estate contains 2,138 A. 1 R. 22 P., of which about 277 A. 3 R. 18 P., consisting of Oak Plantations or underwood, are in hand, and the residue, containing 1,860 A. 2 R. 4 P. of land, with various houses upon it, is held by numerous lessees and tenants.

The Estate is situated about seven miles from London Bridge, and as the greater part of the leases under which it is held expired at Michaelmas 1859, advantage was taken of that opportunity to re-arrange some of the tenancies, and to introduce covenants into the new leases, to enable the Crown to resume possession of such portions of the property as were likely to come into the market for building purposes.

The total quantity of land, that has been relet from Michaelmas 1859, is 1,496 A. 1 R. 11 P., of which about 52 acres have since been, or will be, resumed by the Crown, under notices that have been already issued for that purpose, and let for building sites and for brickmaking at increased rents.

The

The general result of the reletting is as follows:

The ultimate rents reserved under the new lettings of 1,496 A. 1 R. 11 P., with the houses, &c. thereon, irrespective of the royalty that will be payable upon the bricks manufactured, and of the additional rents that will be payable as interest upon the outlay to be incurred in the drainage of some of the farms, amount to - - - - - -	5,617	15	6

HORTON FARM, IN THE COUNTY OF WILTS.

THIS farm, containing 603 A. 3 R. 21 P. adjoins, and is partially surrounded by, the Crown's Bishops Cannings Estate. It was bought for the sum of £. 14,500, and has since been let upon lease for a term that will expire at the same date, as the leases of the adjoining property, at a rent of £. 500 a year, upon the understanding that the Crown is to improve the farm buildings at an estimated cost of about £. 700; the lessee being under covenant to pay interest at £. 5 per cent. upon such portion of the outlay as may exceed the sum of £. 500.

HUMBURTON ESTATE, IN THE COUNTY OF YORK.

THIS Estate consists of the Manor of Humburton and 1,009 A. 3 R. 13 P. of land. It immediately abuts upon a small Estate belonging to the Crown at Thornton Briggs, near Boroughbridge, and the two properties, which lie within a ring fence, and contain together upwards of 2,070 acres, are shown by red and green colours upon the annexed plan, and together yield a revenue of £. 3,425. 8. The Crown is also the owner of another small Estate in the immediate vicinity, coloured blue upon the Plan.

The sum paid for the purchase of the Humburton Estate, together with the timber upon it, and with a rentcharge of £. 125 a year, payable out of part of the Estate, in lieu of rectorial tithe, was £. 64,310.

Upon the completion of the purchase, the timber and plantations were thinned, and produced a sum of £. 601. The Estate has since been let in three farms, at rents amounting altogether, including the above-mentioned tithe rentcharge, to £. 2,001, upon the understanding that the Crown is to erect four cottages, and enlarge some of the farm buildings, at an estimated expense of £. 1,500.

IN Appendix, No. 2 (A.), and Appendix, No. 2 (B.), the particulars are given of the several Sales that have been effected by Public Auction and by Private Contract.

SALES by PUBLIC AUCTION and by PRIVATE CONTRACT. App. No. 2 (A.) and App. No. 2 (B.)

The total sum received in respect of the property comprised in these Schedules, and carried to the credit of the Capital Account of the Land

Revenue, amounts to £. 52,778. 18.; of which the sum of £. 45,405 was derived from two Estates, situated in the Counties of Lincoln and York respectively, which were sold under the circumstances stated below.

The further sum of £. 5,497. 8. was obtained by the sale of various premises and parcels of land that were either required for the construction of railways, or were detached plots that it was not desirable to retain, and that produced at the time of sale a rental of less than £. 100 a year. The residue, amounting to £. 1,876. 10., was derived by the sale of land, now or formerly below high-water mark, and which was conveyed to the purchasers either for the construction of wharves, embankments, and other similar works, or for the protection of their frontages. From none of these last-mentioned hereditaments was any rent or revenue derived by the Crown at the time of Sale.

The following are the principal Sales:—

THE MANOR AND DEMESNE LANDS OF LANGTON, IN THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN.

THIS Estate, containing about 598 acres of land, was recently held together with the Manor, which is of only nominal value, under a lease that expired at Michaelmas last, at a rent of £. 644. It consisted of several detached parcels of land, some of them of very inferior quality, scattered over a district of eight miles in length. Some of the parcels were too small in extent to render it advisable that they should be provided with farm buildings, and they were too far distant from the parcels, upon which the existing buildings were situated, to admit of their being conveniently occupied as one holding.

The scattered nature of the Estate, however, rendered it probable that there would be a considerable degree of competition, and that a high price would be realized in the event of the property being sold by auction in lots; and I therefore decided to adopt that course. The result of the sale was that the property, including one plot, of which the conveyance was not completed at the 31st of March last, realized the sum of £. 32,545, which was very largely in excess of the reserved price, and at the rate of nearly 50 years' purchase of the rental derived from the Estate at the time of sale.

FARM AT HODROYD AND HEINDLEY, IN THE COUNTY OF YORK.

THE circumstances, under which this farm was sold, are set forth in the following correspondence with the Lords of the Treasury, dated the 26th of January and 6th of February 1860.

"My Lords,

"Her Majesty is possessed of a farm in the Townships of Hodroyd and Heindley in the Parish of Felkirk and West Riding of the County of York, at present held under lease by Viscount Galway for a term of 21 years from 10th October 1839, at the yearly rent of £. 325. 15., and in which lease it is stated to contain, in accordance with a survey that had been made in the year 1802, about 232 A. 0 R. 21 P. of land, partly arable and partly pasture.

"This lease expiring at Michaelmas next (1860), I instructed Mr. Higgins to make a survey and valuation of the farm, with a view to the adoption of measures for reletting it from that period.

"Adapting

"Adapting a plan of this farm, which I have recently caused to be made from a survey by Mr. J. T. White of Wakefield, a surveyor of high reputation, Mr. Higgins states that he finds it to contain 235 A. 0 R. 30 P., being 3 A. 0 R. 9 P. more than it has been considered to consist of according to the survey of 1802, and to be of the net annual value of £. 378. 19. 8. upon a lease for a term of 21 years, under the usual covenants of Crown leases.

"This valuation has been declared to, in the manner required by the Act 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 62.

"Mr. Higgins, in forwarding his report, represented that having regard to the scattered nature of the lands over two Townships of a wide area, and also to the circumstance of their being almost entirely surrounded by Lord Galway's Estates, which would render them a valuable acquisition to his Lordship, he was of opinion it would be more for the interest of the Crown to dispose of the property by sale to his Lordship, than to let it again upon lease, and he recommended, as the transfer of the property would be attended with little trouble and expense to Lord Galway, that the consideration money to be demanded should be 35 years' purchase on the estimated annual value, or £. 13,265.

"This farm, which is situated about an equal distance of eight miles from Wakefield, Pontefract, and Barnsley, is far removed from any other Crown property, and after a careful inspection of the property in the last autumn, and an attentive consideration of Mr. Higgins' recommendation, it appeared to me that in consequence of the isolated situation of the farm, and the circumstance that the scattered parcels can only be conveniently held for occupation with the adjoining property of Lord Galway, it would be desirable to make the sale if the accommodation price put upon it could be obtained. I therefore directed Mr. Higgins to negotiate with Mr. Newton, Lord Galway's agent, for a sale to his Lordship in the terms of the valuation, subject however to the following conditions:—

"1. The reservation to the Crown of the minerals under the land to be conveyed.

"2. The reservation to the Crown of a small plot of land near the church, containing about half an acre, of which plot I have it in contemplation to recommend to your Lordships that I may be authorized to prepare a grant for the sign manual of Her Majesty, for the enlargement of the churchyard of the parish of Felkirk.

"3. The payment by the purchaser, in addition to the sum of £. 13,265, of the value of the timber.

"4. The payment by the purchaser of the expenses attending the preparation and inrolment of the deed of conveyance.

"On the 30th ult. Mr. Higgins reported to me that Viscount Galway had agreed to purchase the property on these conditions, with the exception that the timber, which Mr. Higgins estimated to be worth about £. 150, should be included in the price of £. 13,265. That offer I have accepted, subject to your Lordship's approval.

"Most of the Estates, that have recently been purchased by the Crown, have been acquired at prices varying from about 28 to 30 years' purchase upon the annual rentals, and assuming that the sum to be received from Lord Galway is reinvested in land at a rate even less advantageous than those purchases, the result will still be more profitable than the retention and reletting of the farm upon lease.

"I therefore recommend the proposed sale for your Lordships' consideration, and should you agree with me in thinking that it will be a beneficial arrangement for the Land Revenues of the Crown, I have to request that you will issue your warrant authorizing me, in consideration of the payment of a sum of £. 13,265, to convey to the Right Honourable George Edward Arundell Monckton Arundell, Viscount Galway, or to whom he may nominate, and to his, her, and their heirs and assigns, all that the Crown Estate situate in the Townships of Hodroyd and Heindley, in the Parish of Felkirk, in the West Riding of the County of York, containing by admeasurement, exclusive of the two roods proposed to be retained for the enlargement of Felkirk Churchyard, 234 A. 2 R. 30 P., with the farm-house and other buildings thereon, reserving to Her Majesty, Her heirs and successors, all the coal and other minerals under or upon the said premises, with liberty to work the same, and on condition that all expenses in connection with the preparation and inrolment of the conveyance are borne by Viscount Galway, such sale to take effect from the expiration of the subsisting lease on 10th October next.

"After our hearty commendations,

"Having considered your Report of the 26th ult., and approved thereof, these are to authorise you, in consideration of the payment of a sum of £. 13,265, to convey to the Right Honourable George Edward Arundell Monckton Arundell, Viscount Galway, or to whom he may nominate, and to his, her, and their heirs and assigns, all that the Crown Estate situate in the Townships of Hodroyd and Heindley, in the Parish of Felkirk, in the West Riding of the County of York, containing by admeasurement, exclusive of two roods proposed to be retained for the enlargement of Felkirk Churchyard, 234 A. 2 R. 30 P., with the farm-house and other buildings thereon, reserving to Her Majesty, Her heirs and successors, all the coal and other minerals under or upon the said premises, with liberty to work the same; and on condition that all expenses connected with the preparation and inrolment of the conveyance are borne by Viscount Galway, such sale to take effect from the expiration of the subsisting lease on the 10th October next.

ENFRANCHISEMENT of COPYHOLDS. App. No. 3 (A.)

APPENDIX, No. 3 (A.), contains the particulars of 32 copyhold or customary properties, and free tenements held of 10 Manors belonging to the Crown that have been enfranchised, upon payment of sums amounting altogether to £. 2,035. 8. 6.

ENFRANCHISEMENT of COPYHOLDS, Esher, Surrey. App. No. 3 (B.)

APPENDIX, No. 3 (B.), contains the particulars of two Copyhold Estates, held of the Manor of Esher Milbourne, otherwise Waterville Esher, in the County of Surrey, which, with the concurrence of the King of the Belgians, who has a life interest in the Manor under the provisions of the Act 56 Geo. 3, c. 115, have been enfranchised on payment of the sum of £. 2,132. 6. 8.

The consideration money for these enfranchisements has since been invested in the purchase of Three per Cent. Consols, as part of the capital of the Land Revenue, but the dividends will, during the life of the King of the Belgians, be paid as His Majesty may direct.

ENFRANCHISEMENT of COPYHOLDS in which Her Majesty has a Reversionary Interest. Appendix, No. 4.

BY the Act 21 & 22 Vic. c. 94, "The Copyhold Act, 1858," provision has been made for the enfranchisement, under the Copyhold Acts, of land holden of Manors, vested in Her Majesty in right of Her Crown, in remainder or reversion, expectant upon an estate of inheritance.

In conformity with the provisions of that Act, I have concurred in the execution of nine deeds of enfranchisement of land holden of the Manors of Cuckfield, Ditcheling, and Rotherfield, in the County of Sussex, in all of which the Crown has a reversionary interest. The consideration money has in each case been paid to Trustees, and has been invested by them in the purchase of Government securities, the income from which, until the money shall be otherwise invested in pursuance of the terms of the Act, will be payable to the person who is for the time being entitled to the rents and profits of the Manor in which each such enfranchisement has been effected.

LAND TAX Redeemed. Appendix, No. 5.

APPENDIX, No. 5, contains an account of land tax redeemed, amounting to £. 41. 11. 7½., in extinction of which there has been paid in cash a total sum of £. 1,164. 9. 0½., which was equivalent, at the then price of the public funds, to £. 1,261. 14. 6.; and this last-mentioned sum having been added to the amount mentioned in the Thirty-eighth Report to Parliament, as having been previously paid for the redemption of land tax charged upon the Crown Estates, makes the total amount which has been paid in this respect, £. 234,389. 1. 9. (Consols and Reduced.)

EXCHANGES. Appendix, No. 6.

APPENDIX, No. 6, contains the particulars of three exchanges that have been made of property belonging to the Crown for property belonging to individuals. The lands and premises exchanged are situated in the Counties of Kent and Oxford, and the Crown Estates have been rendered more compact and valuable by these arrangements.

PURCHASES by the CROWN. Appendix, No. 7.

APPENDIX, No. 7, contains the particulars of various purchases which have been made out of monies that had accumulated on the capital account of the Land Revenue, from the sales of Estates, or parcels of Estates, that did not form desirable properties for the Crown to retain, or of fee-farm and other unimprovable rents, as well as of portions of the foreshore of the sea, and of tidal rivers, and also from the enfranchisement of Copyholds.

The total sum expended in the purchases specified in the Appendix, amounts to £. 87,340. 19. 5., the greater part of which has been appropriated to the acquisition of a farm at Bishop's Cannings, in the County of Wilts, and of an Estate at Humburton, in the County of York, referred to at page 5. The residue has been applied to the purchase of various farms and tenements adjoining to, and intermixed with other Estates of the Crown, which have thereby been rendered more compact and valuable.

IN all cases of lease, sale, enfranchisement, exchange, or purchase, of which the particulars are detailed in this Report, and in the Appendices, the surveys and estimates of the land and hereditaments included in such transactions were made by competent surveyors, who have in each case certified by a Report, verified by a declaration, pursuant to the provisions of the Acts 10 Geo. 4, c. 50, and 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 62, the fair worth or value in their judgment of the lands and hereditaments surveyed; except in cases where, from the nature of the property, the value could not be known by a survey or inspection, or where, from other causes specified in the 72d section of 10 Geo. 4, c. 50, a preliminary survey and estimate has been dispensed with.

LONG WALK, WINDSOR GREAT PARK.

THE attention of this Department has for some years past been directed to the state of the trees in the Long Walk, many of which were dead, while others showed symptoms of rapid decay.

Vide Plan in Appendix, No. 8.

The following extracts from the correspondence upon the subject, and the Plan attached, will show the steps which are proposed to be taken to preserve the character of this magnificent Avenue.

" My Lords, " Office of Woods, &c., 7 February 1861.

" I have the honour to submit, for your Lordships' consideration, that some time since my attention was called by His Royal Highness the Ranger of Windsor Great Park to the decaying state of many of the trees of which the Long Walk is formed, and to the expediency of measures being taken for the preservation of such a venerable and interesting appendage to the Castle.

" In a case of so much importance, I thought it right, in preference to relying upon my own unaided judgment, to obtain the opinion of those who, from their position and acquirements, were best qualified to offer advice upon the subject. I therefore placed myself in communication with the Duke of Bedford, whose admirable management of his Park at Woburn, and his extensive Woodlands, is well known; and with Mr. Ralph Sneyd, of Keele Park, in Staffordshire, who has devoted much time and attention, with very successful results, to arboriculture; and also with Mr. John Clutton, who has attained the highest position in his profession as a land and timber surveyor and manager of woodlands, and in whose opinion upon the subject of trees and plantations, your Lordships have, on more than one occasion, expressed your confidence.

" These gentlemen expressed their readiness to undertake the duty which I proposed to them, and to make with me a joint Report to His Royal Highness the Ranger, as to the course which it would be most advisable to adopt. Mr. Menzies, the Deputy Surveyor, was in attendance, and supplied us with the necessary particulars, which his good sense and practical knowledge so well qualified him to afford, as regards the diversity of soil in different parts of the Avenue, and the description of tree which he had found to be best suited to the different descriptions of soil in Windsor Great Park.

"The result of the inquiry is contained in the correspondence, of which a copy is forwarded herewith for your Lordships' information, together with a copy of the Report and Plan that has been prepared by the Deputy Surveyor, for carrying the recommendations contained in that correspondence into effect.

Vide Appendix, No. 8.

"In submitting these documents for your Lordships' directions, I think it advisable to supply a few explanatory details, although the general character of the Long Walk is so well known, that a description of it is scarcely necessary.

"The Long Walk commences at Park-street, at the eastern end of the Town of Windsor, and extends for a distance of more than two miles and a quarter to the mound called Snow Hill, upon which the statue of George the Third is placed. For about one-half of that distance, viz., from Park-street to the double gates (shown upon the Plan), the Long Walk is bounded upon each side with a fence, which separates it from Frogmore, and from various parcels of Crown land in the occupation of tenants of the Crown, and used for grazing and farming purposes. At the double gates, the Long Walk enters the Great Park, and is throughout the whole of the distance from that point to Snow Hill entirely open to the Park.

"The Avenue originally contained about 1,652 trees, which were planted in four rows, with the intervals shown upon the accompanying diagram:

The trees are believed to have been planted between the years 1670 and 1685.

"I have no doubt, although there are no records in this office upon the subject, that the Avenue was in the first instance formed exclusively of elm trees.

"Throughout the portion between Park-street and the double gates, these trees have found a congenial soil, and have, with few exceptions, thriven and attained to a large size.

"During the last few years, however, more than half of them have shown signs of decay; a few have died and have been replaced; and there are now 27 trees either dead, dying, or so much decayed as to be dangerous; but notwithstanding the frequent occurrence of broken-headed and decaying trees, this portion of the Avenue still presents a magnificent appearance.

"In the other division of the Avenue, viz., between the double gates and the statue, the soil is, in some places, less suited to the elm; many of the trees are stunted and unthriving, and there are evident traces of frequent replantings in places where the original trees have failed. In some of these renewals, the elm has been again employed, and in others, the sweet chesnut has been substituted, but the latter does not harmonize with the rest of the Avenue, nor, generally speaking, do the young trees, either elm or chesnut, bear a healthy appearance. In short, although there are some places between the double gates and the statue, where the appearance of the Avenue is as regular, and the trees are as picturesque, as between the double gates and Windsor, still the effect produced by the stunted growth of many of those originally planted, no less than by the introduction of young trees, where those originally planted have failed, is such as to render the general appearance of the greater portion of the Long Walk, between the double gates and the statue, very inferior to that of the portion between the double gates and the town of Windsor; and there is no probability that the young trees will ever become fine trees.

"The general state of the whole of the Avenue is set forth in the tabular statement inserted in the letter to the Ranger of the 23d June 1859. Since the inspection was made, from which those results were ascertained, the progress of decay in many of the trees has been very perceptible.

"Unlike the oak, which will retain its vitality for centuries, although only a portion of the tree may remain, the elm dies very rapidly after the first appearance of decay. It is certain, therefore, although many of the sounder specimens will last till after the close of the present century, that the Avenue will lose in the course of a few years a large number of the trees, from which it now derives its beauty.

"With regard to the description of tree that should be employed in the gradual replanting, and also to the manner and time of executing the work, we recommended, for the reasons stated in the letter to His Royal Highness the Ranger, of the 23d June 1859, that between Windsor and the double gates, the existing trees, as they die or become much decayed, should be individually felled and replaced with elms, so as to maintain the present character of the Avenue.

Vide Appendix, No. 8.

"As regards the portion between the double gates and the statue, the following extract from the above-mentioned letter will best explain the mode in which this part of the Long Walk should be gradually reinstated:—

> "'From the double gates, where the Deer Park commences, to the statue of King George the Third, the soil has proved unsuitable to the growth of elm, as a large proportion of the trees are stunted, and a great number have died, and been replaced by other trees, which have been equally unthrifty.
> "'We are prepared, therefore, to recommend a gradual substitution of oak for elm in the upper portion of the Avenue. The size and beauty of the old trees, in the open Park on either side, sufficiently testify that the soil is most congenial to the oak, which, though naturally a tree of slower growth than the elm, would in this situation attain an earlier and healthier maturity, would certainly be more enduring, and, perhaps, in stricter keeping with the character of a Deer Park.

"'As

"'As regards the manner in which the above part of the work should be executed, we have to remark that great caution should be observed in the operation of replanting, in order to preserve unbroken from the Castle, the uniformity of this stately appendage; we recommend, therefore, that a gradual system of replanting in masses should be adopted, leaving undisturbed, for the present, all elm trees which are in health, or have any ornamental character, but removing all such of older date as are dead, dying or unsightly; and, without exception, all those younger plants with which vacancies have from time to time been supplied; since it is plain that they have not thriven, and they give no promise of ever making good trees.

"'We propose that small inclosures on the line of the Avenue should be formed of trees suitable for nurseries, leaving room for the reception of a sufficient number of young plants of oak, thus giving an opportunity of selecting such of them as possess health and vigour to fill up the vacant places in the Avenue, and the rest should be gradually thinned out and removed.

"'It will be advisable that the oak and elm plants to be employed should be as large as will admit of their being safely and conveniently transplanted.'

"The details of the manner in which the Deputy Surveyor proposes to commence the replanting of the Avenue, upon the basis of those recommendations, are set forth in his Report of the 17th ult. He proposes, in the first instance, to fell 27 dead and dying or much decayed trees, between Windsor and the double gates, shown by pink colour upon the sketch, and to fill up the vacancies, as well as two spaces shown by blue colour, which are now vacant in consequence of the previous removal of the trees which stood there, with young elms. The cost of this portion of the work, to be executed in such a manner as to ensure as far as possible the healthy growth of the plants, is estimated at £.126. 10.

See Extract in Appendix, No. 8.

"Between the double gates and the statue, the Deputy Surveyor proposes to clear five spaces, containing 133 trees, the whole of which, with three exceptions, are either unthriving and decaying, or are young elms and chesnuts, which are unlikely to form good trees, and which must be cleared to admit of the proposed replanting with oak. These spaces are shown by pink colours upon the sketch, and extend in length to a distance of 720 yards; they contain about one-sixth part of the trees in this division of the Avenue.

"The cost of replanting these spaces is estimated, by the Deputy Surveyor, at £.1,423. 12. 6.

"Of this proposed outlay, the largest item is that for the erection of a fence of iron and wire, to inclose the five spaces above referred to. This item amounts to the sum of £. 986. 2., but, as the fence must be strong enough to resist deer and cattle, high enough to prevent the former from leaping over it, and close enough at the bottom to keep out rabbits, and as the total length will be 1,792 yards, I do not think that the estimated outlay, which is at the rate of 11 s. per yard run (the timber for the under-ground posts being provided by the Crown), is unreasonable; a wooden fence would be cheaper, but it would require constant renewal during the period of 40 years, for which it will probably be necessary; whereas the proposed iron fence will last, with but trifling repairs and painting, for the whole of that time, and will, at its expiration, be useful for other purposes.

"In all respects, therefore, the proposal of the Deputy Surveyor appears to me to be well calculated to carry into effect the recommendations contained in the two Reports made to His Royal Highness the Ranger, of which copies are enclosed; and I submit the matter for your Lordships' directions, with the request that, if you approve of the scheme of replanting, you will authorise me to expend the two several sums of £.126. 10., and 1,423. 12. 6., with five per cent. thereon to cover contingencies, in the execution of the work.

"Sir, "Treasury Chambers, 4 April 1861.

"I am directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to acquaint you, with reference to your Report of the 7th February last, that regarding the maintenance of the Avenue of the Long Walk at Windsor as a matter of national interest, my Lords approve of the proceedings which you have adopted for ascertaining the best means of remedying the existing defects in the walk, and are pleased to authorise you to expend the two several sums of £.126. 10. and £.1,423. 12. 6., with 5 per cent. thereon, to cover contingencies, in the execution of the replanting the walk and other necessary works, as proposed in your Report.

"It is to be regretted that the soil of that portion of the walk which extends from the double gates to the statue of George the Third is unsuited for trees of quicker growth than the English oak, but my Lords consider that it will be advisable to adopt the recommendation of the authorities whom you have consulted on the subject.

"The Honourable Charles Gore,

IN consequence of the opinion expressed in a Resolution of the Committee of the House of Commons, appointed to inquire into the management of this Department, there have been inserted in each Annual Report, since the year 1850, five additional schedules; viz.—

1st. Of Rents put in charge with the several Receivers of the Land Revenue in respect of property acquired for Her Majesty, by purchase, lease, exchange, or otherwise.

2d. Of the Rents discharged from the Rentals of the several Receivers in respect of property sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of.

3d. Of all Monies due to Her Majesty in respect of Rents in charge with the several Receivers of the Land Revenues, under Leases, or agreements for Leases, and which shall have been owing for a greater period than than a year, showing the term during which each arrear shall have been accruing, and the measures, if any, in progress for the recovery of the same.

4th. Of all Monies remitted on Her Majesty's behalf in respect of any Rents in charge with the same Receivers, specifying whether any previous remission has taken place in respect of the same Rent, and the circumstances and the authority under which remitted.

5th. Of all defalcations that shall have taken place in respect of Monies due and owing to Her Majesty, specifying the circumstances under which such defalcations shall have taken place, and the means (if any) available, and the measures (if any) taken for the recovery of the Monies.

I have now inserted these Schedules in the Appendix to the present Report. Appendix, No. 9. (A.), (B.), (C.), (D.), (E.)

THE APPENDIX A. A. contains an Account of the Monies derived from the Hereditary Possessions of the Crown under the management of the Commissioners of Woods, Forests, and Land Revenues, received within the year ended 31st March 1861, and the application of all such Monies, including payments into the Exchequer of the surplus Income arising from those possessions, as well as the appropriation of the Capital Monies arising from the sale of portions of the possessions of the Crown during the same period. Appendix A. A.

The Account for the preceding year, ended on the 31st of March 1860, has been audited by the Commissioners for auditing the Public Accounts, and the monthly Accounts for the succeeding year have been rendered to those Commissioners for the period up to and including the month of January last.

Appendix, No. 8.

LONG WALK, WINDSOR GREAT PARK.

Sir, Office of Woods, &c., 23 June 1859.

In obedience to the commands of your Royal Highness, we have made an inspection of the Long Walk.

From information which has been supplied to us, we gather that the Avenue originally consisted of 1,652 elm trees, planted in two double rows, the whole length of the Avenue being upwards of 2¼ miles.

An examination of these trees was made by the Deputy Surveyor about 12 months since, and from his report we learn, that the total number originally planted may be accounted for, as follows, viz.:—

Cut down in 1815, to make room for the road from Bishopsgate	8
Cut down in 1850, to make room for the road to Old Windsor	8
Vacancies unplanted	8
Dead trees, or nearly so, still standing	4
Vacancies that have been replanted	151
Trees seriously injured, that is to say, that have lost their main stem, have great holes in them, or are otherwise affected	105
Trees slightly injured, that is to say, that have the appearance of small holes in their stems, have lost some branches, or show some symptoms of decay	656
Trees that appear sound in every respect	712

Since the inspection was made from which these results have been ascertained, the progress of decay in many of the trees has been, as we are informed, very perceptible.

It has appeared to us that many of the present trees are likely to last for a considerable period; that the distinctive character of the Avenue will therefore, to a great extent, be maintained for many years; and that the formation of the ground, with the Castle at one extremity, and the statue at the other, is so admirably adapted for an Avenue, formed as this Avenue is at present, that it would be injudicious to attempt any change in its character.

We have come to the conclusion therefore, after mature consideration, that the existing form of Avenue should be retained, and that the measures to be adopted should have for their object the gradual replacement of the old trees that have already died, or that may hereafter die, or become decayed and dangerous.

With regard to the description of tree which should be employed, we have to observe that in its selection we have been governed by considerations connected with the varying nature of the soil in different parts of the Avenue.

Between the Windsor end and the Double Gates, it is evident that the soil is well suited to the growth of elm; the dimensions of many of the trees now in this part of the Avenue show that such is the case, and we consider, therefore, that, as far as those gates, the replanting should be limited to cutting down the trees that are dead, or that in consequence of their state of decay have been pollarded, and that the vacancies, so created, should be replaced by elms.

From the Double Gates, where the Deer Park commences, to the statue of King George the Third, the soil has proved unsuitable to the growth of elm, as a large proportion of the trees are stunted, and a great number have died, and have been replaced by other trees which have been equally unthrifty.

We are prepared, therefore, to recommend a gradual substitution of oak for elm in the upper portion of the Avenue. The size and beauty of the old trees in the open Park, on either side, sufficiently testify that the soil is most congenial to the oak, which, though naturally a tree of slower growth than the elm, would in this situation attain an earlier and healthier maturity; would certainly be more enduring; and, perhaps, in stricter keeping with the character of a Deer Park.

As regards the manner in which the above part of the work should be executed, we have to remark that great caution should be observed in the operation of replanting, in order to preserve unbroken, from the Castle, the uniformity of this stately appendage. We recommend, therefore, that a gradual system of replanting in masses should be adoped; leaving undisturbed for the present all elm trees which are in health, or have any ornamental character; but removing all such of older date, as are dead, dying, or unsightly; and, without exception, all those younger plants with which vacancies have from time to time been supplied; since it is plain that they have not thriven, and they give no promise of ever making good trees.

We propose that small inclosures on the line of the Avenue should be formed of trees suitable for nurses, leaving room for the reception of a sufficient number of young plants of oak, oak, thus giving an opportunity of selecting such of them as possess health and vigour to fill up the vacant places in the Avenue, and the rest should be gradually thinned out and removed.

It will be advisable that the oak and elm plants to be employed should be as large as will admit of their being safely and conveniently transplanted.

We have thus, as briefly as possible, submitted our views as to the best method of reinstating the Long Walk Avenue, and we shall be glad if it meets with the approval of your Royal Highness.

We are, &c.

His Royal Highness the Ranger.

Colonel F. H. Seymour to His Grace the Duke of Bedford.

My Lord Duke, Osborne, 13 July 1859.

I am commanded by His Royal Highness, the Ranger of Windsor Great Park, to acknowledge the receipt of the Report signed by your Grace, and the other gentlemen, who were requested and empowered to make an inspection of the Long Walk.

His Royal Highness hears with satisfaction that, after duly weighing all the different suggestions that have been made for maintaining the distinctive character of this Avenue, you have arrived at the conclusion that the existing form should be retained, and that the replacement of the trees that are either dead or dying should be effected only by gradual means.

The Prince Consort hopes that where elms are to be replaced, care will be taken to remove the worn-out soil, and substitute fresh soil equally suited to the growth of this particular tree; also that the overhanging boughs of neighbouring trees shall be removed, so as to give the young ones all possible light and air, and prevent their being injured by the drip.

With regard to the description of tree which should be employed between the Double Gates and the Statue, His Royal Highness would have preferred the lime, as being better adapted to an Avenue (witness those in Bushey Park and Hampton Court Gardens), being of quicker growth, and presenting greater contrast of foliage to the surrounding trees, but the Prince Consort yields to the reasoning of practical men like yourselves, who, after testing the quality of the soil in that locality, and weighing their relative merits, have recommended the adoption of the oak. As this tree, however, when grown in an Avenue, cannot hope to rival, for many centuries, the beauty of those that have had room to throw out their lateral branches, His Royal Highness suggests that more distinction would be made in this particular position by the adoption of the scarlet oak, the Turkey oak, or any other variety that has been tried elsewhere, though His Royal Highness is aware that as timber for ship building, &c., these varieties have proved inferior to the old English oak.

As respects the nurses and inclosures proposed on the line of the Avenue, it may be feared that its uniformity (in another part of the Report so properly insisted on) would be broken, but this plan could be abandoned, if found objectionable, on trial.

In conclusion, the Prince Consort commands me to express His Royal Highness's best thanks for the assiduous trouble taken by your Grace, and the other gentlemen, in the able recommendations you have made for the preservation of this celebrated and venerable appendage to Windsor Castle.

I have, &c.
(signed) Francis H. Seymour,
Deputy Ranger.

His Grace the Duke of Bedford,

Sir, Office of Woods, &c., 5 August 1859.

We have received, through Colonel Seymour, your Royal Highness's observations upon our recommendations for the gradual replanting of the Long Walk Avenue, upon which we venture to offer some suggestions for your Royal Highness's further consideration.

As regards the selection of limes in preference to oaks, between the Double Gates and the Statue of King George the Third, we would so far express our entire concurrence with the opinion expressed by your Royal Highness, that the lime is a tree better adapted to an Avenue than the oak. Abstractedly, it unquestionably is so, being of more uniform, and, under favouring circumstances, much more rapid growth; but in order to attain size and beauty, it requires a sheltered situation, and a good and rather light soil—conditions which the site in question fails to fulfil, since the elevation exposes it to the full action of the wind; and the soil is a cold, stiff clay—disadvantages which we apprehend would afford to a lime Avenue but little chance of thriving in that locality.

Our selection was grounded on the consideration that the quality of the soil, so unpropitious to the generality of trees, is especially congenial to the English oak, of which the magnificent specimens on either side seem to offer security for its ultimate growth and durability.

With respect to the "Turkey," or the "scarlet" oak, we would observe that these exotic species are of comparatively recent importation, and that we have therefore not sufficient evidence of their durability, or of their size when arrived at maturity, to justify us in giving them a preference; nor does the argument drawn from the nature of the soil apply to them in the same degree as to the English oak. The advantage of greater uniformity, which the Turkey oak certainly possesses, may, we believe, under the particular circumstances, be in great measure secured to the English oak; for, since the operation of renewal is to be gradual, and even in the first instance no very considerable number of young trees will be required, and since these should be of as large a size as can be safely employed, it will not be difficult to select plants, of which the individual habit of growth is already sufficiently indicated to guarantee a certain similarity and correspondence.

These considerations, which we respectfully submit to your Royal Highness, induce us; while fully admitting and appreciating the justice of many of your Royal Highness's remarks, to adhere to the recommendations of our original Report.

We are, &c.

His Royal Highness
the Ranger of Windsor Great Park.

Extract from Report of Mr. Menzies, the Deputy Surveyor of Windsor Forest and Parks, dated 17 December 1860.

In compliance with your request of the 27th November, I beg now to bring before you the subject of the replanting of the Long Walk.

Accompanying this Report there is a plan, showing in "red markings" the trees proposed to be cut; in "blue," the vacant spaces between the Double Gates and Windsor Castle; while the places to be cleared above the Double Gates are lettered, and those below the Double Gates are numbered.

Part between Double Gates and Castle.

All those trees which I should propose to be taken down are marked in "red," and numbered on the plan.

There are 27 to be cut, and two vacancies (there being a double number at nine through an accidental omission in the first marking); I have selected those which I think come nearest to the recommendation in the Report of June 1859, as being "dead, or that in consequence of their decay have been pollarded."

I would propose to take down these trees early in January, to grub out all the old roots, and open a fresh hole 10 feet in diameter, and three feet deep; that part of the old earth should be carted away, and that five loads of good fresh loam should be brought from among the fern on the front of Snow-hill, to each hole, and that the ground should be got ready for planting, at the latest, by March; provision must also be made for the water passing away from the bottom of these holes, to avoid them becoming like a basin; I would also take off some overhanging boughs when the weather is suitable, with the machinery which you authorised me to purchase for the purpose about a year ago. Each tree should, I think, be fenced with an iron cage, similar to those already in use on the young trees adjoining, and I have made provision in the estimate accordingly.

I have included nothing for the cost of the young trees themselves, as I have a sufficient quantity of suitable elms in the nursery near my house, which were transplanted two years ago.

It is worthy of consideration also, in connexion with this subject, whether three elms, which overhang the entrance Lodge at the Frogmore Gates, should not be removed; the branches are so high and so heavy that it would be exceedingly difficult to lower them so as not to injure the house; and although felling these trees to the inside of the walk would not be an easy matter, I believe it would be safer and more advisable than to attempt lopping them much more than they have been done.

Part between the Double Gates and the Statue.

The places which I have marked for clearing are lettered upon the plan, A, B, C, D and E, coloured "red."

As regards the method of procedure, I should propose that the ground be cleared during the winter, fenced in and thoroughly trenched up three feet deep, and that the loam to be used in replacing the old earth should also be thrown up into a heap, so as to have a whole year to get mellow before being used.

Provision must be made also for the surface-water passing away out of the trench. The expense of trenching must necessarily be heavy, as the ground is full of old roots, which must be torn out by hand. The loam to be used I propose to take from among the fern at Snow-hill, and I do not anticipate, although the quantity required for the whole work is large, that any unsightliness will arise.

The young oaks and larch, that will be required, I expect to get from the New Forest, and, I have already been in communication with the Deputy Surveyor on the subject, so as to have them properly prepared; they will be from three to five feet in height, which will, I think, be most in accordance with the terms of the principal Report of June 1859. Considering that the fence around these inclosures will probably be required for 40 years, that it is advisable to make it as invisible and as strong as possible, I think I cannot do better than recommend to you to erect the same description of iron fence as was put up about two years ago between Hog Common Meadows and the Park. This sort of fence will probably never require any repairs, and will be as valuable at the end of the period as at the beginning. A wire netting must be attached inside, to prevent hares and rabbits entering, and provision must be made also against the animals in the Park injuring this wire netting with their horns, which they are very apt to do.

The planting should take place about a year after the trenching, so as to give the earth plenty of time to get thoroughly sweetened by exposure to the air. The places to be cleared are low, damp bottoms, and I expect that the clay which is turned up will be very raw and cold, and that it will require all this, and the addition of a large quantity of good mould besides; these places at present being very low, the raising of them by bringing additional earth would be an advantage. I have found this by experience to be the most effectual way of getting young plantations in the Great Park to grow fast, as may be seen in the one near the Watch Oak, and the one at Spring-hill.

There are several vacancies, broken trees, and young trees replanted in other parts of this division of the Long Walk, but I have not thought it necessary to make any provision for their treatment in this Report, as an inclosure could not well be formed unless there were several trees to be in it, and I have fixed for approval six trees, as the smallest number that should be cleared, of which four are included in the description given in the Report of June 1859, of those that should be taken away; these other exceptional single trees should, I suppose, be left as they are, until the gaps around them are large enough to warrant an inclosure being made.

In these circumstances, the Crown Receiver collected the Rents from the Sub-tenants for the Half-year ended Midsummer 1860, and the sum so received was applied in reduction of the arrears due from the Crown Lessee; but as this was attended with inconvenience, proceedings were taken to vacate the Lease, and the Lease was accordingly vacated as from Midsummer 1860, at which time there was an arrear of Rent due to the Crown, amounting to 415 l. 12 s. 6 d. As the persons liable to pay this arrear resided in Manilla, it was considered irrecoverable - - -	- - The Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury.

THE APPENDIX, No. 9, contains the particulars of 52 Agreements with certain persons for continuing to hold Quarries in the Forest of Dean and County of Gloucester, originally granted to them under the powers of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 43, which Quarries are known as the "Award" Quarries.

By the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 43, it was provided that all persons who should be found by the Award of certain Commissioners appointed by the Act to be possessed of Quarries in Dean Forest, should be entitled to hold the same for a term of 21 years from Michaelmas 1838, at an annual rent of 3 s. 4 d. for every Quarry of 20 yards in length; that at the expiration of that term, the annual rent should become subject to revision by the Gaveller or Deputy Gaveller of the Forest; that such revision should not affect the Quarries of original grantees under the Award who might be alive at the expiration of the original term; but that they should be entitled to continue their holdings, at the rent of 3 s. 4 d. per Quarry, for the term of their respective lives.

Since Michaelmas 1859, when the period of 21 years referred to in the Act had elapsed, the question of the rent to be required for every Quarry, in respect of which it had become necessary to enter into new agreements for the next term of 21 years, has been under consideration, and it has been finally fixed at 20 s. for every Quarry of 20 yards, and 1 s. for every additional yard of length.

These terms have been acceded to by the persons interested, and the agreements specified in the Appendix have been entered into accordingly. Some of the Quarries held under the Award have been surrendered as from Michaelmas 1859; and as regards others, the agreements for the renewed term have not yet been completed. These deeds of surrender, and the agreements last referred to, will appear in a future Report.

Appendix, No. 10.

THE APPENDIX, No. 11, contains the particulars of three Leases of Waste Land granted to the registered owners of Gales within the Forest of Dean, in the County of Gloucester, for the better working of such Gales, under the authority of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 43. Appendix, No. 11.

THE APPENDIX, No. 12, contains the particulars of four Licenses to persons to make Roads or Tramways in connexion with their Gales, across the open Waste Land in the Forest of Dean, granted under the rules and regulations attached to the Award of the Dean Forest Mining Commissioners, pursuant to the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 43. DEAN FOREST MINING ACTS AMENDMENT BILL.

THE Mineral Property of the Crown in Dean Forest has been hitherto managed in accordance with the provisions of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 43. That measure was one of great importance, both to the Free Miners and to the Crown, by substituting a fixed code of legislation for the irregular customs which had previously prevailed. Some idea of the state of mining operations in the Forest of Dean, previous to the passing of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 43, may be formed from the following statement, which was made by Mr. Sopwith, the eminent Mining Engineer to the British Association at Newcastle, in 1838: "Great distrust of any interference (he said) existed, and some of the Mine-owners refused to allow of underground surveys being made. Numerous and conflicting parties were then working Mines under customs which were totally inapplicable to the present state of mining; destructive at once to the interests of the Free Miners of the Forest; ruinous, as sad experience had shown, to the enterprising Capitalist; and subversive of the rights of the Crown. So great was the perplexity, and so numerous and conflicting were the claims of the contending parties, that the law advisers of the Board of Woods deemed it almost impossible to arrive at any satisfactory adjustment of them within the period of three years, as named in the Dean Forest Mining Act. The ruinous and unsatisfactory state of the Mines must appear obvious on a slight consideration. As no plans existed, it was impossible to tell to what extent or in what direction the underground works were being carried. The crossing of mattocks, that is to say, the actual meeting of the workmen underground, was often the abrupt signal for contention; the driving of narrow headings was a means by which one coal owner might gain possession of coal which of right belonged to another; and a pit, though sunk at a cost of several thousand pounds, had no secured possession of coal beyond 12 yards round it, that is, a tract of coal 24 yards in diameter.

"At 40 or 50 yards from such a work, another adventurer might commence a pit, and have an equal right, if right it could be called, to the coal. If a long and expensive adit were driven, another might be commenced only a few yards deeper; and from such a state of things it is quite clear that great uncertainty and frequent losses inevitably ensued."

Under the provisions of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 43, three Commissioners were appointed for settling, regulating, and adjusting the right of working and enjoying the Mines, Minerals, and Quarries in the Forest,—the Act itself containing important and minute provisions for the protection of the rights and interests of the Free Miners, and for securing to the Crown a pecuniary interest in this valuable Mineral property. The Commissioners were empowered to fix the Royalty to be paid to the Crown in respect of all Coal, Iron, or other produce to be raised from the Forest Mines for a term of 21 years; but the rate of Royalty is made subject to review at the end of that term, which will expire in 1862.

The Commissioners, after examining the matters referred to them, made three Awards: 1st. In regard to Coal Mines; 2d. In regard to Iron Mines; and the 3d. In regard to the Quarries. To these Awards were appended, Schedules of all Collieries, Mines, or Quarries then claimed under existing Gales, and regulations for the working of the same, and all future Gales to be granted of such undertakings.

The Award relating to the Forest Collieries bears date the 8th of March 1841; that relating to Iron Mines, the 20th of July in the same year; and the Award relating to Quarries on the 24th of the same month.

The Coal Mines held under the Award are about 104 in number; and the Tonnage Rents will have to be refixed if the Gaveller shall see fit to determine the present Rents; and, in accordance with the provisions of the Act, fresh agreements may be entered into by the Gaveller and the persons entitled to Gales for the future rent, or in case of their disagreement, it must be referred to arbitrators to determine the rent.

The Coal Mines granted since the Award are about 120 in number, and the Rents of these Gales will have, in like manner, to be refixed as the 21 years from the dates of the Grants expire.

The Iron Mines under the Award are about 20 in number, and in July 1862 the Tonnage Rents payable in respect thereof will have to be refixed, and fresh agreements entered into, as in the case of coal tonnages, with the persons found to be entitled to Gales.

The

The Iron Mines granted since the Award are about 28 in number, and the Royalties will have, in like manner, to be refixed as the 21 years from the dates of the Grants expire.

The Quarries held under the Award are about 314 in number, and the arrangements relative to the re-adjustment of the Rents are stated in a former paragraph (page 76).

Since the dates of the Awards before referred to, the Crown's interest in the Collieries, Iron Mines and Quarries has very materially increased in value, the Revenue derived from them, exclusive of Licenses for Tramroads, having risen from about £.700 in 1838, the year when the Mining Act was passed, to £.7,484, on an average of the five years ended on the 31st of March last. In addition to this increase of revenue, a considerable profit is derived every year from the sale of Cordwood and Timber to the Miners, which, previously to the passing of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 43, had been claimed by them as a matter of right, but which claim was by the 30th section of the Act abolished, and the produce of the Cordwood and Timber since sold to the Miners has been brought to account, and credited to the public. The average receipt in respect of Timber sold to the Miners, for the five years ended 31st March last, has exceeded £.2,000 per annum.

As the period prescribed by the Mining Act above referred to, for refixing the Rents payable to the Crown in respect of Stone Quarries, has already arrived; and as in the year 1862, the Royalties payable for Coal and Iron will also have to be refixed, it was considered advisable that the Act should be amended; and with that view, the Notices required by the Standing Orders of Parliament were given in the month of November last, and a Bill founded thereon has been introduced into the House of Commons.

This Bill was read a first time in that House on the 21st of March last, and is now under consideration of Parliament.

DELAMERE.

IN pursuance of the provisions of the Act 19 Vict. c. 13, intituled, "An Act to make provision for the management of certain Lands belonging to Her Majesty within the former limits of the late Forest of Delamere, in the County of Chester," proceedings have been taken for the reclamation of a portion of the Crown Allotment at Delamere, which had been found not suited for the growth of Timber.

It had been intended to clear and convert into Farms about 2,400 acres, but finding that measures were in progress for obtaining an Act for the construction of a Railway which will intersect the Allotment, and open a considerable part of it to rapid communication with Liverpool, Manchester and Chester, as well as with other centres of manufacturing industry and population, it was deemed advisable to restrict the works of reclamation to about 1,000 acres, until it is seen to what extent, and in what manner, the opening of this Railway may affect the value of the Land as a site for Residences, Farms, &c.

The reclamation, so far as it has proceeded, has been carried on in a satisfactory manner. On the completion of an area of about 240 acres, tenders for letting it for a term of 21 years were called for, and the arrangements for the Lease have been since completed on terms equal to a rental of about 30 s. per acre, together with interest on all expenditure above 500 l. for the requisite agricultural Buildings.

Appendix, No. 18. THE APPENDIX, No. 18, contains the particulars of an Agreement for letting certain Property at Delamere, in the County of Chester.

EPPING FOREST.

Appendix, No. 19. THE APPENDIX, No. 19, contains the particulars of a Conveyance of the Crown's Forestal Rights over certain pieces or parcels of Land situate in the Manor of Loughton, in the Forest of Epping, the purchase-money for which amounts to £. 5,468. 13.

SCOTLAND.

Appendix, No. 20. THE APPENDIX, No. 20, contains the particulars of seven Leases of Crown Properties in Scotland granted during the past year. Two of these Leases comprise small spaces of Shore Ground which have been granted to ex adverso Proprietors at nominal rents of £. 1 per annum in each case; the object of the Lessees being merely to protect the Shore adjacent to their Properties from trespass, and not with the view of erecting any Buildings thereon, or making any beneficial use of the same. The five other Leases relate to the Lands of Scrabster, Lythmore and Stempster, and Dorrery, forming the Crown's Estate in the County of Caithness, the largest and most valuable of the landed properties now vested in the Crown in Scotland, and under the management of this Department. Full particulars as to the situation and agricultural character of these Farms are given in the 30th Report to Parliament,

Appendix,

Appendix, No. 2 (B.); and it is stated in that Report that two Leases had been granted to Alexander Dunbar, Esq., of the Farms of Scrabster and Dorrery, the former at an annual rent of £. 497. 7. 6., and the latter at £. 180., both for the term of 19 years, from Whitsunday 1850, but subject to an earlier termination in the event of the Tenant's death before the expiration of that period, in which case the Lease would expire at the first term of Whitsunday which should happen 12 months after his decease. In consequence of the death of Mr. Dunbar, on the 10th of March 1859, it became necessary to take proceedings for re-letting, from Whitsunday 1860, the Farms in lease to him; and tenders having been called for, advantageous offers were received from Mr. Hay for the Lands of Scrabster, and from Mr. James Purves, junior, for the Grazings and Shootings of Dorrery, and Leases were subsequently granted to them.

In the 31st Report to Parliament, it is stated that the Farms of Lythmore and Stempster had been let on lease to Mr. Donald M'Kay for the term of 19 years from Whitsunday 1852, at the annual rent of £. 420. In the year 1859 I received from Mr. M'Kay a suggestion that by extending the term of his Lease he should be enabled, at his own charge, to proceed with the breaking up of the land suitable for cultivation, the Crown paying the cost of the necessary fence, walls, and draining, and receiving interest on the sum to be expended. Mr. M'Kay further proposed, for the improvement of the Lands in course of cultivation, that they should be effectually subsoiled and manured with bones, lime or other suitable artificial dressing on a liberal scale. Under these circumstances, and with the sanction of the Lords of the Treasury, I accepted from Mr. M'Kay a surrender of the existing Lease, and granted him a new Lease for a term of 19 years from Whitsunday 1859, reserving for the first 12 years of the term, expiring at Whitsunday 1871, the rent of £. 514. 18. 3., and during the residue of the term the further or additional rent of £. 60 per annum.

The rental derived from these new lettings is as follows:

Lands of Scrabster - - - - - -	925	–	–
The Grazings and Shootings of Dorrery - -	442	10.	–
Lythmore and Stempster - - - - - -	514	18	3
	£. 1,882	8	3

This improved rental being in the place of £. 575. for Scrabster, £. 221. for the Grazings and Shootings of Dorrery, and £. 420. for Lythmore and Stempster, making together £. 1,216., being an advance of £. 666., or about 55 per cent. on the rental by the last letting of these Properties. In the cases of Scrabster and Dorrery the advance is at the rate of 73 per cent.

In the year 1832, when the Land Revenue of the Crown in Scotland passed to the management of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Woods, &c., the whole Estate of Scrabster, Lythmore, Stempster and Dorrery, had been let by the Barons of Scotland at the yearly rent of £. 700. The property now produces, over and above the rent of a Quarry not then worked, and some small portions of the Lands of Scrabster adjoining the Harbour, and now reserved for feuing or building purposes, a rental of £. 1,882. 8. 3. to be increased to £. 1,942. 8. 3. from Whitsunday 1871.

In 1832, the larger part of this property was in a state of Common, since divided and allotted under the provisions applicable to such cases by the law of Scotland; but comparing the present rental with that obtained in 1832, the advance will be found to be at the rate of not less than 169 per cent. This advance is in part attributable to an expenditure by the Crown in fencing, drainage, improvement of buildings and other works to the extent of £. 3,600.; and also in no small degree to the general improvement in the agriculture of the district, and in the greater facilities which now exist for conveying the produce to the southern markets.

Appendix, No. 21. THE APPENDIX, No. 21, contains the particulars of three sales of Shore-ground, in the Counties of Argyle, Dumbarton and Kirkcudbright. The sales in each of these cases have been made to the proprietors of the adjacent Lands. The purchase-monies for those Properties amounted together to £. 420. 3.

Appendix, No. 22. THE APPENDIX, No. 22, contains the particulars of five sales of portions of Her Majesty's Land Revenue, derived from Teinds in the Parishes of Kennoway, Inchture, Leuchars and Cameron, in the County of Fife, and in the Parish of Tibbermuir, in the County of Perth. The purchase-monies for this description of property, at the rate of nine years' purchase, amounted to £. 677. 19. 3.

SALMON FISHINGS.—SCOTLAND.

IN my last Report, I stated that in several cases, lettings of Salmon Fishings in Scotland had been effected at reasonable rents for short terms.

Appendix, No. 23. THE APPENDIX, No. 23, contains the particulars of 41 Leases of Salmon Fishings which have been granted during the past year, in most cases for terms of three years from Martinmas, 1858. The rents reserved by these Leases amount to £. 754. 15. per annum. The Leases were made subject to a condition that in the event of bag or stake nets, or other engines or machinery being prohibited by Act of Parliament during the currency of the Lease, the Lessees were to desist from that mode of fishing

On the 3d of May 1860, a Select Committee of the House of Lords was appointed to inquire whether, having regard to the rights of property of the Crown and individuals in Salmon Fishings on the Sea Coasts and in Rivers and Estuaries in Scotland, it is just and expedient that any and what legislation should take place for the regulation of such Fishings so far as regarded the use or prohibition of bag-nets, stake-nets, cruives or other fixed nets and engines, and so far as regarded close time or otherwise.

The Committee, after hearing evidence submitted to them, made their Report, and stated that they were of opinion that with a view to the improvement of the Salmon Fisheries in Scotland, all Cruives and fixed engines of whatever kind, both in the rivers and the sea, should be abolished; and at all all events, no new fixed engines of any description should be permitted to be erected. If, however, it should not appear practicable to enforce such a comprehensive provision, the Committee recommended that the laws relating to Salmon Fishings in Scotland should be amended in the manner following:

1. That a Central Board or Commission be appointed to regulate the Salmon Fishings in Scotland.

2. That the Salmon Fishings be divided into districts by the Central Board. That a local Board of Conservators for each district be elected by the proprietors, with powers of assessment for payment of expenses of appointing Water Bailiffs, and making Bye-laws; the proceedings of the District Board to be subject to control by the Central Board.

3. That stake and bag-nets, and all other fixed engines, other than cruives already existing, shall be declared illegal in rivers and the estuaries of rivers, and that their use shall be prohibited within such distance of the mouth of every river and estuary as the Central Board may deem proper.

4. That the mouth of every river and estuary of river not already defined by the decision of a Court of Law, or by an Act of Parliament, shall be defined by the Central Board.

5. That the law which requires a free passage for Salmon to be left in all mill-dams and dykes should be enforced; and that powers should be given to the Central Board to carry the law into effect by an easy and summary process. That the Central Board have power to alter dams or erect salmon ladders thereon, as also to erect salmon ladders where there are no natural obstacles in a river.

6. That the Central Board should be empowered to regulate the mode in which sweep and other nets may be used, so that they shall not present a continuous obstruction to the passage of Salmon.

7. That three or more persons illegally taking Salmon at night should be considered as guilty of a criminal offence, and punishable by summary process in the Sheriff's Court.

8. That the Central Board should have power to regulate the size of the meshes of all nets.

9. That the annual close time be from the 20th of August until the 1st of February; rod fishing to continue till the 15th of October; but that no Salmon, the produce of any fishing in Scotland, be sold after the 1st of September.

10. That the weekly close time, as regards cruives and nets, be from Six on Saturday evening till Six on Monday morning; as regards rod fishing, from Twelve on Saturday night till Twelve on Sunday night, according to existing usage. That bag and stake nets be either subject to the weekly close time, or be wholly removed on the 20th of July for the annual close time.

11. That penalties, to be recovered by summary process, should be imposed for allowing any refuse matters to go from any mill or manufactory into any river, for taking or being in possession of foul fish, or for using unlawful nets or engines. The Water Bailiffs to have power to seize Salmon taken in close time.

12. That the assistance of the County Police and the Coast Guard should, where available, be obtained to enforce the provisions of the law for the protection of the Salmon Fisheries.

13. That the Central Board should be empowered to prosecute offenders.

14. That for the purpose of providing the funds necessary for carrying into effect the provisions of the proposed Bill, the several Fisheries should be assessed, and that a duty be imposed on nets and on rods used in Salmon Fishings.

Founded on the Report of the Committee, a Bill, prepared under the instructions of the Lord Advocate for Scotland, has been introduced into Parliament in the present Session, which contains provisions for the total abolition of all fixed nets and engines, and makes other important alterations in the law regarding Salmon Fisheries in Scotland. The Bill is now under the consideration of a Select Committee of the House of Commons.

Appendix, No. 24. THE APPENDIX, No. 24, contains the particulars of an Exchange made of Property at Stirling, belonging to the Crown, for Property belonging to the Provost and Magistrates at Stirling, as Patrons of Spittals Hospital there. The arrangements made by this Exchange, while advantageous to the Patrons of the Hospital, by enabling them to widen the new roads and streets in course of formation through their property, will have the effect of enhancing the value of the Crown Estate on the expiration or other sooner determination of the Crown Lease.

IRELAND.

THE APPENDIX, No. 27, contains a Schedule of Quit and other unimprovable Rents payable to the Crown, amounting together to the sum of £. 184. 5. 8¾., which have been sold during the past year. The purchase money received amounts altogether to £. 5,310. 17. 10. Appendix, No. 27.

THE APPENDIX, No. 28, contains the particulars of a Conveyance made to the Crown by Mr. William Dunville of 11 A. 0 R. 20 P. of Foreshore of Belfast Lough. Appendix, No. 28.

This Land was conveyed by the Crown to Mr. Dunville by deed, dated 29th August 1859, of which the particulars are stated in the Report of this Department in the past year; it, however, subsequently appeared that the Crown had no interest in the Land, and a reconveyance was made to the Crown in terms of the Grant of 29th August 1859.

The purchase money paid by Mr. Dunville was repaid to him, with interest, from the date of payment.

THE APPENDIX, No. 29 A., contains an account showing the Charge and Discharge and state of the Collection of the Land Revenues of the Crown, in Ireland, for the year ended 31st March last; and the Appendix, No. 29 B., contains a General Abstract of Quit, &c. Rents and Leasehold Rents for the same period. Appendix, No. 29 A. Appendix, No. 29 B.

THE APPENDIX, No. 30, contains a Schedule of Rents discharged from the Crown Rentals in the year ended 31st March last. Appendix, No. 30.

ISLE OF MAN.

THE APPENDIX, No. 31, contains the particulars of three Conveyances of Crown property in the Town of Douglas, the purchase monies for which amount to £. 1,080. 5. The greater part of the property comprised in these Conveyances was formerly occupied for public purposes; but, being no longer required for official use, the premises were offered for sale by Public Auction, and, together with some small parcels afterwards added, realised the sums set forth in the Schedule. Appendix, No. 31.

FEE FARM RENTS.

ENGLAND AND WALES.

THE APPENDIX, No. 32, contains a Schedule of Fee Farm and other unimprovable Rents of the Crown, payable for Lands and Tenements in England and Wales, which have been sold during the past year. Appendix, No. 32.

These Rents amount altogether to £. 59. 9. 11., reduced by allowances for Land Tax to £. 54. 8. 7. per annum. The purchase monies amount to £. 1,632. 17. 6.

WALES.

Appendix, No. 33. THE APPENDIX, No. 33, contains the particulars of 20 Leases which have been granted of Premises in Wales. Of these, nine are Leases of Mines or Quarries; the Rents and Royalties reserved in which amount to at least £. 64. per annum, and will ultimately increase to a minimum sum of £. 166. 10. per annum.

The remaining 11 Leases are of Lands and Premises (exclusive of the Minerals within them), and of Foreshore, let at rents amounting to the sum of £. 48. 11. per annum.

Appendix, No. 34. THE APPENDIX, No. 34, contains the particulars of 192 Sales by Private Contract during the past year of the Crown's interest in and over Waste Land, Encroachments thereupon, and Foreshore Property, containing altogether about 2,437 A. 2 R. 38 P. The sums realised by these Sales amount altogether to the sum of £. 11,148. 2. 6.

Irrespective of the small acknowledgments received for some of the Encroachments, the Annual Revenue derived from the Properties previously to the Sales amounted to the sum of £. 2. 2. 6.

HALKIN MOUNTAIN—COUNTY FLINT.

TOWARDS the close of the year 1857, an arrangement was concluded with the Marquis of Westminster, for the sale to his Lordship of the Crown's interest in the Waste Lands (with the sporting thereupon), in the Parishes of Halkin and Northop, excluding all Encroachments, and reserving all Minerals (excepting Lead Ore, to which his Lordship claims to be entitled under an ancient grant from the Crown), with full liberty to enter and work them.

According to the survey and valuation which I obtained for the purpose of carrying out the arrangement, the Waste Lands in question contained about 1,416 acres, and the value of the Crown's interest in them was estimated at £. 600, which sum was paid by the Marquis; and the particulars of the conveyance to his Lordship will be found in the Appendix, No. 34.

FORESHORE OF THE RIVER ELY—COUNTY GLAMORGAN.

IN the years 1856 and 1857, Acts of Parliament were obtained, authorising the construction by a Company, now styled the Penarth Harbour Dock and Railway Company, of certain Harbour, Dock and Railway Works at the mouth of the River Ely; and in March 1858, application was made to me on behalf of the Company, in compliance with the Harbour, Docks and Piers Clauses Act (1847), for the sanction of this Department to the construction of such portions of the Works as would interfere with the Crown's Land lying below ordinary high-water mark.

On reference to the deposited Plans, it was found that the proposed Embankment Works would occupy the Crown's Foreshore along their entire length, and I proposed

I proposed therefore, subject to the approval of the Treasury, to convey to the Company the interest of Her Majesty in the whole of the Land below high-water mark on the left bank of the River, co-extensive with the intended line of Embankment, at a price to be fixed by some duly qualified Surveyor to be mutually agreed upon.

This proposition was accepted on behalf of the Company, and the employment of Mr. John Clutton to make the valuation was also concurred in.

After inspecting the premises, and taking into consideration all the circumstances of the case, Mr. Clutton reported, that the sum of £. 7,000 should, in his opinion, be paid to the Crown by the Company, for the purchase of the interest of Her Majesty in the Land in question.

The sum of £. 7,000 was accordingly paid into the Bank of England in April 1859; but, owing to some delay on the part of the Company, the Conveyance was not completed until the month of July last.

A reference to the Conveyance will be found in the Appendix, No. 34.

MANOR OF SOUTH UGRE—COUNTY RADNOR.

Crown Allotments in the matter of Creigbyther Inclosure.

THIS parcel of Land, which contains about 124 A. 2 R. 16 P., formed a portion of the Waste Lands belonging to Her Majesty, in the Township of Creigbyther, and Parish of Beguildy, County Radnor, and was allotted to the Crown upon the inclosure of those Waste Lands under the provisions of the General Inclosure Act.

The fee-simple worth of this Land, according to the valuation of Mr. A. Bassett, an experienced Surveyor, who was employed to value it on the part of the Crown, amounted to £. 528; and on persons being invited to tender for the purchase of the Land, an offer of £. 550 was made for it by Mr. James Meredith, which, as being the highest, and in excess of the valuation, was accepted.

The particulars of the Conveyance are set forth in the Appendix, No. 34.

BY a Resolution of the Committee of the House of Commons appointed to inquire into the management of this Department, the following Schedules were required to be inserted in each Annual Report; viz.:

1st. Of Rents put in charge with the General Receivers of the Land Revenue in respect of Property acquired for Her Majesty by Purchase, Lease, Exchange, or otherwise.

2d. Of the Rents discharged from the Rentals of the several Receivers in respect of Property sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of.

3d. Of all Monies due to Her Majesty in respect of Rents in charge with the several Receivers of Land Revenue under Leases, or Agreements for Leases, and which shall have been owing for a greater period than a year, showing the term during which each arrear shall have been accruing, and the measures (if any) in progress for the recovery of the same.

4th. Of all Monies remitted, on Her Majesty's behalf, in respect of any Rents in charge with the same Receivers, specifying whether any previous remission has taken place in respect of the same Rent, and the circumstances and the authority under which remitted.

5th. Of all defalcations that shall have taken place in respect of Monies due and owing to Her Majesty, specifying the circumstances under which such defalcation shall have taken place, and the means (if any) available, and the measures (if any) taken for the recovery of the Monies.

Appendix, No. 35 (A.) (B.)

Of these Schedules, there is occasion, for the purposes of this Report, to introduce the third and fourth only.

ACCOUNTS.

Appendix, No. 36.

THE APPENDIX, No. 36, contains an Account of the Monies derived from the Hereditary Possessions of the Crown, under the management of the Commissioners of Woods, Forests and Land Revenues, received within the year ended 31st March 1861, and of the application of all such Monies, including payments into the Exchequer, of the surplus income arising from the Possessions and Land Revenues of the Crown during the same period.

The Account for the preceding year, ended on the 31st March 1860, has been audited by the Commissioners for auditing the Public Accounts, and the Monthly Accounts for the succeeding year have been rendered to those Commissioners for the period up to and including the month of January last.
